PRESIDENT HITS MONEY GAMBLERS

Message for Congress Completed; Need of Currency Reform Overshadows All Other Topics.

CRITICS' GUNS ARE SPIKED

Paragraph on Financial Crisis and Issue of Bonds and Notes to Relieve Strain Disarms Democrats.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt has completed the message he will send to congress the first week in December. The last draft has been gone over and even the section on currency has been written as it will stand. Furthermore, completed copies of it have been dispatched across the ocean to European news agencies.

The messages of President Roosevelt have become important factors in the money markets of the world, and it is necessary now to provide for their transmission in advance.

Besides that, Thanksgiving day comes the last week in November, or one week from tomorrow, and the president proposes to take a holiday in Virginia at that time.

He has therefore rewritten and strengthened his recommendation in regard to currency reform, in view of the financial situation last month.

There has been no abandonment of his position in regard to corporations and trust prosecutions, but, as a matter of course, the financial situation has become an absorbing topic, and the other questions have been subordinated to this one great issue.

Will Put Blame on Right Heads.

In discussing the financial situation President Roosevelt can be depended upon to put the responsibility exactly where it belongs. He is fully aware of the fact that nine-tenths of the active men in the Wall street district declare in private conversation that the "panic" conditions were brought on by the repeated efforts of the president to hit the big corporations.

The message will show, as the president's letter to Secretary Cortelyou showed, that there is nothing in the present commercial condition of the country to justify alarm, and that the stringency in currency must not be confounded with any possible insolvency of banks.

At the same time the president's message will go elaborately into the fact that money has been short, that clearing house certificates and other devices have been resorted to, and that there has been a temporary paralysis of business throughout the country.

He will be forced that this is caused by overspeculation and the use of currency in channels entirely outside of those of legitimate business.

Innocent Suffer with Guilty.

As long ago as 1905 the president said, in his own peculiar fashion: "Against the wrath of the Lord, the wisdom of man cannot avail. In times of flood or drought, human ingenuity can but partially repair disaster. If the folly of man mars the general well being, then those who are innocent of folly will have to pay part of the damage incurred by those who are guilty of folly."

There will be a good deal of this line of argument in the coming message. That is to say, it will go on to show that a panic or even any great stringency in the money market which happens to be brought on by the speculative mania in New York or in some other large money center may, in the long run, injure the whole business community.

That will be the text of the currency paragraph of the message. It will show that, although Wall street is responsible for the tightness of the money market, the rest of the country is made the victim to a certain extent. The importance of this is in the contrast which the president makes between the tightness of the money market necessitating extraordinary measures of relief by the government and the unquestioned prosperity of the country.

Hoarders Add to "Crime."

In his letter to Secretary Cortelyou the president called upon the people to avoid the folly, which amounts almost to crime, of withdrawing money from circulation and tying it up in safety deposit vaults, where it can perform none of the functions money was created to perform.

The president's message will reiterate this idea in as strong language as possible. It will show, by inference, that although overspeculation in Wall street may have brought on the stringency, the people who have taken their money out of banks and tied it up in idle vaults are merely contributing to the injury done to the innocent section of the business public.

The responsibility for the early stringency is put where it belongs, but the whole weight of the president's official declaration to congress will be in the direction of reassuring the public as to the stability of the banks and trust companies, with his personal guarantee that, as a class, they are undoubtedly able to meet every dollar of their liabilities if proper consideration is shown them by the public.

Democrats' Guns to Be Spiked.

As a matter of course, the president's message will contain an explanation of the various means resorted to by the government to put an end to the extraordinary demand for money.

It will be a wise thing for him to do this before he is openly criticised by congress. It is now clearly understood that it is the purpose of the democrats to challenge the right of the president to issue certificates of indebtedness at this particular time.

John Sharp Williams, the democratic leader, who arrived here today, expressed the opinion of his party when he declared that the section authorizing the issue of such certificates was only intended to provide for certain contingencies during the Spanish war, and in no event was intended to give authority to issue certificates of indebtedness except at such times as it became necessary to provide for current expenditures.

The president is to be pounded all along the line on this issue, and his message will be an admirable antidote to this criticism.

Bankers' Howls Grow Wearisome.

On the subject of actual reform in the currency itself the message will suggest a form of asset bank notes which will be truly elastic. That is to say, the president will commit himself to no plan which seems likely to result in downright inflation of the currency.

The experience of the government has been

JUSTICE BREWER RAPS ROOSEVELT.

In Carnegie Hall, New York, Member of Supreme Court Calls President a "Political Traitor."

"PLAYS HIDE AND SEEK."

Compares "Dramatic and Spectacular" Actions of Executive with "Calmness" of Gov. Hughes.

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Justice David J. Brewer of the United States Supreme court tonight at Carnegie hall severely criticised and arraigned President Roosevelt before a large audience.

Justice Brewer not only reflected upon the president openly but by innuendo. He contrasted Roosevelt and Hughes. Gov. Hughes, who had just finished his address to the Civic Forum, which was holding its first public meeting, escaped embarrassment by leaving early. He was not there when Justice Brewer intimated broadly that Hughes is a safer and wiser man than the president. It is said Gov. Hughes had no knowledge of what Justice Brewer intended to say.

"No one doubts that it is a base betrayal of trust for an officer elected upon one platform to turn around after securing office and support the opposite side," he said. "We sometimes speak of public officials as being servants. When we have in mind the vast number of ministerial officials doing purely clerical work calling them public servants is not improper. But putting these ministerial officials to one side and considering only those who are legislative and executive officials, there ever is present the idea of ruling and ruler.

Says Seven Years Is Enough.

"The office of president is the highest executive office in the nation. His term is four years, subject to reelection. The idea that fixed the short term is that of preventing permanent injurious results from the arbitrary unauthorized action of some ambitious, unprincipled president—if ever there should be one such in office.

"It may not be generally known that the convention that framed the constitution at first prescribed a presidential term of seven years, with prohibition of reelection; and only as the convention was nearing its end was the provision changed into a four years' term without ineligibility. In the judgment of most men—among who I am one—there was a mistake in that change. In the light of history I think it would have been better to have left the presidential term at seven years with accompanying ineligibility. If that were the provision we should not now have a spectacle of our strenuous president playing the game of hide and seek with the American people."

Speaks of a "Politician's Trick."

When Justice Brewer intimated that seven years of Roosevelt was enough, the audience fairly gasped. The justice paused a moment, then the applause began. It soon swept through the auditorium and was the most prolonged and loudest of the evening.

"It is disgraceful for him to adopt a politician's trick, being for law, but against its enforcement." He added:

"As I said, a wise ruler is not indifferent to the wishes of the people. As he is but one, they many, he well may defer to them in all minor matters. It would be foolish to quarrel with them about simplified spelling. Even in economic matters and questions of governmental policy he never should turn his back on the expressed principles of the party which elected him. In other words, he never should take office on an implied promise and then repudiate that promise. Such conduct is political treachery, and a traitor always is despicable."

Compares Roosevelt and Hughes.

Justice Brewer had more coming for President Roosevelt, and he used his name with that of Gov. Hughes, declaring the one "spectacular and dramatic" and the other "calm in judgment and action," after which he said:

"More and more are we coming to learn that in politics, as well as in business, and in all other relations, character and loyalty to high ideals are mighty factors in every life.

"Some one sneeringly said of Theodore Roosevelt, when he was governor of New York, that he had discovered the ten commandments. If it be true that they had become so buried beneath the accumulation of political dust as no longer to be visible, then blessings on the man who discovered and unearthed them! Perhaps we shall all yet say of another governor of this state, that he has done better and has discovered the golden rule."

BURGLAR ESCAPES WITH LOOT BY LEAPING THROUGH WINDOW

Porch Climber with $1,500 Worth of Jewelry Dashes Past Servant in the Home of Mrs. W. G. Keller.

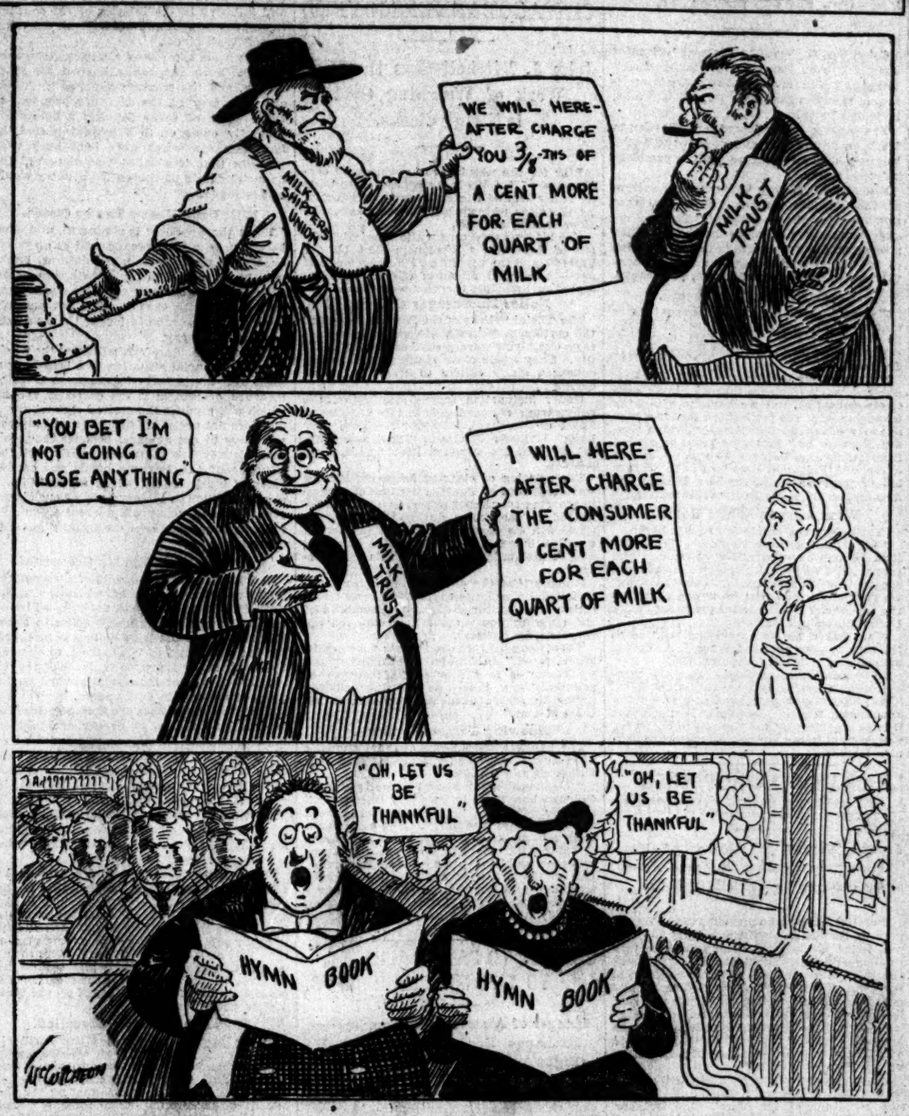
A burglar last night escaped with $1,500 worth of jewelry belonging to Mrs. W. G. Keller, 554 Dearborn avenue, whose husband is president of the George Keller Picture Frame and Molding company.

The thief ran past a frightened servant girl who found him at work and leaped out of a second story window at the rear. He was driven away by a confederate in a buggy. Detectives made an unsuccessful search for him. His booty consisted of two gold watches, three diamond rings and other articles. He overlooked a pocketbook containing $150. He had climbed the pillars of the front porch while the Keller family was at dinner.

Two men, one armed with a revolver, attacked Theowald Schramm, an Evanston grocer, in the shadows of the elevated structure at Kinzie and Wells streets early in the evening, and after kicking him into insensibility robbed him of $35 and a gold watch. Schramm is 60 years old.

Benjamin Brittingham, 16 years old, 1816 North Clark street, was arrested during the night charged with having robbed Mrs. Isabella Lugadin, 1543 Montrose boulevard, of her purse containing $20 on Oct. 27. The young man was seized three hours after he had returned from a visit to relatives in the country.

HOW THE MILK TRUST TRIMS UP THE POOR CONSUMER.



COUNCIL TO MAKE HARMONY

Aldermen-Musicians Propose to Play for Coming Ball.

FOURTEEN JOIN THE BAND.

Ald. Scully, Who Is to Lead, Calls First Rehearsal.

An aldermanic band discoursing aldermanic music with true aldermanic dignity under the direction of an aldermanic leader will be the chief feature at the ball to be given in January by the Chicago aldermanic baseball team to the athletic councilmen of Milwaukee and Philadelphia.

That the Chicago council chamber is a hotbed for musical talent was discovered by Ald. Thomas Scully, who is in charge of the ball arrangements. Threats and cajolery were used by Ald. Scully to get his colleagues to promise to join his band, and when the grand march of the ball is opened by Mayor Busse of Chicago and Mayor Becker of Milwaukee it will be to the strains of "the only aldermanic band in captivity," as Ald. Scully describes his musical aggregation.

Members and Their Instruments.

The instruments to be used by the aldermanic band will not conform to the strict requirements for a full military band, but it is expected that the aldermen will make up in noise what they lack in harmony. The following aldermen have promised to be at the first rehearsal of the band with the following instruments:

Mouth organ	ALD. YOUNG
Bass viol	ALD. KENNA
Snare drum	ALD. KRUGER
Trombone	ALD. JOSETTI
Piccolo and flute	ALD. TAYLOR
Flute	ALD. HOFFMAN
Brass drums and traps	ALD. GOLOMBIEWSKI
Cymbals	ALD. RACE
French horn	ALD. FULTON
Violins	ALD. FICK, EGAN, AND BIHL
Cornets	ALD. KUNZ AND SITTS

Should the audience survive the shock of the grand march Impresario Scully promises to have Ald. Joseph Badenoch play a selection on the bagpipes as an encore. Applications for membership in the band were received from Ald. Hunt, who said he could play a zither, and from Ald. McInerney, who offered to bring sweet music from a hand organ if given an opportunity. Ald. Downey was given a place among the violins at first, but as he insisted that he could play nothing but a "fiddle" his name was placed upon the reserve list.

Sounds Like Joke, but Isn't.

"It sounds like a joke at first," said Ald. Scully, "but it is in all seriousness. We are going to show that the Chicago board of aldermen is as versatile as any body of lawmakers in the country. South Bend, Ind., once had a football team made up of the mayor, chief of police, aldermen, policemen, and firemen, but we are going to show that Chicago ideas are not materialistic and that there is a lot of artistic worth in the Chicago aldermen.

"I have pledges from all the aldermen to attend rehearsals, and any man that balks at the last moment is to pay a fine of $100. This will insure a treat for the public."

FOOTBALL CASH HELPS BANK.

Bills and Silver Raked In by Harvard for Game with Yale Bring High Premium.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—A large Boston bank has arranged with the Harvard Athletic association to take over all the bills and silver taken in for tickets to the Harvard-Yale football contest on Saturday. It is understood a premium of $38 a $1,000 is to be paid. It is estimated the association will net something over $1,000 by the transaction.

SENDS IN HUMOROUS BILL FOR $8 DAMAGE IN WRECK.

Frank Gillman Wants Street Railway Company to Pay for Smashed Hat and Cane—Kisses and Hugs Even.

That even a street car smashup with attendant losses of wearing apparel and dignity may have its compensating features is proved by the novel "dun" which the South Chicago City railway received yesterday from Frank Gillman, manager of the Oaks hotel, Seventy-fifth street and Saginaw avenue. Gillman was in a street car of the company last week when the car jumped the track and ran against a telephone pole. Gillman's personal damages are summed up in this bill which he sent to the company:

SOUTH CHICAGO CITY RAILWAY CO., DR. TO FRANK GILLMAN.

One Derby hat smashed and ruined	$3.00
One walking stick broken	2.00
One pair eyeglasses lost	3.00
Nervous shock from screaming women and children	.00

Total	$8.00

Please remit at once—clearing house certificates accepted.

The street car company remitted.

CARS PULLED TO SAFETY WHILE FREIGHT SHEDS BURN.

Loss of $50,000 on Baltimore and Ohio at 86th Street—Four Trains Taken to Where Water Reached Them.

Fire destroyed the Baltimore and Ohio freight sheds at Eighty-sixth street and Erie avenue at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Eight freight cars loaded with merchandise were burned and the total loss was $50,000.

Three trainmen risked their lives in saving many cars filled with merchandise. Engineer Frank Edwards, 9008 Houston avenue, and Fireman Alvin Thompson, 8045 Escanaba avenue, with their engine pulled out four loaded trains and hauled the burning cars to a place where the firemen could throw a stream upon them.

MAURETANIA DOOMED TO LOSE.

Wireless Report from Cunarder Indicates That Lusitania's Record Will Not Be Bettered.

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The Mauretania is having a hard battle on its maiden trip, with tall seas combed up by fierce head gales. The latest wireless bulletin said that it was 320 miles east of Sable island at 3 p. m. This means that the vessel may not get into Sandy Hook, even if it averages twenty-four knots, until 10 o'clock Friday morning. It is not likely it will break the Lusitania's record.

LITTLE BOY IS CHOKED TO DEATH

Glen Rowley, with Kernel of Corn in Windpipe, Dies on Operating Table.

Glen Rowley, a 6 year old boy of Canton, Ill., died yesterday afternoon on the operating table at the Presbyterian hospital. While feeding chickens he accidentally coughed a kernel of corn into his windpipe twelve days ago. Physicians of his home town tried in vain to remove the obstruction, and as a last resort he was brought to Chicago.

DR. W. A. EVANS' SECRET OUT

They Had Just Returned from a Hunting Trip Together.

Dr. William A. Evans, city health commissioner, and Mrs. Ida May Wildberger of Memphis, Tenn., were married yesterday afternoon at St. Andrew's Episcopal church.

If any one of Dr. Evans' friends receives this news with greater surprise than any other, it will be Mayor Busse, who probably will be in need of resuscitation on the receipt of it.

Mr. Busse returned from his Mississippi hunting trip as Dr. Evans' guest at 8:15 o'clock on Tuesday night. While down in the canebrakes the mayor remarked to Ald. Foreman:

"One of the reasons I came down here was to find out something about the doctor. There's something doing, and I'd like to get a line on him, but he's so secretive that I can't do it."

"Maybe he's engaged," Mr. Foreman suggested.

"Not for Evans," said the mayor. "He's woman proof."

Dr. Evans "Going to Make a Talk."

On the return of the hunting party Dr. Evans allowed it to be known, casually, that it was his purpose to depart the following afternoon for Providence, R. I., to make a talk to the League of American Municipalities. At 8:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon he closed his desk and departed from the city hall, bound for Providence. But if Mayor Busse had followed his health commissioner his idea of Dr. Evans being "woman proof" would have collapsed.

Dr. Evans' first stop en route to Providence was at the county building, where he secured a marriage license. He then laid a course for Providence by steering due west instead of east, and brought up at St. Andrew's church at Washington boulevard and Robey street, where the Rev. Frederick D. Duvall was waiting.

There waited also Mrs. Wildberger, her father, James Smith of Memphis; her sister, Miss Jessie Smith of Memphis; and Mrs. W. W. Strong, and Dr. C. C. O'Byrne.

Starts East on 5:30 Train.

When Dr. Evans again took up his trip to Providence Mrs. Evans accompanied him. They routed their voyage via Washington boulevard for the Union station, and it is affirmed by the doctor's friends who were acquainted with his plans that his statement that he was going to Providence was entirely accurate; that he took train at 5:30 o'clock, and that he merely omitted to say that he would call at the county building and St. Andrew's church on the way.

Mrs. Wildberger's residence has been in Chicago at various times, although Memphis was her home, and she has many friends in this city. Dr. and Mrs. Evans are expected to return next week.

DIVERS FIGHT BENEATH SEA.

Two Greeks Gathering Sponges Fifty-seven Feet Below Surface Have a Duel with Sponge Hooks.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 20. — Six miles off Tarpen Springs on the gulf's bottom, fifty-seven feet under the surface, Nicholas Andreas and John Bastoni, Greek sponge divers, fought desperately with sponge hooks for possession of a big sponge. Both received painful wounds. Andreas came to Tampa to institute prosecution against Bastoni, only to learn that no court had jurisdiction.

WIDEN AND ADORN CITY'S FRONT YARD

South Park Board Takes Up Project to Beautify and Broaden Michigan Boulevard.

ONE STEP TOWARD PARIS.

South Chicago Citizens Appeal to the Commissioners for a "Link" to That Region.

A step in Chicago's progress towards its art goal as the "Paris of America" was proposed to the south park commissioners yesterday by President Henry G. Foreman.

Michigan avenue north of Twelfth street widened to seventy feet; safety islands placed at the crossings; a "parked" space for plants and flowers and trees sixteen feet wide on the east side of the avenue; lanterns fastened to the face of buildings or on pillars for lights; huge vases or urns filled with brilliant flowers or green vines placed at intervals along the curb—that is the dream of Mr. Foreman which has a good chance of becoming a quick reality when the commissioners meet next month to take action.

With Chicago's great show street, south of the Illinois Central station, looking like Princess street in Edinburgh, the plans for the beautifying of the avenue northward to the river and the completion of the boulevard link between the north and south sides will receive a great impetus.

Some Other Projects.

But this is not all the south park commissioners are likely to do. Mr. Foreman also had these propositions to make:

That Jackson boulevard be lighted by lanterns in the manner suggested for Michigan avenue.

That ornamental columns, or vases for flowers, be placed as suggested for Michigan avenue.

That all canopies and signs on Jackson boulevard be removed.

To the landscape artists who are designing improvements for Grant park Mr. Foreman has this proposal:

Arrangement for the location of a recreation building in connection with outdoor gymnasiums and children's playgrounds.

Arrangement in the plans for a bathing beach or swimming pool.

Erection of four comfort stations.

Seems Sure of Success.

Mr. Foreman elaborated his views before the commissioners. They expressed themselves as favorably inclined toward the project, and decided to take up the matter for formal consideration at the regular meeting in December. The plans will be discussed first in a meeting of the committee of the whole, and this will be followed by a vote of the board, expected to be unanimous.

"These boulevards downtown should be boulevards in something beside the name," said President Foreman in addressing the board. "I feel sure that a small expenditure for improvements of such character as I have suggested would transform Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard from their present appearance of ordinary city streets, and the change would be most welcome to all the people."

Michigan Avenue Plans.

Mr. Foreman's detailed plans for the improvement of Michigan avenue as presented to the board are, in his own language:

"The west sidewalk to be carried to the curb line north of Twelfth street and the driveway to be widened from its present width of fifty to seventy feet.

"Safety islands, eight to ten feet in width and twenty-five feet in length, to be erected at the crossings mostly used by pedestrians.

"The planting space on the east side of the avenue north of Twelfth street to be made sixteen feet in width, with a twenty foot sidewalk in the park directly east of it.

"The sidewalk on both sides of the avenue between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets to be extended to the curb line.

Lanterns at Uniform Height.

"North of Eighteenth street the lighting of the avenue to be provided by means of lamps placed at frequent intervals in large ornamental lanterns attached at a uniform height to the faces of the buildings where practicable, and to suitable concrete posts where this is not feasible.

"North of Eighteenth street columns, vases, or urns to be placed on the walk at the curb line at suitable intervals, in which plants or vines may be kept growing during the summer months. The columns or urns to be of such ornamental design that they will be attractive without plants in the winter."

The expense of maintaining boulevards in this way is justified, according to Mr. Foreman, because, by the exclusion of heavy traffic, they are safe places for the more rapid movement of pleasure vehicles; because of the enjoyment which people find in a boulevard which has beautiful features; and because they are of great value as object lessons in the beautifying of city streets.

South Chicago Asks a Boulevard.

In addition to these plans for the improvement of the downtown district, the residents of South Chicago entered a plea for the building of a boulevard connecting that district with Jackson park. It is proposed to extend Jeffery avenue from Jackson park south to Seventy-second street, east to Bond avenue, and south to Eighty-third street.

Senator Clark petitioned for the construction of a small park between Burnside and Dauphin Park and the enlargement of Bessemer and Palmer parks.

WESTON, ILL AND FOOTSORE, MAY HAVE TO ABANDON TRIP.

Pedestrian's Stomach in Bad Condition and Feet in Such Fix Walking Causes Extreme Pain.

Woodville, O., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Edward Payson Weston reached here tonight on his way to Chicago. He made only twenty-three miles today. He is a sick man. His stomach is in bad condition and his feet hurt so badly walking is extremely painful to him.

It is predicted by those who saw his entry into this place, as well as into Fremont, that he will be compelled to abandon his Portland (Me.) to Chicago trip.

Weston was in bed at 11 o'clock tonight. He will resume his journey at 5 tomorrow morning.

The roads west of here are heavy with mud.

Cross Examination Seeks to Show That She Tried to Break Up Senator's Home.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—"He just rushed to me. I don't know what he said. I don't know anything I did—until I heard a shot, which seemed to arouse me. He just walked the floor and swore. I did not know he was shot. I did not take aim. I did not know anything about it."

Thus Mrs. Bradley today described the killing of former Senator Arthur M. Brown of Utah, after she had related the particulars of her visit to Washington and her distress and agitation prior to her final interview with Brown in the Raleigh hotel last December.

That Mrs. Bradley did not come to Washington with any intention of killing Mr. Brown and that she did not even remember the details of the shooting she told the jury today. The statement was not reached until the afternoon session of the court, the first half of the day being given largely to the identification of letters from Mr. Brown to Mrs. Bradley, and from her to him, few of which were read.

More Composed than Yesterday.

Mrs. Bradley was more composed today than yesterday. There were times when she burst into tears or sank into sighs and sobs, but these were less frequent than on Tuesday. Her voice was indistinct and faltering and she was heard with the greatest difficulty.

She made no complaint of fatigue today and left the witness stand with courage. She was dressed in the same simple black gown she has worn ever since the beginning of the trial, and as before it was relieved only by a bit of white lace about the throat.

Letter Will Show Motive.

The fact that upon first going to Senator Brown's room at the Raleigh hotel Mrs. Bradley found there a letter from Mrs. Annie Adams, the actress, to the senator, was dwelt on at some length by Judge Powers, making it evident that it is his intention to attempt to show that the discovery of this letter supplied the immediate motive for the killing of Mr. Brown.

Mrs. Bradley referred briefly to her visit at Brown's house during the latter part of November, 1906, and said that he "seemed sort of paralyzed" and wanted her to go away. He did not stay at home while she was there and she went to the office and upbraided him as a deceiver. "I was in the lowest depths of despair," she said.

Came East on Impulse.

Approaching the visit to Washington, she said Brown had told her of his intentions to come to this city, but she did not know the exact date. She had become ill Dec. 1, after learning of the senator's departure, but she was in such a state of mind that she did not care whether she lived or died. She was unable to sleep at night and had no appetite.

Mr. Livingstone had told her of Mr. Brown's departure and had given her money, which, he said, she could use in buying a ticket to go to any place except Goldfield.

She started for Los Angeles on Dec. 4, but when she reached Ogden changed her mind and at that place exchanged her ticket for one to Washington. "The impulse to change seized me when I got to Ogden and realized that to be the parting of the ways," she said. She was ill on the train. "I would get so tired that I could hardly do anything," she said. "I slept little and ate next to nothing on the train." In Wyoming the train was detained by a wreck, but she could not remember what train she took out of Chicago.

Had Spent Days Fasting.

Mrs. Bradley said she had arrived in Washington Saturday morning Dec. 8 after a night in which she had had little sleep and several days of almost complete fasting.

"I telephoned the Ebbitt house to know if Senator Brown was there. They said he was not and I went immediately to the Raleigh."

She then told of asking at the desk for Senator Brown's room and engaging one for herself, but she had not indicated any particular location for her room. When she reached her room she changed her clothes and then sought the senator's apartment. When she entered she recognized his trunk and asked a maid when he would return. She sat down to wait and seeing a letter lying on the table read it. This was Mrs. Adams' letter to Mr. Brown concerning which so much has been said. Mrs. Bradley shed copious tears as she told of this letter.

Reads Love Letter of Rival.

The letter was dated at Philadelphia, Dec. 6, and was addressed "Dearie, My Dearie." It began:

"The world seems to have taken on another hue, because perhaps I have heard from you."

The letter then went on to speak of the visits of someone, supposedly Mrs. Bradley, to the senator's house, and speaking of her as a "poor, misguided soul," who should be behind prison bars. The writer proceeded to speak of her own engagements as an actress and said that she would not be in the cast for some weeks, but would keep him advised.

The letter then entered upon a dissertation upon love and hate, saying that she was "overflowing with love for you, the sweetest, and dearest of all, and you and I are to become believers in the divine command to love one another. Believest thou this?" The epistle continued: "Yea, verily." The note closed with endearing words.

Walked Streets in a Daze.

Mrs. Bradley said she was "distracted and did not know what to do." She went out on the street and walked all the forenoon, not seeing anyone she knew or remembering what time she got back. She at that time had formed no purpose regarding Senator Brown.

She went back to the hotel several times—how many she did not know. Her room was only a little distance from the senator's, and at last her attention was attracted by his footsteps.

"I went to his room, knocked, and went in. He turned to me and asked: 'What are you doing here?' I said, 'I came to ask if you won't carry out your promises to me.'

Never Had Fired Gun Before.

Then there was the confusion and the sound of the shot that aroused her, but she could not give the particulars. She never had fired a gun before that day. She did not even remember Manager Talty asking her whether she was Brown's wife.

In his cross examination, Mr. Baker went back to the first acquaintance of Mrs. Bradley with Brown, and the trend of his questions showed he expected to make it appear that she tried to break up the senator's home.

The cross examination was not finished when court adjourned for the day.

FORAKER FLAG IS RAISED.

Ohio Republicans Indorse Him for Senate and White House.

TAFT MEN ARE NOT WORRIED

Secretary's Manager Says Club May Owe Posts to the Senator.

Columbus, O., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Senator Joseph Benson Foraker was "vindicated" today by the executive and advisory committees of the Ohio League of Republican clubs, in joint session.

The senator was indorsed for reelection to his Washington seat and declared to be the league's choice for the republican presidential nomination.

Friends of Secretary Taft evinced no alarm at the Foraker meeting. They said that now perhaps the question of "Taft or Foraker" might be put before the people. They also pointed out a clause in the constitution of the league which prohibits any pre-convention expression of sentiment, as a league.

Resolution Praises Record.

The resolution laudatory of the senator was presented by Warren G. Harding, former lieutenant governor. It said that the general officers of the league believed it opportune to declare:

"That, in our opinion, the good of the republican party requires that we should positively announce that we have no sympathy whatever with the proposition that has been recently advanced that Senator Joseph Benson Foraker be 'eliminated' and be retired from public life, because he was not able to agree with President Roosevelt as to the rate bill or joint statehood for New Mexico and Arizona, or about the Brownsville matter."

Want Him in White House.

Continuing, the resolution said in part:

"Entertaining these views, we assure him that he has our unqualified confidence and esteem, and we not only pledge him our loyal support for his reelection to the senate, but we further declare that he is our choice as the republican candidate for president of the United States in 1908."

When asked for an expression relative to the action taken at the meeting, I. A. Vorys, manager of the Taft campaign, said:

"The resolution professes that the committee is 'representing the eighty-eight counties of Ohio.' At the time this committee was announced, it was generally understood that it was appointed, and its members were named by a friend and representative of Senator Foraker."

LABOR LEADER WHO PUSHED RIVAL INTO RIVER CONVICTED.

Second Verdict of Guilty of Manslaughter Against Rudolph Jonas, Once Saved by Appellate Court.

Rudolph Jonas, who pushed Albert Woeckel into the Chicago river on July 20, 1906, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in Judge Windes' court last night. This was the third trial and the second conviction in the case. The first trial resulted in a disagreement. On the second trial Jonas was sent to the penitentiary on an indeterminate sentence from the Municipal court. His was one of the cases thrown out by the Appellate court decision because of lack of jurisdiction of the Municipal court.

Jones was organizer for the Grocery and Market Delivery Drivers' union and Woeckel was secretary of the North Side Butcher Workmen's union. Labor rivalries are said to have led to the conflict on the river bank, which resulted in Woeckel's death.

Assistant State's Attorney Benjamin J. Short encountered great difficulty in this last prosecution of Jonas, as seven of the witnesses who saw the murder and who testified at the other trials could not be found at the present trial.

GOES TO LUNCH AND ELOPES; DROPS NOTE FROM FLYER.

Chicago Girl Suddenly Capitulates and an Indiana Villager Forwards Message to Her Mother.

Miss Florence Folz, 1571 Buckingham place, planned to take lunch last Tuesday with her fiancé, Stewart Patton, steward on the dining car of the Pennsylvania flyer. They were married instead, and immediately departed on their honeymoon. As the flyer dashed through Indiana Harbor the girl dropped the following note:

"Married today. Pittsburg the same day. Home in a week. FLORENCE."

Added to this was the request:

Deliver to 1571 Buckingham place, Chicago.

Walter Pinkmyer, a resident of the village, sent the telegram yesterday to Mrs. Bertha Folz, mother of Florence, who had been almost distrait over the unexplained absence of her daughter, who is only 22.

"I guess they decided to get married and didn't have time to let us know," she said. "But Mr. Patton is all right and I'm glad to have him for a son-in-law."

URGES A BRANCH POSTOFFICE.

Postmaster Campbell Says Structure on the West Side Is What Chicago Needs.

"Chicago should have a one storied postoffice covering one whole block and situated on the west side, where 65 per cent of the mail is received and handled for Chicago," said Postmaster Campbell before the ways and means committee of the Association of Commerce at a luncheon yesterday at the Great Northern hotel. He considered the present quarters far too small.

"This is a good time, gentlemen, to bring up the proposition before you business men to secure the assistance of congress in getting this new postoffice building in Chicago. The contract for handling mail by the underground tunnel system is about to expire and unless an agreement can be reached we will have to handle the mails by automobile and wagon. If this is resorted to the streets about the postoffice will be greatly congested."

LECTURES AND ENTERTAINMENTS

Chicago members of the Society of Mayflower Descendants will have their eleventh annual banquet this evening at the Auditorium. Talcott Williams, L. H. D., of Philadelphia, will be the chief speaker.

The Young People's society of the Leavitt Street Congregational church will present the play, "Six Sharps and One Flat," during the evening and again tomorrow evening. The performance will be given in the chapel adjoining the church, Leavitt and Adams streets.

The Noncommissioned Officers' association of the Illinois state guard will give its third annual reception and ball on Wednesday evening, Dec. 4, at its armory, Washington boulevard and Curtis street.

The sixteenth annual ball of the Hungarian Charity society of Chicago will be given Nov. 30 at the Lakeside club. The society disburses between $1,800 and $2,000 yearly in charity among Hungarian-Americans. A gypsy band will be brought from New York to take part in the entertainment.

Twenty south side Protestant churches will hold a masemeeting at Immanuel Baptist church during the evening in connection with the Sunday closing movement. The Rev. Frederick Jonte Stanley, general secretary of the American Sabbath union, will be the chief speaker.

A bronze bust of the late Gen. Richard J. Oglesby will be publicly unveiled and presented at Memorial hall in the Public Library building Saturday afternoon. The bust was donated by Col. L. T. Dickason of Chicago.

Family and Chattels Disappear.

Fearing that Clarence O'Brien, 27 years old, 129 Fifty-fifth street, and his wife and child had been asphyxiated, neighbors notified the landlord, Lincoln Brooks, 5225 Lake avenue, last night. He broke down the door only to find the place vacant. O'Brien and his family evidently had moved out Saturday night. Rent had been paid in advance.

PUBLIC IS TRYING TO BUY UP ISSUE.

Day's Subscriptions for New Government Certificates Reach $661,000.

CHICAGO BANKERS JOYFUL

John J. Mitchell Says the Mere Work of Weighing Gold Is Tiring Clerks.

Bids for the new issue of government certificates of indebtedness continued to pour in to the United States treasury yesterday. At the close of business, the day's subscriptions totaled $661,000.

One bidder asked for an allotment of $500,000 of the notes, a Wisconsin bank bid for $100,000, and the remaining $61,000 comprised small bids. All amounts offered were accepted and receipts therefor were issued.

Notice Encourages Callers.

The official notices of the Panama bond and the certificate issues made public by Secretary Cortelyou were posted at the subtreasury. They made clear many points and encouraged many callers to invest in the securities.

Under instruction from Washington, the subtreasury released gold in these amounts: Bank of Montreal, $500,000; National City bank, $191,000; Northern Trust company, $91,000; and the Western Electric company, $100,000.

The printing of clearing house certificates was suspended on Tuesday because of a delay in securing the proper paper, so none was delivered to the banks during the day. The work will be resumed today. The demand remains large, and it is expected pay rolls will be met in large part with this local currency.

Rumors that the checks were being counterfeited on a large scale have been circulating the last three days, but members of the clearing house committee asserted the reports were baseless.

"We have had these reports thoroughly investigated," said John J. Mitchell, "and we have yet to find a single instance of counterfeiting. Some one evidently has been trying to create uneasiness by circulating these stories."

Showing Pleases Bankers.

The bankers were joyful over the showing of resources made by the state banks in their statement to the auditor.

"These statements show how well prepared Chicago banks are to meet any emergency," said Mr. Mitchell. "The banks have passed safely through the flurry. The statements show an aggregate increase in cash resources of $14,000,000. Here in the Illinois Trust we will open an hitherto unused vault tomorrow. Our clerks are tired out with the work of weighing and counting gold. And there's more coming—about $5,000,000 in gold is on the way and will be here within the next week."

OBJECTS TO PAYING ALIMONY TO TWO MRS. MARGRAFFS.

Manager of American Express Foreign Exchange Department Putting Up Fight Against Second Divorce Suit.

Anthony Margraff, manager of the foreign exchange department of the American Express company, is reluctant to pay alimony to wife No. 2 while he still is paying $75 a month to wife No. 1. So he is putting up a vigorous resistance in Judge Carpenter's court against his second wife's suit for divorce.

He denies stories of cruelty and says Mrs. Margraff was the one that did the beating. His former and present wives appear to have leagued against Margraff, as they posed together for a post card photograph, which they sent to him with the greeting, "Hurrah, the Has Beens, to Our Husband."

WANTS A LAW ON COURTSHIPS.

Judge Petit Says Engaged Couples Should Be Compelled to Take Special Course.

"All the young people who contemplate marriage should by law be compelled to take a course on the question of their own legal rights and their obligations to one another," said Judge Petit to the Woman's club of the Armitage Avenue settlement last night.

"If this were done wife desertion and child abandonment would be unheard of.

"There should be a reciprocity law between the various states, so a man could be brought back when he runs away."

FEVER AT HOME; GIRL FLEES.

Marie Lang, 12 Years Old, Missing from 5512 Shields Avenue Since Yesterday Morning.

Marie Lang, 12 years old, 5512 Shields avenue, yesterday morning disappeared from her home where her little brother, John, is suffering from scarlet fever. The girl several times had expressed her dread of the disease and it is believed she ran away to escape contagion. Mrs. Lang had sent her on a message to a grocery and she failed to return.

Falling Steel Kills Man.

Carl Linstrom, 19 years old, 78 Bingham street, a machinist's helper employed in the Wagner company foundry, 316 Canal street, was accidentally killed yesterday afternoon by the fall of a shaft while he was at work in the foundry.

too bitter in that connection. It has supplied Wall street banks with millions upon millions of government deposits. These enormous sums, instead of being used to supply the legitimate demands of agriculture and industry in the interior of the country, have been poured into rat holes in the vicinity of Wall street.

Every time there was a money stringency in New York the banks howled for more money, and the treasury supplied it. When any secretary of the treasury proposed to retire some of these deposits a delegation promptly came on to Washington, and the long distance wires were kept busy with protests that if a dollar was disturbed the financial fabric of the entire country would be destroyed.

Will Urge Heavy Tax on Notes.

What the president is aiming at, and what he will urge in his message, will be a system by which, under certain regulations, banks may be permitted to issue their own notes.

He would, however, tax this emergency issue so heavily that it could not possibly remain out one minute longer than was absolutely necessary.

The message, therefore, will treat the whole existing financial situation as a broad argument for the passage by congress of some measure of reform in the currency system which will produce the desired elasticity.

It does not necessarily follow that congress will have to act at once, because the president already has taken a step, through the issuance of the Panama bonds and certificates of indebtedness, which amounts to an elastic addition to the currency of such large proportions as surely will prevent a panic, if such a thing can be done by any governmental means.

Wage Earner's Rights Conserved.

In arguing for the necessity of currency reform under the creation of an elastic circulation, President Roosevelt's message will contain an admirable argument going to show that this legislation is by no means intended for the sole relief of Wall street, or even of the bankers, but primarily is designed to benefit the poorer man, who always is the greatest sufferer in every panic.

It will be shown that the man of moderate fortune and the wage earner are just as much interested in relieving financial stringency and in preventing panic as the rich man, or even the Wall street speculators.

The president already has pointed out, in previous messages and speeches, that it is impossible to come to the relief of the poorer classes in the community without doing something at the same time for those who are more fortunate.

The importance of this, in the eyes of the chief executive, lies in the fact that if the people who have money in savings banks and those who have made small investments insist upon getting their actual cash and tie it up in safety deposits or in hiding places, they will do a great deal more harm to the innocent than to the guilty, and will, in the long run, contribute more to the creation of a panic than all the speculators of all the Wall streets that ever existed.

1905 Declaration Recalled.

In the president's message there will almost certainly be found an elaboration of certain portions of his message to congress in 1905, and more particularly one special paragraph which is worth quoting for the benefit of those who like to forecast presidential communications to congress.

In his declaration of 1905, the president said:

"Any benefit which comes to the less able and less fortunate must, of necessity, come even more to the more able and more fortunate. If, therefore, the less fortunate man is moved by envy of his more fortunate brother to strike at conditions under which they have both, though unequally, prospered, the result will assuredly be that while damage may come to the one struck at it will visit, with an even heavier load, the one who strikes the blow. Taken as a whole, we must all go up or go down together."

HANDBOOK CLEARING HOUSE WRECKED BY POLICE RAID.

Place at 392 Wabash Avenue, Supposed to Be Controlled by Samuel Tuckhorn, Discovered.

The gambling detail raided a handbook clearing house at 392 Wabash avenue, tore out six telephones, and made three arrests. The raid was made Saturday, but the facts did not become known till yesterday.

E. L. Hammond was fined $50 as keeper and Robert Lowrey, an employé, $25. Charles Cook, taken as an inmate, was released. The police believe that the room was used as a clearing house for handbooks controlled by Samuel Tuckhorn, saloonkeeper, adjoining the building where the raid was made.

Eight slot machines were confiscated by policemen yesterday. They were found in small saloons in the northwest part of the city.

THREE INDICTED IN BANK INQUIRY.

More Bills May Be Returned as Result of Brooklyn Investigation.

CURRENCY PREMIUM UP.

Higher Rate Reflects Engagements of Cash to Buy New Treasury Issues.

New York, Nov. 20.—Three indictments are said to have been ordered today by the Kings county grand jury, which has been investigating the affairs of the suspended Borough bank of Brooklyn. The grand jury has not completed its labors, and there were indications tonight that there might be other indictments. It is expected the indictments will be handed down tomorrow or Friday.

One of the charges considered has to do with what the prosecutor describes as a misappropriation of funds of the bank in the formation of the International Trust company. It was charged that a check of $145,000 was drawn from the Borough bank and used to complete the $1,000,000 of capital and subscribed surplus.

Rise in Currency Premium.

There were three interesting developments in the financial situation today, all having a direct bearing on the issue of $100,000,000 of 3 per cent treasury notes and the flotation of $50,000,000 new Panama bonds.

In the first place the rise of a quarter per cent premium on currency, which forced the banks to pay the money brokers 2½ per cent for ready cash which was bought in quantity last night for 2¾ per cent, made several large institutions withhold for twenty-four hours their bids for the new government issues.

Leading bankers of the city made representations to Secretary Cortelyou that owing to the premium still prevailing on currency it would be impossible for them to buy the new 3 per cent notes unless they could be assured first that the purchase money would be left on deposit with the purchasing bank, the government taking new notes as collateral for the deposit, and, second, that the bank then be free to substitute railroad or municipal bonds for collateral underlying the government's deposit of bond purchase money and immediately pledge the notes thus released as a basis for additional circulation.

Still Seeking French Gold.

Another development was the effort of large foreign banking houses to obtain the cooperation of directors of the Bank of France in a scheme to advance $30,000,000 or $50,000,000 of gold, using the new treasury notes as collateral, with a promise of repayment within six or eight months.

The advance in the premium on currency is thought by many to reflect preliminary purchases of cash by subscribers for the new issues. Some bankers regarded this as altogether the natural development of the demand for bonds from private investors, some of whom have not ready cash to put up and are forced to pay for bonds with currency purchased with certified checks. At any rate, the rise in the currency premium had directly to do with this movement, as a good portion of the demand for notes came from out of town banks, which have not sufficient cash.

Auto Sent for Show Is Stolen.

An automobile to be exhibited at the motor show was received Saturday evening and stolen Sunday night, and the police have no clews to the thieves. It was received by H. R. Mallow, 1413 Michigan avenue. Before it was put in the garage an insurance agent had called and accepted the risk. When Mallow left the place Sunday night at 12:30 o'clock the car was there. The next morning he found the back door broken open and the car gone. It is valued at $5,300.

STATE CAPITAL GETS HOSPITAL

ESTATE BECOMES A TRUST.

Homestead and City Property Go to Senator John Logan Hay.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—An additional public hospital for Springfield is provided for in the will of the late Col. Stephen Logan Littler, which was filed for probate today. The testament creates a trust of the bulk of Col. Littler's estate, which is said to amount to nearly $1,000,000.

Provision is made for the payment of the net income to relatives and other beneficiaries until the death of the longest lived of the beneficiaries, when the entire trust estate is to become immediately available for founding and maintaining a new hospital.

Twenty-five per cent of the value of the property may be used in purchasing grounds, erecting buildings, and equipping the institution, and the remainder of the estate is to be retained by the trustee and the annual income is to be used in maintaining the hospital.

The homestead of Col. Littler is bequeathed to his cousin, Senator Logan Hay. To Senator Hay also is bequeathed all real estate owned by the decedent in the city of Springfield, including several office buildings.

Col. Littler was 36 years old at the time of his death, a few weeks since. He was unmarried, and his nearest surviving relatives are cousins. He was a son of the late Senator David T. Littler, and was a member of the military staff of the late Gov. John R. Tanner.

OBITUARY.

Z. B. JOB died yesterday at his home in Alton, Ill., aged 92 years. He was born in Fairfax county, Va., in 1815, and removed to Madison county, Ill., in 1833, settling where the town of Alton now stands. He represented Madison county four terms in the legislature, and was a friend of Lincoln, Douglas, the elder Yates, and other men who made Illinois history. He left four children—Z. B. Job Jr., Mrs. H. J. Bowman, and Miss Dollie Job of Alton, and Fred W. Job, secretary of the Chicago Employers' association. The funeral will be held today.

CALVIN CHRISTY NICHOLS, a newspaper advertising man and representative of the Atlanta Constitution, died in a cab yesterday morning while being driven from the Stratford hotel to the Great Northern baths. Percy Pyrrell, manager of the Stratford, was with Col. Nichols, but did not know his companion was dead until he sought to help him out. Death was due to rheumatism of the heart. The body was sent to Atlanta. Col. Nichols was 55 years old. He leaves a widow and two children.

GEN. JAMES S. MARTIN is dead at Salem, Ill., aged 81 years. He was colonel of the One Hundred and Eleventh Illinois regiment in the civil war. He had been president of the Salem National bank ever since its organization, president of the Southern Illinois Soldiers' Reunion association, pension commissioner, commander of the G. A. R., chairman of the state republican committee. His funeral will occur Saturday noon under the auspices of the G. A. R.

CORWIN V. HOWELL, chief claim agent and claim attorney for the Pennsylvania railroad, died of Bright's disease yesterday at his residence, 5711 Washington avenue. Mr. Howell was 59 years old and had lived in Chicago for twenty years. He was born in Brantford, Ont. He was married, and a member of several clubs. The funeral, which will be held tomorrow from the home, will be under the auspices of Mr. Howell's Masonic lodge.

DR. SAMUEL J. BOYD of Chicago died at his residence, 413 Washington boulevard yesterday, after an illness of eleven months. He was born in Rochester, N. Y., forty-six years ago, and came to Chicago when a young man. He was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1891 and had practiced medicine since that year. He is survived by a widow and an 8 year old son, Samuel.

WALSH HAS TURN; 'BANK NOT LOSER.'

Examiner Moxey, Under Cross Inquiry, Says Defendant Covered Bond Losses.

HOT FIGHT IS DUE TODAY.

Aids of Chicago National's President Will Be Asked About Transactions.

John R. Walsh had his first innings in Judge Anderson's court yesterday since his trial for the misapplication of $7,000,000 of the funds of the Chicago National bank began a week ago.

What are considered by the defense to be several important props in the carefully laid foundation of the government's case against Mr. Walsh were knocked out through the admissions of United States Bank Examiner H. P. Moxey in a searching cross examination by Attorney John S. Miller.

Mr. Moxey testified in this cross examination as follows:

That the complete records of the bond and note transactions had not been brought out in his direct examination by Assistant United States District Attorney Fletcher Dobyns.

That the part not made public by the government showed that all the notes discounted by the Chicago National bank were paid at maturity, and that all the bonds purchased by the bank had been resold at a good figure to responsible brokers and banks. (Defense claims bonds are carried now in 181 eastern banks.)

That whenever there was a loss in the bond sales John R. Walsh gave the bank his personal check to cover the sum, and whenever there was a gain the bank profited by it.

No Intent to Defraud.

In this testimony the defense considered it had struck a blow at the heart of the government's case, in showing that Walsh had no intention of defrauding the bank which he headed when he sold the bank the securities of his own corporations.

The other important feature is the testimony of the books that the bonds of the Southern Indiana and the Illinois Southern were worth as much to outsiders as they were to the bank—thus disposing of the count in the indictment against Walsh declaring these bonds worthless. Mr. Miller also made much of the fact that Mr. Moxey had not told all that the books showed when he was on the stand.

Facts Cited by Moxey.

Mr. Moxey, who will submit to further cross examination by Mr. Miller this morning, was dismissed from the stand by the government shortly after noon. He had completed laying the foundation of 160 counts in the indictment and had testified to these facts:

During 1904 John R. Walsh secured from the Chicago National bank by bond sale and notes discounted $8,434,268. Walsh secured $630,000 of this in a single day, Jan. 31.

This money was disbursed as follows:

To the Illinois Southern railroad	$325,000
To the Southern Indiana railroad	360,000
To the Chicago Chronicle	70,000
To the Equitable Trust company	292,000
To the Wisconsin and Michigan railroad	562,500
To the Bedford Quarries company	10,000

The balance of the $3,000,000 remained to the credit of Walsh.

After all these items had been traced, Mr. Dobyns said:

"Where did you find all these deposit slips and bond department checks, Mr. Moxey?"

"In the storage rooms of the Chicago National bank."

"What search did you make for them?"

Defense Scores a Point.

"Object," said Attorney William J. Hynes. "We expect to show, your honor," said Mr. Dobyns, "that these slips and bond certificates were the only way we could trace these transactions and that it took Mr. Moxey twelve weeks to find them and sort them out. It does not take a bank examiner longer than a week to go through such a bank. We offer to show that these bond transactions were effectually concealed from the examiner and from the directors of the bank, and that this is conclusive evidence of fraud on the part of the defendant."

"I object to the use of the word 'fraud,'" said Mr. Hynes. "These slips have shown the opposite."

"You have no right to go into the search. Just tell what Mr. Moxey found," said the court.

"That is all for this witness at present," said Mr. Dobyns, after a few more questions.

"Have you finished finally with him?" asked Mr. Miller.

"No." I shall call him later," said Mr. Dobyns.

Miller Opens Fire.

After a consultation with Attorneys Ritscher, Hamill, and Hynes Mr. Miller began his task of cross-examination. He took up the evidence of sixteen notes one by one.

"Read the entry," said Mr. Miller, "in the collateral book of the bank for Jan. 21, 1904."

"Illinois Southern railroad bond certificates, $100,000, advance $92,000, W. S. Wilder," read Mr. Moxey.

"Is that all there is in that entry?"

"No."

"Read the rest."

"When delivered, June 1," read the examiner.

"You did not read that before?"

"No."

"What does it mean?"

"It means the note was paid June 1."

"Why did you not read that entry before?"

"Because we only wanted at this time the evidence of the collateral put into the bank."

"How did you know what was wanted?"

"I object," interposed Mr. Dobyns.

"He may answer," said the court.

"From what I said to Mr. Dobyns," said Mr. Moxey.

"Did he tell you not to read the entire entry?"

"No, I knew it was not necessary at this time."

"Is that the only reason?"

"Yes, if I gave everything I would be here six months."

"Well, you are getting $20 a day, aren't you?"

"I decline to answer," said Mr. Moxey.

"That is not proper cross examination," said the court.

Deals Sharply with Hynes.

"Will your honor permit us to make an exception?" asked Mr. Hynes.

"Exception to what?" asked the judge, sharply.

"To the ruling," said Mr. Hynes.

"I know well that such a question should not be asked," said the judge.

"But—" began Mr. Hynes.

"That will do," said the court. "Take your seat, Mr. Hynes."

"Now read the discount entry for June 1," said Mr. Miller.

"It shows the W. S. Wilder note was paid and the collateral delivered back," said Mr. Moxey.

"Now turn to the M. W. Wells entry in the collateral book, showing a note for $92,000, backed up by $100,000 bonds of the Illinois Southern," said Mr. Miller.

"It was delivered June 1," said Mr. Moxey.

In rapid fire order Mr. Miller approached all the other notes testified to, and Mr. Moxey read the delivery and payment of all on maturity. It is the government contention there was no real payment but the notes were simply renewed, one being taken up and another being taken out on the same collateral.

Takes Up Affair of Bonds.

"We will now take up the matter of the bond purchases," said Mr. Miller after the notes were disposed of. "Look at the bond purchase book."

"I have it," said Mr. Moxey.

"On April 15, 1904, is there a purchase by the bank of $50,000 worth of Southern Indiana railway bonds at 4 per cent from C. F. Weinland?"

"There is."

"Now look at May 9 of the same year and see if there is an entry of the sale of these bonds by the bank?"

"Yes, they were sold to C. F. Weinland at 95, the amount of the purchase."

"You did not testify to that in the direct examination?"

"No, sir."

"Why not?"

"I was not asked."

"You knew about it?"

"Yes."

"You had told Mr. Dobyns and Mr. Childs about it?"

"No."

Tells of Other Bond Sales.

More bond sales were testified to, as follows:

April 25, $32,000 of Southern Indiana bonds, bought by the bank at 95; sold to C. F. Weinland, June 28, at the same price.

June 15, $51,000 Southern Indiana bonds, bought by the bank at 95; sold in lots from June 28 to July 14 at 95 and interest to George A. Fernald & Co. of Boston.

June 25, $50,000 Southern Indiana bonds, bought by the bank at 95; sold July 26 at 95 and interest to King-Hodenpyl & Co.

Sept. 13, $25,000 Southern Indiana bonds, bought by the bank at 95; sold Dec. 13 at 95 and interest to King-Hodenpyl & Co.

Sept. 21, $100,000 Southern Indiana bonds, bought by the bank at 95; sold in lots from Nov. 2 to March 18, 1905, all at 95 and interest, with the exception of one lot of $50,000, which sold at 92½. Buyers were the Bedford National bank and J. J. McCarthy.

Sept. 30, $50,000 Southern Indiana railway bonds, bought by the bank at 95; sold Oct. 13 at 95 to King-Hodenpyl and to F. M. Blount, trustee, at 96.

Oct. 27, $25,000 Illinois Southern bonds, bought by the bank at 90; sold March 18 to the Equitable Trust company at 90.

Oct. 29, $100,000 Southern Indiana bonds, bought by the bank at 95; sold Jan. 14 to King-Hodenpyl for 95 and to George A. Fernald & Co. at 90.

Walsh Stands All Losses.

The books showed that when there was a difference in the purchase and sale price of the bonds, where the bank would have lost, Walsh paid his check to cover the difference. These checks appear as follows:

Dec. 30, 1904	$ 1,250
March 20, 1904	500
March 20, 1904	12,500
March 20, 1904	11,250
May 22, 1905	23,750
Total	$49,250

Mr. Miller clinched this point by asking Mr. Moxey:

"Is it not true in every instance that when the bond was sold at less than the purchase price Mr. Walsh paid the difference?"

"Yes, in every instance," said Mr. Moxey.

"A buyer paid all the accrued interest to the bank?"

"Yes."

Whenever the bank bought at a low price and sold at a higher price the bank got the profit, did it not?"

"I would not like to answer that, but I think so," said Mr. Moxey.

It is Possible to Reduce Flesh Without Dieting or Exercise

It is not only possible but being done everywhere. Exercise, unless carefully superintended by a physician and expert Athletic Director, may easily do a deal of harm to the great overburdened fleshy body. The untutored fat man and woman determined to get thin are only too likely to overstrain their fat encumbered muscles by their awkward, ill-advised gymnastics, and so cause nerve and muscle troubles that may develop into something far worse than a little too much flesh. Same way with dieting. Starvation is certainly effective if kept up long and faithfully enough, but it is almost certain to injure the nutritive process and so weaken the patient constitutionally, while it is abominable torture, of course, especially to a good-natured, high-living, fleshy man or woman.

Fortunately neither dieting nor exercising are required or desirable if one uses the right remedy for reducing fat, and strange to say, the remedy is a simple, wholesome home mixture, the ingredients of which are obtainable at any drug store for a few cents. This mixture is as follows: ½ oz. Marmola, ½ oz. Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 1½ ozs. Syrup Simplex, and the proper amount to take is one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. This mixture takes the fat off rapidly but naturally, so that no wrinkles are formed and no harm is done to the stomach, as is so frequently the case with "Patent" or "secret" advertised remedies. President of Oak Park Cupid Club Determined to Prosecute "Hugger."

MISS JEWEL BUSSE

Still jubilant that her instinct had resulted in the capture of the man who attempted to kiss her, Miss Jewel Busse, president of the Oak Park Cupid club, appeared yesterday at the West Lake street station to prosecute Nicolo Nelson, a carpenter, whom she again identified as the "hugger" who forced his demonstrations of affection on her.

Miss Busse acts as cashier at the factory of which her father is the head—the W. A. Busse Manufacturing company, 36 Union Park place. The attack is said to have occurred on the stairway of the factory. The girl saw her assailant on the street the next day and followed him to the West Lake street station, where she caused his arrest.

The case was called before Judge Beitler yesterday morning, but because of the pressure of other cases it was continued until tomorrow.

STUDENT A SUICIDE IN PARK

Henry Toppen Shoots Himself as He Stands at Lions' Cage.

SON OF FRENCH PARENTS.

Had Been Attending Private School in Chicago; No Reasons Known.

Seemingly as lacking in worries as any one in the careless, curious throng around him, Henry Toppen, a Chicago student, said to be the son of wealthy French parents in Switzerland, wandered along before the various cages in the Lincoln park animal house at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He paused before the lion's quarters, drew a revolver from his overcoat pocket, placed it to his mouth, and shot himself. He died a few minutes after Keeper Cy DeVry carried him to his office.

The suicide was not more surprising to the bystanders than to the young man's friends when they learned of it. He was 21 years old and had been attending a private school on the south side and was rejoicing in the prospect of returning soon to his Swiss home. What had occurred to upset his pleasant prospects none of his friends can imagine.

Seemed in Good Spirits.

For two months Toppen had been living at the home of W. A. Welch, 135 Forty-seventh street. The latter identified the body.

"Toppen left my home in the morning and said he was going to visit his father's attorney," said Welch. "I cannot explain his act, as he always seemed to be in good spirits."

An examination of Toppen's room also failed to reveal anything that would enlighten the police. Harry Johns, who was the young man's roommate, told the police that Toppen had never hinted of being tired of life nor was he in poor health.

Thinks Suicide Followed Quarrel.

Despondency following a quarrel with her suitor is believed to have resulted in the suicide of Anna Bokr, 17 years old, daughter of V. Bokr, a wine merchant at 2359 West Forty-seventh street. Her father believes she jumped into the lake at the foot of Fifty-first street on the morning of Nov. 13. Two men who were fishing on a nearby pier saw a girl of her description jump into the lake at this point.

UNITE TO DEMAND MORE "L" CARS.

Wilson Avenue Residents Appoint Committee to Get After Northwestern.

NUMEROUS HOT REMARKS.

Road's Employes Who Attend Massmeeting Through Curiosity Leave in Daze.

A campaign committee which will seek to obtain better service for the patrons of the Wilson avenue branch of the Northwestern Elevated railway was appointed at an indignation meeting in Govan hall, Evanston and Wilson avenues, last night. The meeting was attended by 200 residents of Sheridan Park and Buena Park.

The degree of indignation to which the residents of the neighborhood have been roused was apparent in the speeches that described instances of personal inconvenience, discomfort, and exasperation suffered by patrons of the branch as compared with the faultless accommodations accorded the Ravenswood branch. Seven Northwestern "L" guards in uniform attended the meeting out of curiosity. Though inured to kicks, they were dazed by what they heard at the gathering.

The campaign committee, which is headed by ex-Ald. Frank T. Fowler, will begin work by distributing blanks on the L trains which passengers will be requested to fill in with their criticisms of the service. These blanks will be collected at the Wilson avenue terminus by a representative of the committee.

After obtaining as much detailed information as possible on the shortcomings of the service, the committee, accompanied by Ald. Williston and Dunn, will wait on President Starring and request specific improvements. Failing to achieve results in that way, the grievances will be laid before Mayor Busse and the city council.

All Sign Resolution.

All the citizens who attended the meeting signed a resolution which will be printed on the blanks to be distributed on the trains. It was:

We, the undersigned users of the Northwestern Elevated railway, do hereby protest against the service furnished patrons of the Wilson avenue branch of the Northwestern L, which service we consider inadequate and faulty.

The members of the campaign committee are:

Frank T. Fowler, 1871 Sheridan road.
A. Lange, 1777 Magnolia avenue.
Henry Gulmond, 1757 Kenmore avenue.
Harry P. Coffin, 2099 Kenmore avenue.
F. A. Cotharin, 1877 Magnolia avenue.
Ferdinand Goss, 1429 Lawrence avenue.
G. W. Peck, 1314 Leland avenue.
The Rev. F. S. Rockwell, 1700 Sheridan road.
Edward Lowy, 266 Hazel avenue.
A. W. Marston, 1871 Sheridan road.
B. O. Carlton, 1488 Irving Park boulevard.

The meeting was called at the instance of Mr. Lange, who is a leader of the indignation movement. After the organization of the meeting with R. P. White as chairman, the secretary read a dozen letters giving instances of bad service.

Call Service "Rotten."

"The service is absolutely rotten," wrote Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Hinckley. "The manager of the road must be either insane or incompetent. On one occasion a train was run all the way round the loop without making any stops, while the passengers, who had not been notified, clamored in vain to be let off to catch trains. At the Sheridan station we find that we have only one-third as many express trains as we had before the Ravenswood branch was opened."

Sherman M. Booth wrote that he would gladly contribute to a fund to "prosecute the Northwestern L and compel the giving of good service."

"The excuses given by President Starring for the service are absurd," wrote E. Fisher, 1773 Magnolia avenue. "I have had to wait from fifteen to twenty-five minutes for trains at Belmont station frequently."

Mrs. Edward Lowy said the seats in a train she was on the other day were extremely dirty. She also got on to a train bearing a Wilson avenue sign, only to find herself shortly traveling out on the Ravenswood branch.

Fowler Points the Way.

At this stage of the proceedings ex-Ald. Fowler addressed the meeting.

"This is a section of the city that has been built up by the extension of transportation," he said, "and now it is in danger of being torn down by the deterioration of transportation. Let me urge you to get your alderman to take up your grievances."

Thereupon Ald. Williston was discovered seated with Mr. Fowler and was escorted to the platform.

Edward Lowy complained of the bad ventilation of the cars.

"It is criminal," he said. "The other day a guard came and put down the window that I had raised to get better air. I protested, but he said he had to do it or be fined $3. He had only three units of heat for the car."

Ald. Williston said he had been assured by President Starring that the best efforts were being made to give Wilson avenue good service. If improvements cannot be secured he advocated "using the hammer."

Swear to Use Surface Cars?

"I can testify to the bad service as a bleacherite," said the Rev. F. S. Rockwell. "I bleach it out on the Belmont avenue station every day on a platform swept by the wind and the rain and the sand. If we can't make this road give us decent service I favor forming an organization, every member of which will be sworn to use only the surface cars. Then we'll see how they'll like that."

C. W. Murphy Church Club Guest.

Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago National league baseball team, was the guest of honor at the weekly meeting of the Men's club of Grace Episcopal church, Oak Park, last night.

BARON AWAY; ALSO IN TOWN

New French Consul in Two Places at the Same Time.

ABSENT AS GUEST OF HONOR.

Later Says He Was in City During Club Francais Salon.

Perhaps no one except the baron de Saint Laurent, French consul in Chicago, knows why he did not attend the reception given in his honor by the Club Français at the residence of Mrs. Harry Milne McIntosh, 620 East Division street. The baron last evening expressed an unwillingness to discuss the reasons. The Alliance Française could not even offer a guess as to the real reason.

"The baron wrote to us that he must be out of the city," announced the officials of the Club Français.

"No. I have not been out of the city at all," said the consul last evening. "But don't you see it would not be pleasant for me to talk of the matter."

The recent arrival of Baron Saint Laurent as the new French consul was hailed with much delight by the French speaking people of Chicago. Arrangements for various receptions followed.

"We would like to have you with us whenever it is convenient," said Mrs. Mary H. Knowles, president of the Club Français.

Baron Accepts Invitations.

"It would be a great pleasure for the baroness and myself," was the baron's answer.

"We shall meet next Tuesday. Can we expect you at that time?" said Mrs. Knowles.

"We never go out in the evening," said the consul.

"But this is in the afternoon," said Mrs. Knowles.

"It will be to us both great pleasure to be present," said the baron.

So engraved invitations were sent out. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. McIntosh, with Mrs. Frank R. McMullin and Mrs. Knowles, received 200 guests. Assisting were Mrs. Edward A. Leicht, Mrs. Malcolm Mitchell, Mrs. James H. Channon, and others. Presiding at the table in the dining room were Miss Florence Neff, Mrs. Frank M. Smith, and Mrs. J. J. Grey.

It was declared by all the members to be the best "salon" the club ever held. But, to the surprise of all, there was no baron to be seen.

"No; Baron and Baroness Saint Laurent will not be with us this afternoon," said the club's president. "We have received this note, which I will read: 'A letter from Paris has made it necessary for me to be out of the city on the day of your kind reception, and will you please express to your members the profound regret which the baroness and I feel because we cannot be present?'"

Hint of Old Jealousy.

If there is still any jealousy between the two French organizations no one will admit it. There was a whisper that the French consul had been advised that the alliance would probably be able to introduce him to the French people of Chicago, and that other introductions might be needless.

"It is something that I really cannot discuss," said Baron Saint Laurent.

The Club Français and the Alliance Française merged their theaters this year, and all the old jealousy was supposed to be forgotten. Each organization keeps up its own entity, however, the club holding six Tuesday afternoon salons during the season, and the Alliance occasional Tuesday evening salons.

TRAIN HITS TROLLEY CAR; EIGHT PERSONS NEAR DEATH.

Second Crash in Week Occurs in South Chicago—Crews of Freight and Electric Lines Blamed.

Eight passengers on a South Chicago City railway street car narrowly escaped death last night when, at 6 o'clock, a Chicago Terminal Transfer freight train crashed into the trolley on the crossing at Ninety-fourth street and Commercial avenue. All of them sustained painful injuries and others on the car were badly shaken up.

Seriously Injured.

The more seriously injured are:

Demboski, Mrs. Mary, 10205 Commercial avenue; head and chest cut.
Dreding, Charles, 9438 Commercial avenue; face and head cut.
Ellison, Joseph, 8046 Exchange avenue; leg sprained, body bruised.
Friegel, Mrs. Lottie, 10706 Hoxie avenue; head and face cut.
Hesse, Frank, 9243 Commercial avenue; leg crushed, head and chest cut and bruised.
Lattish, Thomas, 10804 Calhoun avenue; right leg lacerated, head and face cut.
Ringer, Frank, 10704 Hoxie avenue; head and face cut.
Sellers, John, 9917 Exchange avenue; left arm crushed and thigh dislocated.

The wreck, which was the second of its kind in that section within a week, is said to have been due to the lack of lights on the freight train, which was backing up.

According to Conductor Henry McGeuth of the trolley car, the street car had almost cleared the crossing when the freight train struck and overturned it. The trainmen said McGeuth was to blame for the accident.

Dinner to High Chief Rangers.

Two hundred and fifty persons attended the annual dinner to the deputy high chief rangers, Catholic Order of Foresters, Illinois jurisdiction, at the Grand Pacific hotel last night. William F. Ryan, state chief ranger, was toastmaster.

RALLY TO CRUSH WHITE SLAVE SIN.

Many Organizations Represented at Meeting Launching New Crusade.

WILL ASK AID OF STATE.

Rose Johnson's Words of Fire Arouse Chicagoans to Take Immediate Action.

Charges that Chicago rapidly is becoming the greatest "white slave" center of the world and that a powerful syndicate for traffic in young girls exists in the city has stirred religious and settlement workers to form a large organization for the express purpose of combating the evil.

At a meeting of nearly fifty ministers, lawyers, and settlement leaders in the Young Men's Christian Association building yesterday plans were laid for the work. The following organizations already have expressed their eagerness to join in a crusade against the traffic in girls:

Cook County Women's Christian Temperance union.
Citizens' league.
Cook County Federation of Women's Clubs.
Social Settlement league.
Legal Aid society.
Associated Charities.
Chicago Purity league.
National Purity association.
Relief Aid society.
City club.
Visiting Nurse association.
Young Men's Christian association.
Young Women's Christian association.
Illinois Training School for Girls.
Salvation Army home.
Florence Crittenden home.
Midnight Refuge house.

All Will Co-operate.

Many of the named organizations sent representatives to the conference, while others expressed their willingness to cooperate in any movement the organization might undertake.

The plan for a large organization and a crusade against the white slave evil in Chicago came as the result of a small conference held last Thursday. At the earlier meeting, Miss Rose Johnson, an Englishwoman, who has devoted her life to rescue work in Egypt and Panama, stirred her hearers to action by asserting there are paid agents in those countries receiving many young and innocent girls from Chicago, and that they are sold into bondage. Judge Newcomer and Assistant State's Attorney C. G. Roe furnished additional information as to the traffic.

"There is a great Chicago syndicate for the traffic in young girls," said Mr. Roe. "I have prosecuted over fifty young men who are tools of the syndicate. They are hired to keep comfortable and even fashionable bachelor apartments to which they lure young girls. I believe the state should give us a force of detectives to ferret out the agents in this business."

The conference adjourned after appointing a temporary executive committee to enlist support.

Talks to Church People.

New laws for the conviction of the traffickers were asked for by Assistant State's Attorney Roe in a talk to members of the Church of the Disciples, Fifty-seventh street and Lexington avenue. He insisted the prevailing laws were antiquated.

GOES AFTER GERMS.

How Hyomei Does Its Work in Curing Catarrh.

Nature's remedy for catarrhal troubles is the oils and balsams found in Hyomei. It is a specific, not a cure all. It has but one mission, the cure of catarrh.

The natural way of curing a disease is always the scientific way, and the scientific way of curing catarrh is the simple way, with Hyomei.

Catarrh is a germ disease and can be cured only by using Hyomei, the treatment that reaches and destroys all catarrhal germs.

Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, Hyomei's medication reaches the most remote air cells of the nose, throat and lungs, going after the disease germs wherever present, destroying them and preventing their growth, thus making catarrhal troubles impossible.

There is no dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. It is solely an inhalation treatment, prepared specially to kill the catarrhal germs.

Begin its use at once and see how quickly it gives relief and lasting cure.

We positively guarantee Hyomei, for should you buy a complete outfit, price $1.00, and be dissatisfied with results your money will be refunded. Hyomei is sold by druggists everywhere. Write for Literature. Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

SEE STATE GAIN; WIN BACK RIVERS?

Investigators Now Satisfied Economy Company Leases Are Full of Holes.

VICTORY FOR WATERWAY

Attorney Starr Reports Streams Affected by Canal Grants Are Navigable.

Prospects that the state will be able to oust the Economy Light and Power company from the Desplaines river and reclaim that and the Illinois river for the purposes of a deep waterway were brightened yesterday by the results of the legislative investigation of the Illinois and Michigan canal board.

Evidence is being developed to show the private concern is an interloper in the river, that the rights and privileges conferred on it by the canal board are worthless, and that the obstructions which it has placed or is placing in the Desplaines river must be removed.

If the contentions of the state be sustained a farreaching scheme of water power development by private individuals will collapse, the way will be opened for the building of a ship canal with money to be earned by water power developed by the state, the opposition maintained by a clique of politicians will be overthrown, and Illinois can proceed in good faith to ask its voters next year to authorize the issuance of $20,000,000 worth of bonds for the building of the channel.

If the contentions of the state be sustained the Dresden Heights dam, now being built, not only will have to come out, but the entire framework of the Economy Light and Power company, including dam No. 1 in the Desplaines river at Joliet, will be swept away.

Refers to Old Act.

Attorney Merritt Starr, who is acting both for Gov. Deneen and for the legislative committee, had introduced in the record of the investigation, during the afternoon, a reference to the ordinance of 1787 declaring all streams contributory to the Mississippi and St. Lawrence rivers navigable and proclaiming they should forever be held free for the use of the public as highways.

After the session had been closed Mr. Starr explained his reference to this ordinance and thereby indicated what his opinion to Gov. Deneen on the subject of the navigability of the Desplaines river will contain.

"It is my opinion," he said, "that so far as Illinois streams are concerned this ordinance of 1787 is effective and completely binding and that the Desplaines river is navigable. In the case of Illinois, the terms of the ordinance are recognized in the conditions under which the state came into the union.

"The state constitution in 1818 specifically subjected the state to the terms of this ordinance and, in my opinion, there can be no doubt that the Desplaines river is navigable."

Attorney General Stead, in his opinion to the governor, said navigability was a question of fact, and that he could not tell whether the Desplaines was navigable or not and that no opinion was of any consequence.

Will Change Situation.

Should Attorney Starr's opinion be sound the entire situation with regard to the deep waterway will be changed.

Mr. Starr and Attorney William A. Meese have shown to the satisfaction of the legislators and of the canal commissioners themselves that the agreements and leases which the canal board has given the Economy people are full of holes and that the canal commissioners acted ignorantly and in excess of their powers.

They also succeeded before the close of the afternoon session in showing that the water power rights of the state were not the negligible quantities which the canal commissioners declared them to be when they gave away the privileges at Dresden Heights.

With Supt. Leon McDonald on the stand, it was brought out that at the time the canal board gave away the rights which it attempted to surrender at Dresden Heights it was obtaining a revenue of over $26,000 a year from water power rights leased at four points along the canal.

When it was obtaining this revenue it surrendered the state's privileges at Dresden Heights for twenty years, if not in perpetuity, for $2,200.

Leases Power at Four Points.

Mr. Starr asked Mr. McDonald whether any water power rights were being leased by the canal board, and he replied they were at four points.

"Above Joliet," he said, "the right to take water from the canal by a flume has been leased for a number of years for $10,000 a year, and now is being leased to a milling firm at $6,000 a year. In Joliet, at dam No. 1, the Economy Light and Power company is paying a rental of $10,587. At the Channahon level power has been leased at approximately $3,000 a year, and at Ottawa two leases were in operation a couple of years ago, one, which still is effective, for $2,400 a year, and a small one, which has lapsed, for $240 a year."

At the time the state was securing this revenue the canal commissioners decided there were no interests at Dresden Heights which were worth preserving, and transferred all the privileges of the state to the Economy Light and Power company for a lump sum of $2,200, plus $500 for some additional flowage rights.

Turns Back on Leases.

The principal witness was Commissioner William Sackett, who had two sessions with Mr. Meese and Mr. Starr, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. In the morning he practically repudiated the leases to the Economy company, saying he did not know they contained the grants which they were disclosed to contain, and that he signed them at the recommendation of the attorney of the board, Charles L. Walker of Rock Island, who has been summoned to the inquiry, but who has furnished a physician's certificate to the effect he is ill.

Mr. Sackett said he could not approve such grants as had been given and certainly would not approve them now. It was suggested by Mr. Starr that he be given an opportunity to refresh his memory and that he be called for the afternoon session.

When he came back he knew the commissioners had regarded some of the grants as beyond their power to confer.

"Who has refreshed your memory?" asked Mr. Starr.

"Mr. Snively," said Mr. Sackett.

Mr. Sackett recalled there had been considerable consideration given to such privileges as the power to dredge the Illinois river, deflect the water of the Kankakee, and dam the Desplaines.

"It is my recollection that Mr. Griswold and Mr. Monroe were told these grants were beyond our authority," he said, "and that they accepted them at their own risk."

Hint of Disclosures.

Up to date no hint of wrongdoing has crept into the record, but the investigators are on the track of evidence which may or may not be forthcoming. It may bring unpleasant disclosures for some politicians.

OBJECT TO PLAIN CLOTHES MEN.

Girls Arrested as Shoplifters Break Away and Run to Uniformed Policeman.

Mary Babiotney, 20 years old, and her sister Annie, 14 years old, were arrested in a downtown department store yesterday charged with stealing ribbons. When the store detective was taking the girls to the police station they broke away from him and ran out into the middle of the street, directly into the arms of Policeman Edward Flynn. Later they said they did not know that the plain clothes man was a policeman, and, not knowing where they were about to be taken, had escaped and tried to make Flynn understand that they wanted to be taken to the police station because they had stolen ribbons.

PULL VS. THE TRIAL BOARD

Political Influence Seeks to Save Lieut. Michael Crane.

CHARGES ARE LONG HELD UP

Man in Charge of Station, Though Accused of a Drunken Row.

Strong political influence has been brought to bear to sidetrack charges of assault, intoxication, and conduct unbecoming a policeman that were filed with Chief Shippy against Lieut. Michael Crane of the Grand Crossing station. The charges were filed some time ago, but have never been turned over to the civil service commission.

Detectives from the office of Chief Shippy have been unable to find "Paddy" Grimes, the south side saloonkeeper who made the charges against Crane, and it is said that Grimes has been warned that the prosecution of the charges will mean "trouble" from some source or other. Chief Shippy said yesterday that the charges would be presented to the merit board as soon as his men located Grimes and notified him to appear at the trial.

The alleged assault of Lieut. Crane upon Grimes occurred several weeks ago during Chief Shippy's absence from Chicago. According to the story told by Grimes, the policeman walked into his saloon in the evening and a dispute arose after a political argument. Both Crane and Grimes were badly battered up as a result. Assistant Chief Schuettler ordered an investigation and Grimes signed charges against the lieutenant.

An attempt was made at the time to suspend Crane, but it was found that he was on a furlough. Since that time he has returned to duty and is now in command of the Grand Crossing station.

Board Reverses Criminal Court.

A decision by Judge Barnes of the Criminal court was reversed yesterday by the civil service commission when it found Policeman Patrick O'Rourke not guilty of unjustifiable assault upon Henry B. Rebmann, 2078 West Lake street. O'Rourke is now serving a sixty day sentence in the house of correction, where he was sent by Judge Barnes for shooting Rebmann. O'Rourke has been on the police force for seventeen years and unless he receives a pardon before the expiration of his sentence he loses his pension.

Besides the O'Rourke case, the commission disposed of minor cases by imposing small fines against policemen as follows:

Martin Coleman, South Englewood station; five days' pay for intoxication.

John C. Warren, Hyde Park station; fined three days' pay for leaving post without permission.

Peter Mellady, Hyde Park station; five days' pay for failing to register his "pulls."

Police to Have Picked Guard.

The police department is to have a picked guard composed of fifty-four patrolmen, six sergeants, and three lieutenants, all six feet tall and each one of the men having had some military education, either in the regular army or militia. The men will be given regulation military drill, and instructed in the use of rifles every afternoon. Chief Shippy will use the company in time of riots and parade.

SCHOOL TO SELL MINCEMEAT.

Domestic Arts and Science Institution Preparing for an Innovation Next Tuesday.

A good odor of mincemeat was wafted about the School of Domestic Arts and Science, at 39 State street, yesterday afternoon. Everybody was talking about Thanksgiving dinners.

Inside the rooms there were hundreds of quart glass jars being filled with mincemeat. Mrs. James B. Barnet, Mrs. A. W. Hester, Mrs. Belle Waller, Mrs. E. C. Waller, Mrs. Henry B. Mason, and Mrs. Robert Palmer were some of the busy women getting the jars filled.

Next Tuesday is "Sales day," and 1,000 jars, less 450 that have already been sold, will be offered to the public.

"It is the first time that we have undertaken to prepare something to sell," said Mrs. Hester. "The money we make is going to be spent in sending teachers to the settlement houses."

HOW TO STUDY ARCHITECTURE.

Prof. Nobbs of McGill University Says It Should Be for General Culture.

Architecture should be studied for general culture and not so much as a technical education subject in the opinion of Prof. Percy H. Nobbs of McGill university, who spoke last evening at the forty-first annual banquet of the American Institute of Architects at the Art institute.

"As a Canadian I feel that we owe an enormous architectural debt to you American architects," said he. "However, we would appreciate it if you would pay a little more attention to ethnographic conditions than you do in your architecture."

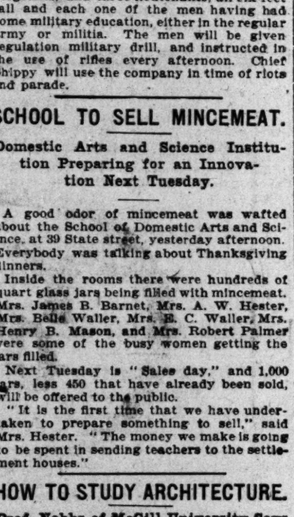
Other speakers were Dwight H. Perkins, president of the Illinois chapter; Judge Charles N. Goodnow, Bishop Anderson, and Frank D. Millet. Frank M. Day of Philadelphia was toastmaster. The banquet closed a four days' convention of the institute.

TEST IT FREE FIRST

Send No Money. Simply Say "I'll Try It".

Not a penny, remember! If you have Catarrh I seek only the opportunity of helping you at my own risk—at my expense alone. Simply tell me where to send it—that is all.

Then I will do this: I will mail you at once, a Trial Box of my Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Test it thoroughly. Condemn it if you can—but that you will hardly do. And here is where we will both profit. I risk the reputation of my remedy by sending it first—and it almost never forsakes me. The Trial Box is the opening wedge—the test leads to gain for both user and maker. Sick people are not heedlessly sick, yet they are sometimes justly skeptical.



Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy is a snow-white, cream-like, Antiseptic healing balm. Oil of Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, Oil Wintergreen, etc. are incorporated into a smooth, velvet-like pure white Imported Petrolatum. This Creation—Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy—gives immediate and lasting relief to Catarrh of the nose and throat.

If catarrh, however, has extended down to the stomach, or bowels, then you may need to use internally, as well, my Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

The Golden Seal ingredient in Dr. Shoop's Restorative, I put there chiefly to help Internal Catarrh, and the Wild Grape Root Extract used is as important too, perhaps. Dyspepsia, Biliousness, loss of strength or ambition, bad breath, a sallow complexion, etc. suggest the need of a prescription such as is Dr. Shoop's Restorative. But uncomplicated, simply catarrh of the nose and throat, needs no other remedy than Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy.

SCHOOLS CRIPPLED; TEACHERS SCARCE

Crisis Resulting from Low Salaries Revealed by Superintendent Cooley.

SAME IN OTHER CITIES.

Resolution Pending for General Increase of Pay on Jan. 1; Requirements Lower.

Chicago, with practically all the other cities of the United States, is confronting a famine in school teachers.

Supt. Cooley presented this condition of affairs to the board of education at its meeting last night. The dearth of schoolma'ams, said the superintendent, has been crippling the work of the Chicago schools for some time and is being felt in other great educational centers, such as Boston, New York, and Philadelphia.

"It is not confined to the cities, however," he added. "It is being felt everywhere, and the condition will continue and grow worse until the community is aroused to the fact that the salaries of school teachers are utterly inadequate. As things are at present there is little inducement for a woman to become a teacher unless she loves the work and has an independent income. For a man there is almost no inducement whatever.

"Here in Chicago there were at one time recently thirty classrooms that had to be dispensed with because we could get no teachers to take charge of them. The condition is a general one and can be remedied in just one way."

Salary Increase Is Proposed.

There is a strong probability that the "one way" will be tried in Chicago within six weeks. A resolution was introduced at a recent meeting of the board providing for an inquiry into the possibility of giving the Chicago teachers a general raise in salary on Jan. 1, 1908. No report on this resolution has been made, but it is understood tacitly that the board has funds which would make possible a substantial increase.

The discussion of the "famine" was precipitated by Trustee Guerin, who objected to a proposed measure authorizing a slight lowering of the passing grade required in examinations for prospective teachers in kindergartens and elementary schools.

"If a boy from the eighth grade couldn't pass some of the examinations that are given to applicants for teaching positions I should consider his training poor," said Dr. Guerin. "Take the examination in arithmetic. You will find that it ranges from five to ten questions—ten is the maximum.

Says Outsiders Are Favored.

"That is what teachers who come in from the outside have to face. Our own teachers—the children of the taxpayers—go through the normal schools, pass examinations, and then have to cadet for a long time, while those who come in from the outside go in on a flimsy examination."

"I should be disposed to question the accuracy of Dr. Guerin's statement about teachers from outside Chicago," put in Trustee Robinson. "This is a question of supply and demand, however, and some measures must be taken, at least, not to make the requirements any more difficult than they are."

"Of course, the supply has been cut down," returned Dr. Guerin. "The number of graduates at the normal school has fallen, in less than ten years, from about 400 to something over 60, the figure two years ago. And teachers coming from outside the city who have not passed even the little examination that has been offered have been appointed."

The measure was carried by a vote of 16 to 1, Dr. Guerin voting a solitary "No."

Changes in School Committees.

Several changes in the personnel of the school committees were made by President Schneider and concurred in by the board. Trustee Morron, who resigned the chairmanship of the school management committee because of pressure of business engagements, was transferred to the committee on buildings and grounds. Trustee Waller, formerly chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, was appointed to Trustee Morron's position, and Trustee Gartz was made chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, to succeed Mr. Waller.

A petition to allow Louie L. Kilbourn, president of the teachers' pension board, to absent herself from her work as a teacher and devote herself to the work of the pension board, without salary from the school board, was granted.

Two Water Inspectors Suspended.

Otto Pflueger and Thomas Brudenell, inspectors in the water department, were suspended by Supt. Alex. Harper yesterday afternoon pending the filing of charges. Mr. Harper declared he had received many complaints against the men of gross negligence and incompetency.

AVOWS MURDER JUST IN TIME

Tragno Confesses Five Minutes Before Release Writ Comes.

ADMITS KILLING SCARDINA.

Says Murder Was Result of Brawl; Police Seek Other Motives.

Five minutes before a deputy sheriff arrived at the Chicago avenue police station with a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Giuseppe Tragno yesterday, the prisoner had confessed that he murdered Mariano Scardina. The young Italian was stabbed while in his father's saloon, 69 Oak street, Monday afternoon.

Had Tragno been able to withstand the fire of questions from Assistant Chief Schuettler a few moments longer the identity of Scardina's slayer would have remained a mystery for some time to come. Tragno with five others, including the father of the murdered man, had been held by Inspector Backus since the killing. To all questions each man denied seeing the murder, and an attorney for the Italians went before Judge Chetlain yesterday to obtain their release.

While the deputy sheriff was on the way to the station with the writ Capt. Barcal asked Assistant Chief Schuettler to examine the men again. After a few questions Tragno broke down and admitted that he had stabbed Scardina, giving as a reason that the younger Italian had cursed him.

Police Think Facts Withheld.

This caused the police to think that much of the story was being withheld by Tragno, and efforts are being made to learn if the murder was not a premeditated affair.

Before the confession of Tragno partly cleared up the murder the police were further mystified by the disappearance of Gentilo Pacifico, 121 Erie street, a friend of Scardina, who arrived in Chicago a few days ago. Pacifico disappeared from his home Monday morning and has not been seen since that time. He was a member of the same society as Scardina and left Buffalo on account of trouble with other members of the society. Capt. Barcal detailed Lieut. Doherty to look for Pacifico and find out if the death of Scardina and the disappearance of his friend could be laid at the door of a band of conspirators.

City to Aid White Hand.

Mayor Busse said during the day that he would be willing to give the White Hand any assistance in his power to wipe out the Black Hand blackmailers of the city. When asked about the threatening letters he has received, Mayor Busse laughed and laid them to cranks.

"As far as I am concerned, I have no fear of any Black Hand," said the mayor, "but something ought to be done to protect the poor Italians who are the prey of these swindlers. I do not know much about the White Hand movement, but I know that Chief Shippy will give the Italian consul and the new society every assistance in his power."

The executive committee of the White Hand will meet on Sunday and elect officers, and find out the exact amount of funds raised to fight the Black Hand. It is said that nearly half of the required $50,000 has been promised already by the leaders of the movement.

JURY STOPS DOUBLE WEDDING.

Disagreement in Murder Case Causes Defendants' Fiancees to Leave Courtroom in Tears.

Two weddings were postponed yesterday when a jury in Judge Chetlain's court disagreed in the case of Joseph and Michael Marciniak, brothers, who were charged with the murder of Thomas Collins. The jury stood seven to five for acquittal.

The two fiancées of the defendants left the courtroom weeping because of their disappointed hopes.

The two girls—Nellie Lennon, 19 years old, 2049 Healy street, who is engaged to Michael, and Ida Wagner, 3043 Haines court, engaged to the other brother—had planned to have a double wedding.

The brothers, who own a saloon at Throop and West Thirty-first streets, are accused of having killed Thomas Collins June 30.

Residents Inform Council Gas Company Is Turning Refuse Into One of City Sewers.

The department of public works in Evanston is investigating a complaint to the council signed by fifty residents stating the Northwestern Gaslight and Coke company is turning offensive by-products into the Emerson street sewer. The petitioners assert an east wind carries this offensive odor across one of the best residence districts. Mayor Paden reported the department of public works had found the company was using the sewer for the carrying away of refuse.

CITY WILL GAIN $150,000 INCOME.

Edison Company to Be Required to Pay Under Commonwealth Ordinance.

MERGER IS HELD LEGAL.

Special Committee Acts on Opinion by Assistant Corporation Counsel Miller.

Chicago expects to increase its income next year by about $150,000 from the Chicago Edison company. The money is to come as the result of an opinion given to the gas, oil, and electric light committee yesterday by Assistant Corporation Counsel George Miller, on which the committee took immediate action.

The opinion, among other things, held that the recent consolidation of the Edison and Commonwealth companies was legal. This will force the Commonwealth-Edison company to operate under the Commonwealth ordinance. This takes in the entire city, while the old Edison ordinance covered only a part, although the best part. Besides, it is a long term grant, running for fifty years, while the Edison grant expires within five years. It carries a provision that 3 per cent of the gross receipts shall go to the city.

Ordinance to Be Prepared.

On receipt of the opinion the committee at once ordered the corporation counsel to prepare an ordinance acknowledging the validity of the consolidation and demanding that the new company, on its passage, pay 3 per cent of the entire gross receipts of the two former companies to the city. This will make a total of something over $225,000 a year from the consolidated company. But last year the Commonwealth company paid a little more than $75,000, so that the gain will come from the added $150,000 from the Edison company's business.

The Edison company's franchise covers the territory bounded by the lake, Thirty-ninth street, Western and Fullerton avenues. Its gross receipts last year were $4,744,823, but the city got nothing of it.

The Commonwealth covers not only this territory but all of the rest of the city, but before the consolidation was operating only in the outside districts. Its gross receipts were $2,507,772. Of this the city got 3 per cent.

Has Power to Cut Rates.

In addition to holding the consolidation valid, the Miller opinion holds that the electric company can cut rates in parts of the city to meet real competition, while not making the same cut in others; that the test of a reasonable rate is not whether there is a fair profit on each individual account, but on the business as a whole; that the city has the right to regulate the rates so as to make them reasonable, and that the Commonwealth company is entitled to mortgage its franchise for the sale of bonds.

Heed the Advice of the Family Doctor—All Ye Rheumatics!

We have cheering news for those who are victims of rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble and who have found little or no relief from any of the advertised remedies. Rheumatic sufferers are such martyrs to agonizing pains that they are willing to try anything and everything that promises to yield them any relief at all. It cannot be said that they are always, or even often, successful, but we have just had verified in several instances one of the simplest and most effective remedies that have ever been given to a suffering public. We are glad to recommend this prescription to our readers because we have investigated it thoroughly and believe it to be the best treatment for rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble.

Go to your druggist and buy the following, not mixed, but separately: Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, one-half ounce; Concentrated Barkola Compound, one ounce (comes separately in 1 oz. bottles); and four ounces of Aromatic Elixir. Take these home and mix them yourself, then take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. In a day or two you will find the rheumatic pains leaving you, but in order to make a permanent cure doubly certain, it is best to continue taking the remedy for several days after all pain and swelling have disappeared.

STILL MORE ABOUT ADVERTISING.

The so-called "Expert Ad-Smiths" don't like our ads. That was a foregone conclusion! But these ads. DO draw business, and that's the main purpose of merchandise advertising—to sell goods. Therefore, be our ads. good, bad or indifferent, so long as they increase our sales and add to the confidence of our customers in our honesty and integrity, "we don't care three hurrahs in hades for the whole ding blasted shooting match."

Others who do not like our ads. are our so-called "competitors;" but as far as they are concerned, we do not care sixty, sixteen or six hurrahs, etc. All we are interested in is to reform their methods, make of them real "cutters" instead of as at present sham ones, and instill honesty into their Prescription Departments, if such a thing is possible — which we begin to despair of accomplishing—and in this manner protect the public from fraud and substituting swindles.

We are not philanthropists, but neither are we advertising solely to increase our sales and profits. These are already as large as any reasonable and non-hoggish ambition should desire, and we are perfectly willing to give the other fellows a chance, PROVIDED, their competition is legitimate, and above all things, HONEST.

"Honesty is the best policy, because in time you will get caught at it" is a quotation from one of our original ads. of fifteen years ago. It holds good today, only more so! We were never "caught" in anything dishonest, because a non-existent thing cannot be discovered; and we are well aware that numerous efforts have been made to catch us in a dishonest act, even to "putting up a job" to attain that greatly desired end. We claim no credit for punctilious honesty. It is simply what ought to be.

CANNOT EXCLUDE JEWS FROM HOTEL

Justice Decides Landlord Has No Right to Question Tenant on His Creed.

GIVE HELEN GOULD A CUP.

Five Thousand Sailors Show Their Appreciation of Her Gift to Y. M. C. A.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Nov. 20.

The right of a hotel to exclude Jews was passed on today in a decision handed down by Justice Lynn in the Municipal court case of Watson against Abbott. A peculiar feature of the case is that none of the persons directly interested in its outcome is a Jew, that all of the lawyers who argued the matter were Christians, with the exception of one, who was arrayed against the Jews, and that the judge who decided it un-American to exclude a man from a hotel because of his race or creed was a Roman Catholic.

Hotel Has No Right to Exclude Jews.

It appeared that George H. Abbott, a lawyer of this city, had rented an apartment at the Hotel Renaissance, but had changed his plans and wished to be released. William Watson, manager of the hotel, agreed that this might be done if Mr. Abbott would find a tenant of undoubted responsibility. In answer to advertisements on the part of Abbott, Walter J. Salomon agreed to take the lease off Abbott's hands. Before this could be done, however, Mr. Abbott was told the arrangement could not be made because the owner of the hotel, D. H. King Jr., would not take Jews as tenants. It was shown at the trial that Abbott could find no other tenant, the apartment remained unoccupied, and suit against Abbott for rental followed.

In the course of his decision Justice Lynn said that the landlord had no more right to question a tenant's creed than the size of his foot or the cut of his clothing.

By a divided court the appellate division, third department, today upheld the right of the legislature to delegate to a commission its power to fix a tariff of rates for a public service corporation. The constitutionality of the new public service commissions act was involved in this case.

Give Helen Gould Silver Loving Cup.

First, because she is a friend of the sailor, but also because she gave nearly half a million dollars towards the Warsmen's Y. M. C. A. home in Brooklyn, 5,000 enlisted men of the navy presented Miss Helen Gould with a silver loving cup today. The new Y. M. C. A. building and furnishings cost $500,000, and the funds were furnished equally by Miss Gould and Mrs. Russell Sage.

The presentation was made in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. building near the navy yard, and though only 800 men could be spared from the routine work for the occasion, those present included representatives of all the war vessels in the harbor.

Rear Admiral Joseph B. Coghlan, retired, spoke on behalf of the navy, and Rear Admiral C. S. Sperry made an address for the fleet. Miss Gould gave expression of her appreciation in a characteristic little speech.

Autoists Fall in Love with the Horse.

Hackneys made their farewell bows at the horse show today, and tomorrow breeding interests will be catered to by the American public. To judge by the motor cars outside and the toggery within the garden this afternoon the automobilists have fallen in love with the horse with the tie that binds. Casual visitors had as recruits earnest milliners and dressmakers seeking inspirations.

Through the victory of Meanwood Majesty for the hackney challenge cup Fred Pabst of Milwaukee won a $250 trophy and brought his tally of blue ribbons up to eight. Mrs. C. M. Watson of Baltimore, in winning the horse show gold cup with Lord Baltimore and My Maryland II. to mail phaeton from amateur whips, made a record for the versatility of American women as drivers.

There were sighs from the old guard when A. G. Vanderbilt's second string in the four-in-hand class "got the gate." The boys included Sweet Marie, Gibson Boy, Pretty Polly, and The Major, a patchwork that contained the last traces of the $30,000 four unbeaten for three years at New York and summer shows.

At the opening of the evening session the leader for blue ribbons in harness and saddle horses was W. H. Moore, who had seven.

Chicagoan Attached in Jewelry Suit.

An attachment for $14,000 against Frank J. Mackey of Chicago was issued by Judge O'Gorman in the Supreme court today in connection with the suit instituted against Mackey by A. H. Smith & Co., jewelers, in which a pearl necklace valued at $44,000 is involved. The attachment was issued upon application of counsel for the jewelers. Trial of the necklace suit was begun in the Supreme court last week, but was abruptly ended and declared a mistrial when it developed that the case could not be finished within the time prescribed by law. From testimony brought out at that time it appears that Smith & Co. sold to Mackey a pearl necklace which they valued at $44,000 for $30,000, with the understanding that he could return the necklace at the end of the year if he did not wish to keep it and get his money back. He tried to return it in Europe, but they refused to take it, as they contended that the necklace was to be delivered at the New York office.

Congressmen Back from Panama.

Eighteen members of the committee on appropriations of the national house of representatives, who have been on a tour of inspection of the Panama canal zone, returned home today on the steamer Colon. Chairman Tawney said the committee found everything on the canal progressing in a most satisfactory way. He believed, however, that as a result of the inspection the appropriation for the coming year will be at least $1,000,000 less than the $32,000,000 asked for by the estimate.

HAS BEEN HOUNDED, SHE SAYS

Mrs. Hartje Declares She Is Victim of a Cunning Forgery.

SAYS DIARY WAS STOLEN.

Believes That the Robbery Was at the Instigation of Hartje.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—That Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje is the victim of a cunningly contrived forgery was the gist of the answer filed today in the Superior court to the supplemental petition recently filed on behalf of her husband. Hartje asked to have the case opened in order that certain after discovered evidence, in the shape of an alleged letter written by Thomas Madine, coachman, to his mother in Ireland and the reply from his mother might be included in the mass of evidence in the famous divorce suit. Mrs. Hartje says her husband frequently has used her monogram paper for letters.

Admits She Addressed Envelope.

Mrs. Hartje says in her answer that the handwriting on the envelope addressed to Madine's mother undoubtedly is hers. She remembers that on one occasion Madine requested her to direct a letter to his mother, saying that it contained a money order.

This was in the summer of 1904. Investigation of the postal records of Pittsburg discloses that Madine did obtain a money order payable to his mother on July 12, 1904, for $9 and some odd cents.

Mrs. Hartje denies emphatically that the envelope she addressed to Mrs. Madine contained a letter from her, or that she ever wrote Mrs. Madine a letter. She says it was quite an ordinary thing for her to address envelopes for different servants in her employ. She declares that the alleged letter is a forgery, and further adds that when she left Hartje a considerable quantity of writing paper containing her monogram fell into his hands, and this paper was used in the writing of several forged letters.

Says Madine Got $10,000.

She says she has no knowledge of Madine's letter to his mother, and if he did write it it was written as a subterfuge, resulting from corrupt arrangement and purpose, and she is informed that Madine received $10,000 for several of his alleged letters.

She reiterates that she has been hounded and humiliated by her husband on every possible occasion since their separation, and she avers that the purpose of the present proceedings is to obtain further delay and to subject her to further humiliation.

She says the latest outrage to which she was subjected was the breaking into her home last Sunday by some person or persons at the instigation of her husband, and the robbery from her trunk of her diary, which was important to her divorce litigation, and two letters. Nothing else was touched, she says, notwithstanding there were many valuable articles about.

SEEKS BEAUTY; LOSES RINGS

Mrs. Emily Mohler Sorry She Put Face Cream on Her Hands.

FAMILY ASSETS ARE LOST.

Momentary Vanity Costly to Wife Who Supports Handless Man.

Vanity, poverty, and loyalty—a pardonable fault, a condition and a virtue—formed a combination that brought increased burdens to the already saddened Mrs. Emily Mohler, who, for the last five years, has supported a helpless husband and his destitute, aged parents.

This human interest story is revealed in an advertisement in yesterday's issue of THE TRIBUNE, reading as follows:

LOST — THREE DIAMOND RINGS IN KING Joy's restaurant at 6 p. m. Tuesday by a woman whose husband has no hands. Liberal reward. MRS. MOHLER, 96 East 18th, Flat B.

Samuel H. Mohler, the husband, was an engineer until he was incapacitated. One of the rings now missing—a solitaire—he gave to her when they became engaged twenty years ago. The others—one a solitaire, the other set with a center opal and two diamonds on the side—she received from her father several years before.

Hands Lost in Machinery.

To accommodate a friend five years ago Mohler undertook to fill temporarily a place in the ice making department of the Grasser & Brand Brewing company, Toledo, and lost his hands through putting them in the wrong side of the machinery. The court decided it was a case of contributory negligence, and the family's little hoard was lost in court costs.

Conditions gradually grew worse. Everything portable was turned into money—everything except those three rings, which were safeguarded for the proverbial rainy day.

All was well until Monday night, when Mrs. Sarah Burns of Oklahoma called at the Mohler flat. It was the first meeting in more than twenty years, and when the two started out shopping together Mrs. Mohler thought a bit of special adornment would be the proper thing, and she placed the rings on her fingers.

Now Comes the Face Cream.

The tramping through this and that store naturally fatigued them, and with that tired, nervous feeling came the realization that both were no longer young—that a bit of face cream might give each a touch of that youth and beauty that was once theirs. The cream was purchased and the reclining room in the Chinese restaurant was decided on as the place of application. The results were pleasant, and then came the suggestion from Mrs. Mohler: "Let us try it on our hands."

Accordingly Mrs. Mohler stripped the rings from her fingers, laid them on her lap, rubbed in the grease, then arose and departed with her friend and did not think of the jewelry until two hours later.

If the rings are recovered Mrs. Mohler expects to "raise" the reward by pawning one of the rings.

ATTEMPTED BRIBE TOLD BY GOMPERS

Claims Manufacturers' Association Sent Brandenburg with Offer.

TO RUIN FEDERATION?

Magazine Writer Named Denies Charge, Saying He Saw Gompers on Other Matter.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 20.—President Gompers created a sensation in the American Federation of Labor this afternoon when he told of an alleged attempt to bribe him at the Victoria hotel, New York, in October by a young newspaper man, giving his name as Charles Brandenburg.

Brandenburg, said Gompers, declared that he represented the National Manufacturers' association, and was prepared to offer him immunity from all exposure and to make him financially secure for the remainder of his life if he would sign a certain paper and otherwise aid in the "exposure of the other leaders in the American Federation of Labor with the view to destroying the influence of organized labor." The paper, said Gompers, was to purport to have been signed when he was ill in 1895. This paper, Gompers said, he had preserved.

While silence prevailed in the convention Gompers drew forth the original document and read it.

During his recital of the alleged attempt at bribery he called upon several delegates present, who were with him during interviews with Brandenburg, to verify his statements. This the delegates, rising in their seats, did.

At the close of Gompers' speech there was a big demonstration, even Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee, the socialistic opponent of Gompers, declaring that he will be the one this year to move to make his election unanimous.

Brandenburg Denies Charge.

New York, Nov. 20.—Broughton Brandenburg, president of the National Institute of Immigration and a magazine writer, said tonight that he was the man referred to by President Gompers. In a statement Brandenburg emphatically denied that he had attempted to bribe Gompers. He also declared that he had no connection with the National Manufacturers' association and that his dealings with Gompers were solely in the interests of a publication which he represented.

NEW STATE HAS NO SENATORS.

Said That National Senate Will Refuse to Receive Men Appointed by the Governor of Oklahoma.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—When congress meets a week from next Monday there will be one state which will be entirely without representation in the senate. That state will be Oklahoma, just admitted to the sisterhood. The new commonwealth will be without representation in the senate for a month or more, in fact, until her first legislature assembles and formally elects two senators.

The first official act of Gov. Charles N. Haskell after assuming office was to appoint Thomas P. Gore, the blind orator, and Robert L. Owens as United States senators to hold office until a legislature should be elected.

If these two men present their credentials on opening day they will not be accepted. This is the opinion of senators who have expressed themselves on the case, as they hold that under the federal constitution the governor has no power to appoint senators. It is said this is the first instance where a governor of a state newly admitted has sought to appoint senators before the meeting of the legislature.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

LONDON—A commercial treaty under which British objects of art will be admitted to the United States at a reduction of 25 per cent from the present duty was signed. In return American traveling salesmen will have their samples admitted free to British ports. In the future the duty on British works of art entering American ports will be 15 per cent ad valorem.

CALCUTTA—Traffic on the East Indian railway, 2,165 miles long and the second largest line in India, is rapidly becoming paralysed by a strike. Six thousand passengers are stranded at Asansol, Bengal, the junction of the East Indian and Bengal-Nagpur railroad, where the strikers are threatening violence. The strikers complain of overwork and poor pay.

Spanish Government Gets Cheap Figure from Island Kingdom.

[BY WIRELESS TO THE TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from Geneva says that the Swiss minister to Japan, Dr. H. Ritter, has sent a long report to his government concerning the commercial affairs in Japan, in which he says Europeans and Americans are being ousted by the Japanese from the far east, especially from Japan.

Dr. Ritter, in undertaking to give an illustration of the manner in which Japan operates in this respect, says the Japanese government sent a man named Oga to Switzerland and America to learn how the condensed milk trade is conducted in those countries.

The man worked as an ordinary employé in the various branches of the business in both countries, and when he had mastered the details of manufacture and distribution he returned to Tokio. Then, backed by wealthy men, he founded a large condensed milk factory near Tokio, cut prices sharply, and practically drove out of the country all foreign goods that competed with his.

Okuma Hits U. S. Prejudice.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TOKIO, Nov. 20.—Count Okuma, leader of the democrats in their opposition to the government, admitted today that the mikado should for the present restrict emigration of Japanese to America.

He asserted that ignorance and racial prejudice played such a prominent part in American politics that President Roosevelt was "compelled to favor exclusion" of orientals.

At the same time Okuma declared it unjust to shut the doors of America to Japanese and leave it open for all "the undesirables" of Europe.

The statement reiterates the terms of the previous encyclical against modernism and says the penalty of excommunication shall be visited upon those who contradict or oppose either the syllabus or the encyclical.

THE BANK STATEMENT.

The great majority of the depositors in the Chicago savings banks were not in the least flustered when those institutions announced that they should insist on notice of withdrawal except in special cases. There were some timid depositors who sent in their notices, but many of these were soon reassured and canceled their notices. The publication of the reports showing the condition of the state banks, among which the savings banks are included, ought to be followed by more cancellations.

The cash resources of the banks are greater and their liabilities less than three months ago. Depositors had confidence in them then, and with good reason. They cannot avoid having greater confidence now when they look at the statement of their condition.

WOMEN AT THE PRIMARIES.

The Supreme court held that one of the fatal defects of the primary elections law of 1906 was that it illegally shut out certain voters from participation in the primaries. One would hardly think it possible for the legislature, with the opinion of the Supreme court before it, to make another blunder of the same kind, and yet that is what it is said to have done.

The franchise has been conferred on Illinois women to the extent of allowing them to vote for trustees of the state university and for certain school officials outside Chicago. If men and women stand on the same footing at the polls as far as these offices are concerned, why should not they stand on the same footing at the primaries at which candidates are to be selected to fill those offices? It is alleged that the bill in the hands of the conference committee does not recognize women as voters at the primaries. They can have no place there if nominations are made by delegates. They would have a small place under a system of direct nominations.

It is not likely that many women would go to the primaries if their presence were warmly asked for. But if a woman claiming to be a member of some political party were denied the right to assist in selecting at the primaries the candidates she wished to support at the polls undoubtedly the matter would be taken into the courts, and she would gain her cause.

At elections where women can vote separate boxes are provided for their ballots. It would not be a difficult matter to provide separate boxes for them at the primaries. The labors of the judges and clerks would not be materially increased and the women would be unable to say that they had been disfranchised.

PAROLE WITH LESS PARADE.

The suggestion from a representative of the judiciary that possibly the parole system introduced in one of the local courts should be attended with a little more privacy is not altogether one to be ignored. It has been suggested also that the operation of parole with so much notoriety and exploitation is likely to bring not only the system but the offender into public derision and counteract the good influences that might be otherwise brought about by the exercise of leniency.

It may be that there are some persons brought to the bar of judgment who are not possessed of delicate sensibilities, and who are not especially affected when, as the result of a misstep, they are advertised as offenders or publicly put in the position of children to be scolded and ostentatiously placed under probation. But it is hardly proper to assume so much with all misdemeanants or to take the ground that clemency, coupled with an act that causes ridicule, is a sure and meritorious way of bringing about reformation. Undoubtedly the man who is paroled under the jurisdiction of a worthy and well balanced woman will derive much benefit from feminine guidance; yet even this may be nullified if the sentence is imposed in such manner as to call public attention to the penalty and to subject him to the derision of his associates, with humorous allusions to petticoat government.

As it has appeared to one judge, speaking on the value of the parole, so it may impress the sober element of the public not looking merely at the humorous aspect of a system that in itself has potential possibilities. The offender who has been allowed to go unpunished on his assurance of a willingness to reform may be made to feel that he is closely watched and that any departure from good behavior will be promptly reported; this is the real significance of parole. To expose him to ridicule by imposing obligations publicly that excite the laughter of the community may awaken a feeling of shame and resentment hostile to every good impulse. A system of parole with a little less noise and devoid of mirth provoking features might be found much more effective.

REMOVE THE COMMISSIONER.

Clarence E. Snively, one of the Illinois and Michigan canal commissioners, has given a partial account of his stewardship. It is a most unsatisfactory account. Mr. Snively has made it plain that the interests of the canal and of the state which owns it cannot safely be intrusted to him. He is too unbusinesslike and careless.

It may strike the public as strange that a man so unfit for the place should have been in office for more than ten years. It is manifest that successive governors have taken little interest in the Illinois and Michigan canal, or some one of them would have discovered Mr. Snively's lack of business qualifications and separated him from his job. The explanation is that when the canal ceased to be an instrumentality of commerce it became an instrumentality of politics. It has been utilized to supply places for a certain number of active individuals who could be depended on to look after politics in the canal counties. The wonder is that the canal has any assets left after so many years of political misrule.

The statutes require the canal commissioners to be "discreet and skillful" persons. Mr. Snively does not measure up to that standard. Now that the inquiries of the house committee have officially apprised the governor of that fact he ought to remove Mr. Snively and put in his place some man who has discretion and a good memory—who can remember what he does in connection with the canal and the reasons for his action.

A NEW LAW NEEDED.

That the board of education, acting under orders of the board of health, is performing an illegal action in excluding unvaccinated children from school is unquestionable under the decisions of the Supreme court of Illinois. Whether such action can be justified on the ground of emergency would be a question for a jury in the case of a suit for damages. This is an unsatisfactory state of things. There should be a simple and unvarying law on the subject of vaccination, and the legislature should pass one.

The substance of the Supreme court decision in the leading case of Potts vs. Breen (167 Ill.), which has been followed in another later decision of the court, is that there is no warrant in law for requiring vaccination of a child before admission to school. The legislature cannot delegate to any other body the right to legislate on this point, and therefore the regulation of any local board of health requiring vaccination is void. It is justified when there is an epidemic or reasonable ground for apprehending an epidemic, but such an ordinance as 1255 of the revised code of 1905 which provides for vaccination without regard to epidemics is ultra vires, according to this decision of the Supreme court.

The good done by vaccination is proved conclusively by medical annals. Smallpox, which used to be one of the most common and fatal of diseases, has been nearly annihilated by vaccination, and there is no doubt that if it were possible to vaccinate once everybody in the world vaccination would not be needed again, because the disease would be ended once for all. It is true that lack of care in vaccination, neglect of necessary precautions by old fashioned physicians who have not learned the modern doctrine of asepsis and antisepsis, may lead to painful results, but that is no more a reason for objection to vaccination than the occasional burning of a house is a reason for forbidding the use of fire. But even a thing good in itself should not be done contrary to law. The Supreme court has held that under existing laws compulsory vaccination is illegal unless there is an emergency. The board of health holds that there is an emergency when there is a single case of smallpox in the city, but this sensible ruling inevitably leads to squabbles between parents who care more for their assumed rights than for their children's welfare and city officials.

Since there is no denial of the power of the legislature to pass a law requiring compulsory vaccination the legislature should do this. The law would be of uniform application. At present the board of health or the common council in one city may require vaccination and in another city may not, yet if it is good in one place it is good in another. The tendency to overlook constitutional limitations on the ground of necessity should not be encouraged. If a thing is right let it be made legal.

ATHLETIC AMERICA.

The registration committee of the Amateur Athletic union of the United States reported to the annual convention of that body that during the year just closed 2,441,518 persons in America took part in athletics in one form or another. Even this large number was said to be exclusive of swimmers, wrestlers, boxers, basketball players, baseball players, and gymnasts. As the report further showed that only 15,550 athletes were registered for competition in the A. A. U. meets, there may be ground for suspicion of the correctness of the total of more than two millions.

At the same time it is to be remembered that the contestants in the big meets have won their right to compete by a process of elimination in preliminary trials. There are many candidates for place, and these are given "tryouts" with the aim of getting the best ones to strive for the banners, medals, cups, and ribbons which are awarded as the prizes. The age of participation varies widely from the youth in the grammar school to the man in middle life who keeps up his interest in athletics from genuine love of sport. Even when these conditions are borne in mind the statement of totals is astonishing.

Counting out half the population because of sex and making allowance for the boys below the grammar school grade, a showing of nearly two and a half millions is remarkable. When those engaged in the excepted branches of sport mentioned in the report are added and the thousands of men who are athletes for the money thus to be earned, the already large total is swelled to a much greater figure. If we include the membership of athletic clubs all over the country and that larger body of citizens once interested as boys in grammar school and high school or as students in college, but now retired from actual contests, the total will be even greater. Even then it will not include many thousands who enjoy athletic sports without having had close personal association as participants on track or field.

The eleven bodies which contribute to the Amateur Athletic union report property devoted to athletics valued at $24,000,000. These figures also are open to suspicion because the $12,000,000 reported by the Central association includes $6,000,000 representing the entire park system of playgrounds in Chicago. With every allowance, however, and adding the valuations of property used for professional contests, the amount of money invested in facilities for athletic sports is a large one.

The Americans are an athletic people. They do not continue their participation in contests into middle life, as is done in England, but there are thousands who carry into active business the principles of health which are taught them in gymnasiums and on the athletic field. It is not difficult to mention many evils attendant upon undue interest in the subject. The opponents of the athletes have plenty of arguments which have weight. The meeting of the Athletic union, however, has given its friends their chance to show statistics. That these are so surprisingly large as to excite much comment no one will deny. If the interest in athletics is producing a better race of Americans and a healthier citizenship, as many sincerely believe, then there is additional ground for enthusiasm over the remarkable showing that has been made.

FEDERAL CORPORATIONS.

Senator McCumber has drafted a bill to provide for the incorporation, control, and government of associations organized to carry on business entering into or becoming a part of interstate commerce. Such associations would enjoy no special privileges, but would be required to conform to all regulations adopted by the secretary of commerce and labor for the conduct of their business, their books and records would be open for inspection, and they would not be able to issue additional stock without the authorization of the secretary.

This is a permissive, not a compulsory, measure. Hence it does not meet the requirements of those who wish to have all corporations manufacturing articles that enter into interstate commerce brought under the control of the national government by requiring them to take out federal licenses. The theory is that with the corporations thus subjected to close national supervision the extirpation of trusts would be a comparatively easy matter.

Congress is not prepared to enact far-reaching legislation of this character. It has manifested no inclination to discuss the subject. It may not be prepared to consider Senator McCumber's proposal, although it is not calculated to arouse serious opposition.

The chief argument advanced in support of it is that the public would have so much confidence in corporations which were subject to government supervision that self-interest would gradually induce one after another to submit to federal control. This might be true of many corporations, but even the most sanguine cannot believe that the Standard Oil company and other industrial organizations which love privacy and detest publicity would surrender their state charters for national charters.

There does not appear to be any serious objection to Senator McCumber's project, but when congress assembles next month it will find more important subjects awaiting action. There will be the currency question, for instance.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Copyright: 1907: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

AMONG the passengers on board the Mauretania, which is due in New York tomorrow, is the widowed princess and duchess de Poix, who has a strong strain of American blood in her veins, and is coming over here to see her American relatives and to look after her property in the United States.

Her mother, who was a Miss Mary Ray of the old New York family of that name, which played a conspicuous rôle in the early annals of the Empire City, was one of the first American women to marry a titled Frenchman, in the person of the vicomte de Courval, grandson of Gen. Moreau, and related to the ducal house of Marmier and Choiseul.

Her daughter Madeleine married in 1889 the only son of the duc and duchess de Mouchy. The duke is the head of the younger branch of the old crusader and ducal family of De Noailles, and the duchess de Mouchy was that Princess Anna Murat who, born at Bordentown, N. J., of an American mother, Miss Caroline Fraser of Philadelphia, was the closest friend and most intimate companion of Empress Eugénie.

The latter, indeed, treated her as a younger sister or adopted daughter, and may be said to have brought about her marriage with the duc de Mouchy.

The duchess de Mouchy, who is now a woman of 64, retains but little trace of her former beauty and elegance, and lives a retired life indeed with her husband, broken by the death of her only son, the late prince de Poix, and also by the loss of a greater part of her own fortune and that of her husband.

In fact, they are generally understood to have been saved from total ruin by the financial assistance of the empress, who, since that time, has not seen much of them.

The widowed princess de Poix has three children, a daughter of 10 and two sons, the eldest of whom is nearly 18 years of age, and who bears his father's title of prince duc de Poix, and will, on his grandfather's death, inherit the additional title of duc de Mouchy. These titles are both French and Spanish, the latter carrying with them the grandezza.

The princess and her children spend their summers at the ducal château of Mouchy, in the department of Oise, and the winters at her house in Rue Paul Baudry, which she inherited from her mother, the late vicomtesse de Courval, and in the salons of which many of Mme. de Courval's countrymen and countrywomen received their first introduction to the old French aristocracy.

Another of the passengers on board the Mauretania is the Hon. John Jacob Astley, who is coming to this country, I understand, as a guest of Anthony Drexel. He is the brother and next heir to the peerage and estates of the present Lord Hastings, until ousted from that position in the line of succession by the birth of a son to Lord and Lady Hastings, who were married last spring.

The Hastings peerage is an ancient one, was first created by Simon de Montfort in 1246, and confirmed in 1290 by King Edward I. The family of Lord Hastings may be said to have been founded by Sir Thomas Astley, who fell in the battle of Evesham in the reign of King Henry III., and who by his marriage to Edith Constable, sister and heiress of Sir Robert Constable, obtained possession of Melton Constable, which is today the ancestral home of his descendant, George Astley, twentieth Lord Hastings.

The Astleys received a baronetcy in 1660, and Sir Jacob Astley, the sixth baronet, in 1841 established his claim to the barony of Hastings on the strength of his descent from the younger sister of the fifth Lord Hastings, since whose demise in 1389 the peerage had been in abeyance—that is to say, for nearly 500 years.

The present Lord Hastings and John Jacob Astley are great-grandsons of this Sir Jacob Astley who called the Hastings peerage out of abeyance.

Lord Hastings is rich, enjoys a rent roll of about a quarter of a million dollars, besides owning some extremely valuable collieries. His principal country seat, Melton Constable, which, as I have mentioned above, has been in the possession of his family for 700 years, is full of Elizabethan and Jacobean relics and treasures, and is in the immediate vicinity of Sandringham.

In fact, Lord Hastings and his brothers and sisters are not merely neighbors of the king and queen but form part of their personal circle of friends.

Through their mother, the widowed Lady Hastings, they are grandchildren of Lord and Lady Suffield, who have been members of the household of the king and queen ever since the marriage of the latter in 1863.

Lady Suffield is a sister of Lord Cromer, an aunt of Lord Revelstoke and of his brother, the Hon. Hugo Baring, who, representing the great banking house of his family in America, makes his home in New York with his wife, Lady Evelyn Baring, sister of Lord Shaftesbury.

Lord Hastings is married to Miss Madge Neville, daughter of Lord Henry Neville, who is destined to succeed in course of time to the marquisate and other honors of his father, Lord Abergavenny, as the latter's eldest son has long been under restraint as a mental and physical wreck, and is unmarried.

Prince Arthur of Connaught officiated as best man at the marriage of Lord Hastings, who was not only his regimental comrade but also his closest chum.

Lord Herbert Vane Tempest, another member of the Drexel party on board the Mauretania, is the bachelor brother of the marquis of Londonderry. But neither he nor yet the marquis is descended from the statesman who, first as Lord Castlereagh and then as Lord Londonderry, played so great a rôle in bringing about the union between England and Ireland at the close of the eighteenth century.

That marquis of Londonderry, second to bear the title, died by his own hand, without issue, while still secretary of state for foreign affairs, and was succeeded in his honors by his half-brother, the cavalry general and companion in arms of the duke of Wellington in the peninsular war.

Strictly speaking, the patronymic of the family is Stewart, and the first one to enjoy any note was Alexander Stewart of Mount Stewart, in County Down, member of parliament for Londonderry at the beginning of the eighteenth century. It was his son who was elevated to the peerage as Lord Londonderry and Viscount Castlereagh.

The third marquis of Londonderry—that is to say, the famous peninsular general—married in 1819 the only daughter and heiress of Sir Henry Vane Tempest, who thereupon, with the consent of the crown, was also created Earl Vane of the united kingdom.

The Tempests are one of the oldest houses in England, John Tempest, grandfather of the third marchioness of Londonderry, being able to show a pedigree of full twenty-four descents, the name of the Tempests being interwoven with most of the historic events of the counties of York and Durham.

Prince Wied, whose death has placed in mourning the courts of Bucharest, of The Hague, of Stuttgart, and of Stockholm, and who was the brother of Queen "Carmen Sylva" of Roumania, bore a name and title that were not wholly unknown in America.

For Gen. Prince Maximilian of Wied, granduncle of the prince who has just died, was one of the first scions of European royalty to become sufficiently interested in the United States to visit it otherwise than as a refugee or as a foe.

He crossed the Atlantic in 1831 and spent a couple of years in touring all over the union, and taking part also in an extensive scientific exploration of the transmississippi region, an expedition in which he bore the largest portion of the expense.

He made prolonged stays in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, and especially Boston, and his description of the fourth of July celebration at Boston in 1832 was published not long ago in this country.

Indeed, I understand that a more extensive record of his American tour, translated from a German work, which he wrote after his return to his home at Neu Wied, is included in the series of "Early Western Travels," published some time ago by the Arthur Clark company, Boston.

The late Prince Wied was for many years president of the Prussian house of lords, and was the chief of one of those sovereign houses of Germany whose thrones were swept out of existence along with the holy Roman empire by the first Napoleon just a hundred years ago.

He leaves a widow, who is a princess of the reigning house of the Netherlands, and who comes next in the line of succession to the throne of Holland after the grand duke of Saxe-Weimar and Princess Marie of Reuss and her sons—that is to say, her chances of ever becoming queen of Holland are extremely remote, though not excluded.

GIVE FOR CHICAGO MISSIONS

Presbyterians Subscribe $25,000 at Orchestra Hall Meeting.

THINK LOCAL WORK IS LAX.

Dr. Edgar Hill Presides, Tells How Much Is Spent Elsewhere.

Presbyterians of Chicago forgot all the worries of a close money market last evening when the Rev. Edgar P. Hill asked them for funds for church extension work in this city. When his appeal was finished $25,000 was pledged for this branch of the work. The meeting was advertised as "Presbyterian Forward Movement." It was held in Orchestra hall.

The subscriptions started with a pledge of $10,000, conditional upon $25,000 being raised. There were many promises of $500 each and scores of $100 pledges.

"It is time that we were doing some home missionary work right here in Chicago," said Dr. Hill. "There is no one who is more ready to help other fields than I am. But let me tell you something. Last year in Washington and Alaska the Presbyterians spent $80,000. This was in a population of 600,000 people. In Arizona and New Mexico the Presbyterians spent $90,000 in a population of 300,000.

Spend Too Little in Chicago.

"Do you know what we spent in Chicago? I'll tell you that too. For missionary work in Chicago last year we spent less than $25,000. And this in a city of 1,700,000 people. At the same rate that we spent money in the southwestern states we should have had $500,000 for Chicago alone.

"We have not been doing our work in a business like way in Chicago. On the west side the Presbyterian women have a mission, and they are doing a grand work in that mission, which is working among the Bohemian people. Right around the corner from that mission the Presbyterian men have a mission to reach the same people and are paying rent for another hall and paying for more lights and more janitors. Would any business man tell you that was good business?"

The Rev. Dr. Charles L. Thompson, secretary of the board of home missions for the Presbyterian church, was greeted with applause when he predicted a union of all Presbyterian churches in all sections of the United States.

"One Flag and One Motto."

"I believe in one flag and one motto on this flag," said Dr. Thompson, "'The Presbyterian church of America.'

"I believe that this will come to pass," continued Dr. Thompson. "We are trusting in God that it will. You can leave off the stamp, 'In God we trust,' from our coins but you can't stamp it out of the hearts of our people."

Dr. John Balcom Shaw, chairman of the church extension committee, said that this work had its inception in a meeting held last March.

"There are four objects for which this committee is working," said Dr. Shaw. "We are undertaking to organize work for every nationality in Chicago; we are undertaking to help maintain weaker churches; we want to plant work in every new field; we want to help churches that have outgrown their present buildings to erect larger ones."

The Rev. Ira Landrith, secretary of the Presbytery brotherhood, told the audience that after it had been "Edgar P. Hilled" for an hour and for $25,000 it was no time for him to speak.

The committee having this work in charge is endeavoring to raise $100,000. The campaign for more funds will be taken up in every Presbyterian church in Chicago.

BOY DIES OF FOOTBALL HURT; YOUTH SHATTERS HIS SPINE.

George H. Harrison, Son of Chicago Teaming Contractor, Succumbs to Injuries Sustained on Nov. 10.

FOOTBALL ACCIDENTS OF SEASON.
Killed..........11 | Injured..........39

George H. Harrison, 16 years old, 1002 Homan avenue, son of Joseph P. Harrison, a teaming contractor, died at his home yesterday of injuries received in a "scrub" football game in a vacant lot at Ogden and Washtenaw avenues the afternoon of Nov. 10.

The boy was knocked down in a scrimmage for the ball and sustained internal injuries. He suffered an internal hemorrhage yesterday morning, and died a short time later.

The boy's death was reported to the police and coroner. An inquest will be held this morning.

Spinal Column Fractured in Game.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 20.—While engaged in a friendly scramble at football with two of his friends at his home in Wallingford, near here, Sunday afternoon, Frederick E. Platt retains his mental power, but experiences no sensation below the neck.

OUT OF ASYLUM; MUSTN'T DRINK

Joseph R. Reynolds Released on Wife's Petition on Condition That He Shun Intoxicants.

Joseph R. Reynolds, a civil engineer, was released from the Northern hospital for the insane at Elgin on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Gibbons yesterday. The petition was filed by Mrs. Mary E. Reynolds, his wife, who declared that her husband was held against his will by Dr. W. H. Podstata, superintendent of the asylum. Dr. Podstata formerly was in charge of the institution at Dunning.

Reynolds' mental trouble is said to have been caused by excessive indulgence in liquor.

"It will be necessary for him to remain at the hospital for a yaer to be cured," said Dr. Podstata. "He has been there since July, and he is not fully recovered. To release him at this time is dangerous."

Reynolds' appearance was that of a person fully capable mentally.

"I will release him on condition that he abstain from liquor for three months," Judge Gibbons said. "If he touches a drop in that time he will be returned to the institution."

STAND PAT ON PRIMARY BILL.

Conferees Have Reached an Agreement to Incorporate No New Features in Oglesby Measure.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—No action will be taken by the senate and the house primary bill conference on the proposal for an advisory vote on president and vice president. Announcement to this effect was made today by members of the joint conference committee.

"An agreement has been reached and no new subjects will be incorporated in the bill," said one of the conferees. "It has been agreed to eliminate from the Oglesby bill the provisions for the election of delegates and alternates to the national conventions and of presidential electors. In all other particulars the Oglesby bill will stand in substance, if not in form."

FOOD EXPERTS ATTEND SHOW.

E. F. Ladd, Commissioner of North Dakota, to Deliver the Closing Address.

Food specialists from all parts of the country are manifesting their interest in the pure food show in progress at the Coliseum by their attendance, and their offers to aid in the educational movement behind the exhibition. Yesterday a letter was received from E. F. Ladd, food commissioner of North Dakota stating that he would visit the show on Saturday, and arrangements were made to have him deliver the closing address of the series on pure foods.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Chris Anderson Recital.

A song recital which has place among the most enjoyable offered in Chicago thus far this season was given last evening in Music hall by Chris Anderson. This statement carries with it no small meed of praise, for some of the ablest vocalists and recitalists of the music world have been heard here since the season opened. But even with full appreciation of what it implies, the statement is made. It does not mean that the young baritone is the equal of Mme. Sembrich, Mme. Schumann-Heink, or Mme. Gadski in artistic stature or vocal gifts, but it does mean that he is the possessor of talents and endowments which have been brought to a point of unexpected efficiency, and that they are of a character which should carry him to an enviable place among the concert singers of this country.

A few years ago, when Mr. Anderson first was heard here in concert, he was mentioned as having a voice of distinct natural beauty but so schooled that it was not only inefficient but seemed headed straight for that populous land where damaged voices abound. Last evening showed that in some way warning must have been conveyed to the young singer. He unmistakably looked facts in the face, discovered the truth concerning himself, and set to work to find the path of voice safety and purity. He evidently found it, for he now sings in uncommonly satisfactory fashion.

The richness and sweetness, as well as the power and finer modulations of the voice, now are at his command and are revealed with ease and facility. It is a voice of true excellence—one which already has place among those unusually beautiful and serviceable. It is of good range and ample volume, and lying high is particularly suited to the interpreting of lieder and songs.

Last evening Mr. Anderson offered a program which contained no less than twenty-three numbers, and to these, in the shape of repetitions and additional selections, which his audience insisted upon having, he added eleven more—an achievement in itself which speaks highly of his interpretative capabilities and of the manner in which he employs his voice. For only one who interprets well could keep an audience attentive and enthused while thirty-four songs were sung, and only one who uses his vocal powers sanely and properly could perform such a task and at the close still be as fresh in voice as was the recitalist last evening.

The program was finely representative of the best that exists in classic, songs and lieder and in modern German, French, English, and American compositions. Four languages were employed in the course of the evening and in each of them the clarity of enunciation, the smoothness and ease of pronunciation, and the subtle but precious catching of the spirit of the language itself made their use a source of genuine pleasure and enjoyment.

Of the singer's interpretative powers much could be said in commendation. While he with increase of experience doubtless will come to make his effects with greater surety and more finesse than he did last evening, just as an actor deepens his portrayal of a rôle as he "works into it," yet there was nothing of crudity and little of inadequacy in what was offered. Many a routined recitalist has failed to do as even and generally satisfactory interpretative work as Mr. Anderson did last evening. He has warmth and sentiment, he clearly feels what he sings, he is not hampered by a fear to give emotion expression, and he clearly has the musical taste and fine feeling which cause him to do the thing that is artistically good and correct.

That he achieved some of his most pronounced successes last evening in such songs as the "Serenade" of Brahms, the Reger "Waldeinsamkeit," the Schumann "Der Soldat," Von Fielitz's "Nachtgebet," and the Strauss "Schlagende Herzen," speaks in no slight praise of his capabilities both as interpreter and vocalist. Of his French group the "Minuet d'Exaudet" was exquisitely done, and the "Barcarolle" of Fauré had place among the best achievements of the evening.

A long group of songs in English contained much that delighted the hearers, and there was quite a Gadski-La Forge scene when the singer gave "Snow Flowers," a neat, interesting song by Mr. Schneider, who was at the piano and who furnished accompaniments of an excellence surpassing even his usual.

This afternoon at the Garrick theater the Donald Robertson players will present for the first time on any stage "The Law," a play by Mrs. Solomon Sturges of Chicago. With the repetition tomorrow afternoon the season of the Robertson company at the Garrick will end.

Tonight's music includes the first concert of the Mendelssohn club season, Orchestra hall being the place, Emilio de Gogorza the soloist, and Harrison M. Wild the director; a song recital in Music hall by Holmes Cowper, the tenor; and the first performance by the Italian Grand Opera company at the International of "The Barber of Seville."

SAYS LAWYERS PREY ON BOYS; FEED THEM CIGARETS IN JAIL.

Deputy Sheriff Peters Promises Investigation of Attorneys' Practices at the County Jail.

"The vultures of the county jail are the lawyers who visit the boys and young men," said Deputy Sheriff Charles W. Peters yesterday in an address before the reform department of the Chicago Woman's club. "They charge the boys outrageous prices, promising them that they will prepare their cases for trial, and then never come back—but these are not the worst of their sins. I am convinced that it is the lawyers who smuggle in cocaine and cigarets for the prisoners."

Mr. Peters said he would start at once a thorough investigation of the practices of these lawyers.

The morning session of the department was devoted almost entirely to a discussion of conditions at the county jail and the John Worthy school. Mr. Bowers, a teacher at the jail school, told the women of a system of "renovation and reformation," which has been inaugurated within the last week.

"The entire jail," he said, "is being renovated. For the first time in history the boys have sheets to sleep in. The boys are being compelled to bathe daily. Instruction in social hygiene is being given. Every bed in the boys' department has been supplied with a new mattress."

In the afternoon Senator Hopkins addressed the club in Music hall on "The Growth of the National Idea."

RESENTS CENSURE BY A JUDGE.

Attorney Lewis E. Dickinson Denies He Was Soliciting Patronage from Inmates of Detention Hospital.

Attorney Lewis E. Dickinson, who was censured by Judge Smiley last week at the court for the insane for what the court termed "Soliciting patronage from inmates of the detention hospital," says that an injustice was done him.

He asserts that the patients solicited his aid.

"Instead of doing anything improper as an attorney," Mr. Dickinson said, "I insist that I was merely performing one of the highest duties that can devolve upon an attorney—namely: helping the weak and unfortunate."

REBECCA'S WELL AT A BAZAAR.

Feature of Entertainment Given by St. Edmund's Parish in Armory Hall, Oak Park.

"Rebecca's well," which has caused much interest in connection with the St. Edmund's Catholic church bazaar, held at Armory hall, Kenilworth avenue and South boulevard, Oak Park, was disclosed last night at the opening of the bazaar. Edward F. Dunne unveiled the well and showed a decorated representation of the biblical well. Miss Gertrude Dungan represented Rebecca.

DRY MEETING; THIRSTY TOWN

Prohibitionists Pick Columbus, O., to Give Object Lesson.

WOULD BE LOST IN CHICAGO.

Several Wrangles Enliven Sessions at Auditorium Hotel.

After a session marked by occasional sharp personalities, the prohibition national committee voted yesterday at the Auditorium hotel meeting to hold the next national convention of the party at Columbus, O.

The date for the convention was not fixed, but it was the consensus of the fifty-two delegates that the mistake of nominating the prohibition presidential candidate before the republican and democratic parties have nominated their candidates must not be made in 1908.

With this understanding the meeting decided to leave to the national executive committee the task of deciding later the convention date.

The vote for Columbus was 27 against 23 for Kansas City. On the first ballot Kansas City led with 18. The third ballot stood 23 for Columbus, 5 for Atlanta, Ga., and 23 for Kansas City. On the fourth and final ballot Atlanta's five votes went to Columbus, giving the victory to the Ohio capital.

Columbus Needs Object Lesson.

The plea that won for Columbus was that "the town which recently elected a mayor to take off the lid" was most in need of an "object lesson."

Chicago made a bid for the convention through Delegate Brubaker.

"Chicago is too mean for anything," said Delegate MacLane of Columbus. "Our convention delegates would go astray here. Why, at noon today I walked miles trying to find downtown business houses. Any city that is so measly mean as to refuse to put up street signs should not have our convention."

Delegate Charles E. Newlin of Indianapolis sounded a warning against sending the convention to the south.

"It might give strength to any movement for the swallowing of the prohibition party by one of the old parties, as the democratic party swallowed the populists," he said.

"Poor old whisky soaked Missouri needs the uplift of the convention," said Delegate E. E. McClellan of Sedalia. "Do give it to us, please do."

Clash Over a Proxy.

It was while the credentials of proxy holders were being passed on that one of the most exciting clashes of the day occurred. The discovery had been made by Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago that the proxy to be voted by W. E. Johnson of Oklahoma bore no authorization from the delegate whom Mr. Johnson was to represent.

"Beyond question, such a proxy is irregular, and to seat Mr. Johnson would mean the inauguration of a dangerous precedent," said Mr. Stewart. "It would mean a letting down of the bars to almost every sort of manipulation in the rigging up of proxies. I am opposed to such methods, and they should have no place or recognition in this convention of a great and progressive party."

Treasurer Felix McWhirter, who had advocated the seating of Johnson, shouted:

"We are now confronted with temper the same as three or four years ago."

Stewart Shakes His Fist.

Shaking his fist in the direction of McWhirter, who sat at the officers' table, Stewart demanded from his place on the floor:

"Does the gentleman speak for his own temper?"

"Not at all. It is well known whom I mean, and you are one who knows best of all."

"I repudiate his attempts to speak for me or my temper," retorted Stewart, advancing with rapid strides toward McWhirter.

The "scene" was ended at this stage by Chairman Charles Jones, who rapped for order and continued rapping until Stewart and McWhirter had resumed their seats.

Editor Refused Hearing.

Another verbal clash took place when W. P. F. Ferguson, editor of the National Prohibitionist, asked for a hearing on the publication policies of the party. The chairman refused Ferguson a hearing on the ground that "publication policies" were not before the meeting.

"Is it possible that a hearing is to be refused on so flimsy a pretext to a man who is doing so much to advance the prohibition cause as is Mr. Ferguson?" exclaimed Mr. Stewart. "I take an appeal from the muzzling decision of the chair."

A roll call sustained the chair and the editor remained muzzled on the question of his policies.

Wrangle Over Electing Officers.

A long wrangle over the question of electing a chairman and set of officers for the committee developed late in the afternoon.

"In the interest of harmony and to obviate possible acrimonious debates, I move that this meeting pass a resolution continuing the present officers in their positions until the national convention is held at Columbus next summer," said Samuel Dickie, president of Albion college, Mich., and a former national chairman.

"It is the duty of this meeting to elect officers, and failure to do so would be an act akin to cowardice," said Editor Ferguson. "Before dispersing we must elect officers or we will go in convention without any. If the meeting has time to pass President Dickie's resolution it also will have time to collect and count the fifty ballots in a regular election."

At the night session an election was held and the following officers were chosen:

Chairman—Charles R. Jones, Chicago.

Vice chairman—A. G. Wolfenbarger, Lincoln, Neb.

Treasurer—Felix T. McWhirter, Indianapolis.

Secretary—W. G. Calderwood, Minneapolis.

Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago and Secretary W. G. Calderwood were nominated for chairman in opposition to Jones. The vote stood: Jones, 29; Calderwood, 14; Stewart, 1.

FARWELL REPLIES TO MAIWURM

Head of Law and Order League Says He Is Working Without Compensation for Sunday Closing.

Arthur Burrage Farwell replied yesterday to charges made by Henry F. Maiwurm in connection with the Sunday closing contest. He said:

"I have been three and one-half years in the Chicago Law and Order league work, and I have not received 1 cent of remuneration in any way whatever. I know that I have sacrificed opportunities to make money in business, but if I can stand it why should saloon men bother about my so-called failure to amass wealth.

"As a guard against ballot box stuffing at political elections I have risked my life innumerable times. What saloonkeeper can truly say that he has staked his life for honest political elections? For thirty-nine years I have toiled late and early in the interest of good government and the protection of the home. Is it any reproach that I have not grown rich?

"Next to the families of the workingmen, I believe the chief beneficiaries of closed saloons on Sunday will be the saloonkeepers themselves and their barkeepers."

Mr. Farwell received during the day a letter from P. B. Flanagan, informing him that the Knights of Father Matthew adopted at a recent meeting in St. Mary's parish hall a resolution "indorsing the efforts now being made by that splendid organization, the Law and Order league, to close the saloons on Sunday."

CITY JOINS STATE IN MILK BATTL[E]

Alleged Trust Now Facin[g] Municipal Probe in Addi[tion] to Healy Inquiry.

INSIST ON FULL MEASUR[E]

Officials Prepare Attack on I[n]junction Restraining Enforcement of Act.

Investigation of the alleged milk trust w[ill] be taken up today by City Sealer Kjelland[er] in addition to the probe soon to be started [by] State's Attorney Healy. Mr. Kjellander d[ur]ing the morning will assign a number of [in]spectors to gather evidence of dealers sell[ing] milk and cream in short measure bottles.

Mr. Kjellander said yesterday that t[he] work should have been done long ago, [but] the injunction obtained by the Milk Deale[rs'] association restraining the city from enfo[rc]ing the new "milk measure" ordinance [has] tied the hands of the city's weights [and] measures department.

The ordinance was passed by the c[ity] council three months ago. It provides t[hat] every bottle of milk sold shall have blo[wn] into the glass or bear an indelible and perm[a]nent indication of its capacity. The pena[lty] imposed by the ordinance on dealers found [to] be selling short measure milk or violating [the] section covering the marking of bottles [is] not less than $5 nor more than $100 for e[ach] offense.

Through efforts of the corporation couns[el's] office the injunction twice has been dissol[ved,] but each time the milk dealers have [ap]pealed the case and succeeded in having [the] restraining order continued. The case n[ow] is pending in the Appellate court. Ass't [Corporation Counsel E. C. Wetton, who [has] charge of the case, said he expected a [de]cision soon.

Prepares to Make Attack.

"I shall begin at once to gather evide[nce] of short measure bottles among the d[eal]ers," said Mr. Kjellander. "I know th[ere] are lots of dealers who are selling short m[eas]ure milk. In fact, they don't measure [the] milk at all. In previous cases we have fo[und] the shortage to run as high as one-fou[rth] and one-half gill on the quart.

"Their whole argument against this o[rdi]nance is that it is not possible to blow say [...] 000 bottles of a uniform size. Let them or[der] a little larger size bottle, and if they [are] afraid of giving their customers too much [let] them measure the quantities as they are [re]quired by law to do."

Assistant Corporation Counsel Wetten s[aid] when the short measure evidence is in [he] will take the matter before the Appel[late] court and ask that the injunction be [dis]solved on the ground the restraining o[rder] is perpetuating a fraudulent practice.

"First, the dealers object to marking [the] quantity on the bottles and then they g[o to] work and raise the price of milk to 8 c[ents] a quart and cream to 8 cents a one-[half] pint," said Mr. Wetten. "The consu[mer] seems to have nothing to do in this arran[ge]ment at all. We expect to win this c[ase] and a decision is due in a few days."

State's Attorney Healy is particularly [in]terested in learning about the working[s of] the "farmers' combine," known as the C[hi]cago Milk Shippers' union. This organ[iza]tion meets semi-annually and fixes the wh[ole]sale price of milk for the next six month[s.]

Indicates Increased Profits.

The fact that Borden milk stock in the [last] few days jumped from 115 to 120 on the C[hi]cago stock exchange was taken as an [in]dication of the increased profits of the Bor[den] Condensed Milk company through [the] boosted milk prices. It was this com[pany] that posted the first notices of an advanc[e.]

J. H. Marsh, superintendent of the c[om]pany and president of the Illinois Milk D[eal]ers' association, said his time was too [...] unable to discuss the reason why his con[cern] advanced the price.

W. B. Wanzer, secretary of the Illi[nois] association, denied his organization wa[s a] combination for the purpose of fixing [...] prices. He said the association has a by[law] which expressly prohibits establishing pr[ices] within the organization.

CITY JOINS STATE IN MILK BATTLE.

Officials Prepare Attack on Injunction Restraining Enforcement of Act.

Investigation of the alleged milk trust will be taken up today by City Sealer Kjellander in addition to the probe soon to be started by State's Attorney Healy. Mr. Kjellander during the morning will assign a number of inspectors to gather evidence of dealers selling milk and cream in short measure bottles.

Mr. Kjellander said yesterday that this work should have been done long ago, but the injunction obtained by the Milk Dealers' association restraining the city from enforcing the new "milk measure" ordinance has tied the hands of the city's weights and measures department.

The ordinance was passed by the city council three months ago. It provides that every bottle of milk sold shall have blown into the glass or bear an indelible and permanent indication of its capacity. The penalty imposed by the ordinance on dealers found to be selling short measure milk or violating the section covering the marking of bottles is not less than $5 nor more than $100 for each offense.

Through efforts of the corporation counsel's office the injunction twice has been dissolved, but each time the milk dealers have appealed the case and succeeded in having the restraining order continued. The case now is pending in the Appellate court. Assistant Corporation Counsel E. C. Wetton, who has charge of the case, said he expected a decision soon.

Prepares to Make Attack.

"I shall begin at once to gather evidence of short measure bottles among the dealers," said Mr. Kjellander. "I know there are lots of dealers who are selling short measure milk. In fact, they don't measure the milk at all. In previous cases we have found the shortage to run as high as one-fourth and one-half gill on the quart.

"Their whole argument against this ordinance is that it is not possible to blow say 10,000 bottles of a uniform size. Let them order a little larger size bottle, and if they are afraid of giving their customers too much, let them measure the quantities as they are required by law to do."

Assistant Corporation Counsel Wetten said when the short measure evidence is in he will take the matter before the Appellate court and ask that the injunction be dissolved on the ground the restraining order is perpetuating a fraudulent practice.

"First, the dealers object to marking the quantity on the bottles and then they go to work and raise the price of milk to 8 cents a quart and cream to 8 cents a one-half pint," said Mr. Wetten. "The consumer seems to have nothing to do in this arrangement at all. We expect to win this case and a decision is due in a few days."

State's Attorney Healy is particularly interested in learning about the workings of the "farmers' combine," known as the Chicago Milk Shippers' union. This organization meets semi-annually and fixes the wholesale price of milk for the next six months.

Indicates Increased Profits.

The fact that Borden milk stock in the last few days jumped from 115 to 120 on the Chicago stock exchange was taken as an indication of the increased profits of the Borden Condensed Milk company through the boosted milk prices. It was this concern that posted the first notices of an advance.

J. H. Marsh, superintendent of the company and president of the Illinois Milk Dealers' association, said his time was too valuable to discuss the reason why his concern advanced the price.

W. B. Wanzer, secretary of the Illinois association, denied his organization was a combination for the purpose of fixing milk prices. He said the association has a bylaw which expressly prohibits establishing prices within the organization.

LABOR WAR AT NAVAL STATION.

Workmen Threaten Strike at Lake Bluff Because Nonunion Men Are Said to Be Employed.

A strike of workmen of the Associated Building Trades' union may be called on the Lake Bluff naval training station. Complaint that nonunion laborers were being employed there was received last week by the Chicago union and a committee of business agents probably will go to Lake Bluff today to demand that only union men be employed.

At the Building Trades' union headquarters it was announced during the day that strikes called at St. Stanislaus' church and at the new Chicago City railway car barns at Cottage Grove avenue and Thirty-ninth street had been declared off, as the demand that nonunion workmen be discharged had been complied with.

Letters denouncing the record of Speaker Cannon and declaring against his reëlection as speaker of the national house have been sent out to all Chicago congressmen from the Chicago Federation of Labor headquarters.

IF SHOT BY FOE, INSURANCE OFF

Question as to Who Killed Attorney James A. Fullenwider Considered in Court on Widow's Suit.

Was Attorney James A. Fullenwider killed four years ago by a robber or was he shot by an enemy who had a grudge against him? On the answer to this question depends the amount of life insurance on one policy that his widow, Mrs. Emma Fullenwider, 472 Forty-second street, will receive. Hearing of a suit for the insurance was begun in Judge Pinckney's court yesterday.

Mr. Fullenwider was insured in the Ætna Life Insurance company for $7,000, but there was one clause in the policy which provided that if the insured should meet death by intentional shooting only 10 per cent of the face of the policy would be paid by the company unless the shooting was done by a robber.

The shooting occurred in Forty-first street, near Wabash avenue.

JUDGE TELEPHONES HIS WRIT.

Landis Suddenly Stops the Removal of Goods by Bailiff in a Novel Way.

An unusual method of serving a restraining order was used by United States District Judge Landis yesterday, when he stopped the moving of goods by telephoning a bailiff. Mrs. Florence F. Dille, manager of the café in the Brewster apartments, 1886 Diversey boulevard, had been involved in bankruptcy proceedings, but John R. Sexton & Co. attached furnishings to secure a claim they had. A bailiff having the writ began the moving of goods from the building, when the judge telephoned him to let them alone.

POLICE CHIEF PICTURE CENSOR.

New Ordinance Giving Him Authority to Pass on All Exhibits Takes Effect.

The ordinance passed by the city council Nov. 4 prohibiting the exposure of improper pictures went into effect yesterday, and Chief of Police Shippy ordered policemen to pay especial attention to it.

The ordinance provides that no picture arcade may be operated without a permit from the chief; that all films and pictures must be inspected. An applicant may appeal from the chief of police to the mayor, whose decision shall be final.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

Although the wedding of Miss Elsa Parker, daughter of Mrs. Augustus E. Parker, and Watson Armour, son of Mrs. Kirk Armour of Kansas City, was a quiet home affair, the social interest yesterday centered around its celebration. The Rev. Z. Barney Phillips, rector of Trinity church, performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard I. Stearns, 313 Michigan avenue. The guests included only the relatives and most intimate friends.

The bride had but one attendant, her sister, Mrs. Charles Warren Gillett (Miss Elizabeth Parker). Mrs. Gillett's gown was of pink chiffon velvet, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink bovardia and lilies of the valley. Miss Parker, who is the most youthful bride of the season, wore a becoming gown of white chiffon over satin, and a full tulle veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids.

Mr. Armour's brother, Laurence Armour of Kansas City, was the best man, and the ushers included the bride's brother-in-law, Charles Warren Gillett of Chicago, and Dr. Logan Clendenning, Campbell Christopher, and Comingo Griffiths, all of Kansas City.

The decorations of the rooms were in pink, roses being used in the drawing room and chrysanthemums throughout the other rooms of the home. Mrs. Parker, the bride's mother, wore a gown of white satin, and white satin trimmed with white filet lace fashioned the costume of Mr. Armour, the mother of the groom. Mrs. Armour and her young daughter, Miss Mary Armour, are stopping at the Auditorium Annex, and will remain in the city for some little time.

The bride and groom have left for a wedding trip, the destination of which they have kept a secret. Their future home will be in Kansas City.

At the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Stewart Patterson, 881 Superior street, yesterday afternoon to decide on the list of young women who will serve as program venders at the pageant vivant, Dec. 11 and 12, the following maids and young matrons were chosen:

Mrs. Francis Taylor,	Miss Agnes Street,
Mrs. Joseph Winterbotham Jr.,	Miss Margaret Ayer,
Mrs. Uri Grannis,	Miss Margaret Augur,
Mrs. John H. Winterbotham,	Miss Margaret Hunt,
Mrs. Albert Keep II.,	Miss Lucy Blair,
Mrs. Ralph Poole,	Miss Anna L. McBirney,
Mrs. Howard Elting,	Miss Alice Hosmer,
Mrs. Nelson Barnes,	Miss Eunice Follansbee,
Mrs. Ernest Walker,	Miss Helen Poole,
Mrs. Chauncey Borland,	Miss Elinor Conover,
Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson,	Miss Harriet Houghteling,
Miss Louise Burke,	Miss Mercedes Stewart,
Miss Pauline Kohlsaat,	Miss Pansy Key,
	Miss Ruth Perry.

The next meeting—the date to be decided later—will be held at the home of Mrs. Kellog Fairbank, who, with Mrs. Patterson, has this portion of the entertainment in charge. Mrs. Fairbank, who has returned but recently from Lake Geneva, where she spent the summer, will leave today for Boston. She is going to attend the Saturday game and will return on Monday.

The date of the Harvard concert will be Dec. 26 instead of Christmas eve, as previously announced.

One of the entertainments of the season for charity in which a large number of north shore women are interested is announced for the evening of Wednesday, Dec. 4, at the Ravinia Park theater. The beneficiary will be the Grove House for Convalescents at Evanston. The directors of the home have engaged the services of the Thomas orchestra quartet, consisting of Leopold Kramer, Ludwig Becker, F. Esser, and G. Brueckner; Ernesto Consolo, the pianist; and Miss Julia Heinrich, contralto. A number of dinner parties will be given at the Ravinia Park casino before the concert.

Society folk are much interested in the initial presentation of Mrs. Solomon Sturges' play, "The Law," which is to be given at the Garrick this afternoon by Donald Robertson and his company of players. Several parties have been formed and the boxes have been sold for companies to be given the north side friends of Mrs. Sturges. The play was given a dress rehearsal Tuesday night, and the success of this performance has caused Mr. Robertson to add the production to his regular répertoire.

Miss Caroline Hazard, president of Wellesley, was the guest of honor of the Wellesley Club of Chicago at a reception given at the Woman's Athletic club yesterday afternoon. Miss Alice McLennan, president of the Chicago club, received with the guest of honor, and was assisted by Mrs. George E. Vincent, Mrs. Norman F. Thompson, Miss Sophronisba Breckinridge, and Miss Frances Hughes. Following the reception Miss Hazard gave an informal address in which she outlined the new plans in consideration for endowments and enlargements of Wellesley and brought reminiscences of school days and news of the present-day faculty and students to the Chicago graduates.

A luncheon was given at the Woman's Athletic club yesterday by Mrs. John F. L. Curtis of Highland Park in honor of her guest, Mrs. Park M. Woolley of New York. The guests were Mrs. Harry Lobdell, Mrs. Allan Clement, Mrs. George Marcy, Mrs. Frank Pardridge, Mrs. Eugene Bournique, Mrs. George Swigert, and Mrs. David Hansen. This afternoon at the club Miss Editha W. Hardy of Evanston will give a débutante luncheon for eighteen guests in honor of Miss Barbara Deering, Miss Marion Deering, and Miss Marion Forgan.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Miss Daisy Colton, daughter of Francis G. Colton, formerly of Illinois and Nebraska, was married today at St. John's church to Lieut. Commander Archibald H. Davis, U. S. N.

The service was read by the Rev. Thaddeus Snively, formerly of Chicago, and the Rev. Summerfield Snively of Philadelphia, uncles of the bride, who were assisted by the rector, the Rev. Roland Cotton Smith.

MILKMAID WIELDING MILK PAIL SAVES HER COW FROM SEIZURE

Court Officers Routed by Combined Attack of Girl, Brindle, and Brindle's Owner.

A demure little milkmaid wielding a milk pail led an attack yesterday that saved a brindle cow from seizure by a deputy bailiff and a custodian of the Superior court.

The cow's name is Mollie, and when Deputy Bailiff Leibrandt and Custodian Fox tried to levy on her as the only available possession of Gottlieb Orth, 7470 May street, the young woman attacked them with the milk pail.

While the officers were attempting to elude the pail, Orth appeared on the scene, cut the rope by which Bailiff Leibrandt held the cow, and attacked the two men with a stick. The cow also caught the spirit of the occasion and joined in the assault.

The officers fled.

MUNICIPAL COURT EMPLOYE ADMITS EMBEZZLING $269.

John R. Stanton, Clerk at Englewood, Charged with Misappropriating Money and Falsifying the Records.

Another of the subordinates of Homer K. Galpin, chief clerk of the Municipal courts, has gone wrong. John R. Stanton, clerk of the branch at Englewood, presided over by Judge Edwin Walker, was accused before the grand jury yesterday of embezzling $269 of the court's money and of falsifying the court records. Stanton, according to Chief Justice Olson, admitted the charges and said he had spent the money in gambling. He is in the county jail.

WIVES ASK FOR 'OPEN PURSE'

Score Husbands Who Force Families to Request Funds.

TEACHES VALUE OF MONEY.

West End Mothers Indorse "Regular Allowance" Proposition.

That a man should be so short sighted as to compel his wife and children to ask him for money is an unpardonable sin, according to the unanimous opinion of the West End Mother's council members, who met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Robert Weeks, 21 Stanley terrace, to discuss "The Financially Organized Family."

The discussion was led by Mrs. F. W. Heath, president of the council, and others participating were: Mrs. M. J. Pendergast, Mrs. Robert Weeks, Mrs. M. H. Fash, and Mrs. F. H. Gansbergen. No amounts were mentioned, nor was any hard and fixed rule for a division of the family purse presented for consideration.

An incident was related where a woman sufffered indignity for twenty years because of the husband's neglect to provide her with an allowance. The wife, who had spent her money for the household soon after marriage, had much trouble in summoning courage to ask her husband for money. He gave it willingly, but the woman did not want to be compelled to ask and after twenty years they reached a mutual understanding.

Debaters Praise Own Husbands.

Husbands were not denounced. Each of the speakers had the best and most considerate partner in the world, but there were others who received a scoring because they compelled their wives to do something they did not wish to do.

The overindulgent husband and father did not excite admiration, for a daughter—as did actually happen in one cited case—might marry a poor man, and she would not know how to manage her household. In the case in point the husband understood, and with infinite patience educated the wife, and she—sweet thing—was an apt learner.

"What women want is an allowance," said one speaker, "and then she knows just what she can do. It makes no difference whether it is fifty cents or fifty dollars; it gives her the knowledge of the limitations of the family treasury, and she manages accordingly." Then followed a number of ways in which the family finances might be organized, all of which were to the point—from the woman's view—but none were formally indorsed, as the debaters were satisfied with their individual arrangements.

Give Children Allowance

It was advocated children should be given an allowance at an early age, the argument being that it taught the child the value of money. They should also be educated to keep an account of all expenditures, according to several of the speakers, and when they reached the earning age should be made to contribute a certain amount to the family exchequer. It was stated some of the successful business men of Chicago had been educated in this manner.

MONROE STREET IS AMBITIOUS.

Property Owners on One More Thoroughfare Fall Into Line in Movement for Improvement.

Monroe street property owners took a hand in the improvement game yesterday afternoon, and the first steps were taken to an organization which is expected to bring about big changes in the thoroughfare. Property owners both east and west of the river were present at the preliminary meeting, at which Frank O. Butler presided. Nathan Friend acted as secretary, and a committee on permanent organization was appointed. A general meeting, when organization will be effected, will be held in a few days.

THE VALUE OF PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE

Personal knowledge is the winning factor in the culminating contests of this competitive age and when of ample character it places its fortunate possessor in the front ranks of

The Well Informed of the World.

A vast fund of personal knowledge is really essential to the achievement of the highest excellence in any field of human effort.

A Knowledge of Forms, Knowledge of Functions and Knowledge of Products are all of the utmost value and in questions of life and health when a true and wholesome remedy is desired it should be remembered that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., is an ethical product which has met with the approval of the most eminent physicians and gives universal satisfaction, because it is a remedy of Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of—Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

The Code of Victor Jallot

An Absorbing Romance of Old New Orleans That's the Most Talked About Book of the Year.

Deserves to be! Not a dull moment in its pages! Edward Childs Carpenter wrote it! (You'll remember his captivating "Captain Courtesy.") The character of Victor Jallot stands out with the microscopic minuteness and wonderful coloring of a Meissonier! The hero is a Figaro, Sydney Carton, Moliere and Beau Brummel rolled into one! Old New Orleans, in the days of the sudden changes from Spanish to French flags, is the environment for this spiritedly-written romance, in which dramatic incidents and thrilling episodes follow each other in rapid succession.

McFarland-Herman Fight Tonight. Sickness Among Horses at New Orleans.

M'FARLAND MEETS HERMAN TONIGHT

"PACKEY" THE FAVORITE.

"Kid's" Backers Await Ringside Quotations; Iowa Governor Becomes Active.

BY GEORGE SILER.

"Kid" Herman and "Packey" McFarland, who are to fight fifteen rounds at Davenport tonight, left for that town yesterday. Both are in excellent condition and confident of winning. The contest is the most important McFarland has been asked to take part in, and, as Herman has a reputation to protect, the milling should be fast and furious. According to the articles the boys are to weigh 133 pounds, but neither experienced difficulty training to that weight. In fact, they were at weight several days ago and therefore should enter the ring at their best.

Because of "Packey's" advantage in height and reach and because of his long list of victories, the sports have installed him favorite. Two weeks ago there was plenty of Herman money in sight and much of it was placed at evens. Those who intended to string their bets behind the "Kid" and held out for a shade, probably will unbelt at the ringside, as "Packey" is a strong favorite in Davenport, and better odds, therefore, can be secured. From an unbiased viewpoint the betting should be even money and take your pick, despite McFarland's enviable record.

On paper McFarland appears the legitimate favorite, as Herman has not taken part in a battle since the first of the year. At that time he appeared a formidable aspirant for the lightweight championship, and, with Joe Gans out of the road, he now might have been the holder of that title. While the "Kid" was mingling with the topnotchers, "Packey" was considered a preliminary scrapper, was not in Herman's class, and talk of a match between them would have been looked upon as a joke. Herman's long layoff, close students of the game say, counts against him, and probably it does, but those who saw him in training say he is much faster than when he was in the topnotch swim.

Previous to this match he was trained by Adam Ryan, one of the cleverest boxers in the business, but slow and methodical in his movements. That had a tendency of making Herman also slow. For this contest he had a pair of fast sparring partners in Johnny Coulon and Gus Wendt, with the result he is faster now than ever before. That, and his long ring experience, not speaking of his strength and hitting powers, should offset McFarland's height, reach and known aggressiveness. In the matter of gameness and capacity for punishment there is little to choose between them, therefore Herman's only handicap is his long layoff.

A special train will leave the La Salle station at 2 o'clock this afternoon and will bring the local sports back to town shortly after the fight. According to arrangements the boys will begin hostilities about 9:15.

Jack Johnson, the colored heavyweight, turned down a match with Jim Barry, and as the Philadelphia fight promoters declare they will not handle his match with Jack O'Brien, the probabilities are the big black will be compelled to remain idle as far as actual ring contests are concerned until the return from England of Tommy Burns.

Jack Dougherty and "Young" McGoorty are slated to box eight rounds at Oshkosh tonight. Other bouts carded are: "Kid" Baker and "Kid" Clark, and "Red" Allen and "Buddy" King, four rounds each.

Tommy Mowatt is out after the lightweights, and says he wants to bet a good slice of $1,000 on himself. His preference is the winner of the Herman-McFarland fight. Jack O'Keefe also is after the winner of the same battle. Jack is in receipt of a letter from Spokane, Wash., asking him to fight Johnny Thompson.

McFarland Favorite at Davenport.

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Strangers are arriving in the city on every train for the Kid Herman-Packey McFarland fifteen round fight Thursday night at the new Davenport coliseum, with a seating capacity of 6,000. A record breaking crowd is assured which will tax the capacity of the hall. The fighters are on hand and in fine shape. Locally "Packey" is a strong favorite. There is McFarland money at every sporting center, but no Herman money is in sight. Odds of 10 to 8 are offered on McFarland tonight. They probably will reach 10 to 7 when the men enter the ring. Local fans are so enthusiastic over Packey they are betting even money, and in a few cases giving odds that he will score a knockout. There will be a ten round semi-windup between "Biz" Mackey of Cleveland and "Young" Wolgast of Milwaukee, and a six round preliminary between "Kid" McGovern of Chicago and Pete Giese of Davenport.

MUST OBEY LAW OR NO FIGHT.

Gov. Cummins Orders Sheriff to See There Is No Violation and Holds Him Responsible.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Gov. Cummins is making efforts to prevent the fight between "Packey" McFarland and "Kid" Herman at Davenport tomorrow night. Several days ago he informed the sheriff of Scott county that he expected him to see the law obeyed.

It is said the sheriff laughed at the order, but today the governor received a letter from the sheriff saying that he had no knowledge that the laws are in danger of being violated. The Iowa law is that there can be no boxing exhibition where a purse is given and admission charged. The Davenport promoters say no admission is charged.

The governor wired the sheriff today he will hold him responsible for any violation of laws.

O'Brien Has a Close Call.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Rouse O'Brien showed that he has been overworked by nearly succumbing to the onslaughts of Dave Deshler at the boxing meeting of the Cooper Social and Athletic club tonight. About a month ago they met and O'Brien was almost unanimously chosen as winner by the spectators, but tonight their decision was that Deshler was easily entitled to a win, but it was declared a draw.

New York, Nov. 20.—The fight between Tommy Murphy and Bert Keyes, which was to have been pulled off here tonight, was not permitted by the police.

Mayor Becker to See Fight.

Mayor Becker of Milwaukee will be a spectator of the McFarland-Herman fight tonight at Davenport. With Dr. Krohn and others he will go on a special train for the scene, which leaves Chicago at 1 o'clock.

TONIGHT'S WRESTLING SHOWS.

Rival Promoters Are to Bring Off Events at Both Tattersall's and the Coliseum.

Frank Gotch, who is practically matched to wrestle George Hackenschmidt for the championship of the world, will be one of the attractions at Brooke's casino tonight, where Charles Olson and Ed Millet will engage in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling bout. Frank will not take the mat, but will announce to the spectators that he is prepared to wrestle the "Russian Lion" under the management of Messrs. Message and Curley, who have guaranteed $10,000 for the match. Should this be agreeable to Hack, the local promoters will stake the event at the Coliseum.

Batling Hill and Jack Roberts and Dick Schultz and Harry Linbag also will take holds. The management has arranged to receive the returns of the Herman-McFarland fight and have secured Tommy Mowatt and Pete Boyle to illustrate the blows delivered in the fight.

John Rooney and Leo Pardello will wrestle the windup in the wrestling entertainment to be held at Tattersall's tonight. Matchmaker Joe Coffey announces that Chief War Eagle, the big "Injun," will tackle two men, Emil Klank and Carl Jensen, also that he has a third man on tap for the red man. Rooney and Pardello are old rivals and should put up a stirring bout. Charles Demetral, the "Greek Demon," and Tom Winkelhofer, heavyweights, and Paul Geidel and "Young" Billeter, welters, also will take holds. The management announces that Frank Gotch will be on hand to see how the Indian deports himself. The latter is an unknown wrestling quantity in Chicago, but Coffey says he has a thorough knowledge of the game. The fight between Packey and Herman will be received by special wire and announced to the spectators at the end of each round.

Bush Temple Five Wins Game.

The Bush Temple Conservatory basketball team defeated the Lyon & Healy five at the Spalding gymnasium yesterday by a score of 21 to 14.

Armours Square Blues, 25; Maroon Juniors, 21.

WINTER SPORTS—NO. 3.

The Five Thirty-five Card club play a fiercely contested game of 500 last evening on the suburban limited before a capacity crowd. The La Grange pair won, but was closely pressed by the Grossdale players all the way. The latter were 200 points in the hole at Western avenue, but at Berwyn had more than evened matters by daring bids and a grand slam. At Riverside it was nip and tuck, the crowd cheering the gamy pair from Grossdale to the echo, but the coolness and experience of the La Grange couple showed in the final round, and they won by a score of 640 to 620. Grossdale asserts luck favored its opponents in the last hand. It is claimed 56 cents changed hands on the result. Play will be resumed this evening.

PRAISE FOR MINNESOTA COACH.

Gov. Johnson Says Williams' Work with Gophers Is the Most Phenomenal Achievement in History of Game.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—"I think Dr. Williams' work with the Minnesota football team this year is the most phenomenal achievement in the history of football coaching," said Gov. John A. Johnson today.

The governor was aroused over the tendency in some quarters to criticise the Minnesota coach.

"Our boys were apparently beaten in the first half last Saturday, but came back in the second half and played the finest game of football seen on Northrop field. It was not the weakness of Carlisle that caused that showing, but the fact that from green material the coach had worked out a great team, building up magnificent attack and defense. The man who could bring out the team like that in four games is a great coach. To say he is not entitled to credit for such a performance is a statement unworthy of the men who would make it. To my mind the game of Saturday was the greatest victory ever achieved by Minnesota, a greater performance than if we had beaten Nebraska 100 to 0 or Chicago 10 to 0.

"If the boys who are eligible to play return next year and Williams continues as coach Minnesota will put a team in the field that will stand second to none in the country."

DISMAL OUTLOOK AT HARVARD.

Victory for Yale Anticipated on All Sides—Newhall to Start Game at Quarter Back.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—It is all over but the shouting as far as Harvard is concerned in Saturday's game with Yale and on all sides a victory for the New Haven team is anticipated. One of the coaches tonight said: "A miracle may save us, but from present indications our team is not strong enough to beat Yale."

Dr. Nichols announced tonight that Newhall would be found at quarter back to start the big game. A protection has been devised for the injured eye and Newhall's father is willing to let the boy take the risk. This afternoon the varsity went through signal practice and then took part in a short scrimmage for the benefit of 3,500 students who marched to the field and cheered each player, afterward rehearsing the songs which will be heard at the game.

The management announces tonight that 7,500 Harvard graduates could not be accommodated with even standing room. The spectators have quite a few tickets and they are reaping a harvest.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Every Yale player is so much better than when the squad reported that the only scrimmage practice possible between the Princeton and Harvard games was ordered.

The two elevens played behind closed gates for twenty-five minutes. Congdon is still unable to lineup and Dunbar was at center. Congdon was at the field in citizens clothes and limped badly. It is doubtful if he will play on Saturday. With the exception of Congdon every player was in the line as against Princeton, Paige playing the entire half.

Capt. Bigelow said tonight, with the exception of center, every position was settled as in the Princeton game. A marked improvement in spirits and general condition is visible tonight. Yale's war cry on the eve of departing for Harvard is, "Better than 22." This is the score Dartmouth made against Harvard.

GAMES IN BOWLING LEAGUES.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

TROUBLE WITH GERMANY.

The special commissioner appointed to investigate the contretemps between M. Eduard Corrigan and Herr Dokter Arnold Frank in the rotunda of the postoffice at Lexington, Ky., on Tuesday seems inclined to regard the matter as an episode rather than a closed incident. His report is as follows:

Herr Frank refuses to say anything pending the preparation of his report to the reichstag. However, he retracts not one jot from his original assertion, which was that M. Corrigan slipped him a buggy horse that was sadly afflicted with ringbone. He thinks it beneath his dignity as minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary of the German court accredited to the horse market of Lexington to make any further explanation. His friends are now passing upon the question of whether he should challenge M. Corrigan to mortal combat with dueling forks or simply walk up when M. Corrigan wasn't looking and kick him in the ankle.

On the other hand, M. Corrigan, who seemingly is not hemmed in by court etiquette, was inclined breezily to discuss the situation, insisting, however, that he be quoted correctly. This assurance having been given he proceeded:

"The German fellow, whom I did not know from a load of sauerkraut, accused me of selling him a ringboned horse. Then I up and told him that I never saw anybody that looked like him that could tell a ringbone from a pretzel. Was there any harm in that? But he got mad. He didn't seem to see what I meant. Then, as a matter of course, we clinched. I don't know what I did to him, but I'm not aware that he did anything to me."

"Are you aware, M. Corrigan," the commissioner asked, "that the German government may regard this as a casus belli?"

"If he says that he's a liar," was the bristling retort; "I didn't hit him any place, but in the face."

"Supposing the kaiser demands an apology and the state department calls upon you for an explanation, what will you say?" was asked.

"Well, now, see here, my young man," retorted M. Corrigan courteously, "I don't think that is any of your business, but if they leave it up to me I'll inform the German army that if it wants to drive any hard bargains in the buying of horses in this country it should send over a veterinary surgeon that does not look between a horse's ears for a spavin. Good day!"

Edward Corrigan is a fair man in a horse trade, but he reserves the right to allow the purchaser to see the blemishes, if such there be.

Richard Croker continues to rub it in over at 'ome. He won the Dewhurst Plate at Newmarket with Rhodora, 2 year old half sister to Orby, beating the duke of Westminster's Vamose and King Edward's Perrier. If this keeps up much longer we certainly shall recommend to the Jockey club the taking up of Mr. Croker's badge. Really!

Harvard undergraduates are said to be more enthusiastic over their football team than ever before. Perhaps that's the kind of a football team the Harvard undergraduates like to set to music.

Even in New York the horse show set seems to be disintegrating. We wonder what Dr. C. De Garmo Grey will do next.

The homesick Scots of San Francisco, where ice is scarce, are taking up the idea of curling on rollers. A stane wi' wheels is being devised by a canny lad fra Inverness. Sic a lark!

The superiority of Billy Papke over Tony Caponi was decided at a dance at Spring Valley, Ill., the other night. Caponi's champion, Tony Lagiani, is now in the emergency ward with a thirty-eight caliber tunnel through his system.

Oshkosh is another small spot on the map where the authorities allow a prize fight to be designated a scientific contest.

The versatile Johnny Pangle is taking Jockey Goldstein to Los Angeles to ride for him this winter. Johnny ought to have a lot of fun with Goldstein when he gets through with him.

They have an interdenominational football league in southern California. Please don't drop any of the letters.

NAUGHTY SONG IS TABOOED.

Wisconsin Faculty Puts Ban on Playing or Singing of "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here"

Madison, Wis., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin faculty has tabooed "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

Orders have been issued to expel any man from the band who starts up the naughty song at the game with Minnesota on Saturday. The words, "What the h—— do we care?" are the words that are under the ban. Col. McCoy, commandant of the University regiment, is carrying on a searching investigation to find out who is guilty of starting the favorite tune at the Indiana game. He has not succeeded, but he has issued strict orders that the performance must not be repeated.

The rain has made Camp Randall heavy and if it does not dry out before Saturday the Minnesota game will be played on a field of mud. Coach Hutchins does not know whether or not this will be to the advantage of Wisconsin.

ALL READY FOR SCHOOL GAME.

Final Arrangements Are Completed for North High-Oak Park Contest at Minneapolis Saturday.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Arrangements have been completed for the North High-Chicago Oak Park game on Saturday afternoon, the Chicagoans telegraphing the final agreement to all terms this morning. Manager Heinrich has succeeded in securing the Northrop field gridiron for the game and tickets were put on sale this afternoon. In order that they may be able to predict the probable attendance at the game the north siders have decided to sell the tickets for 50 cents each until Friday night. All tickets sold on Saturday will be at $1.

The university athletic board consented to allow the teams the use of the field and the gridiron will be covered with hay to protect it from snow and rain.

The Oak Park team will leave Chicago on Friday morning, arriving here on Friday night. There will be twenty in the party and from all reports the team will outweigh the local aggregation. Dr. Burgan is working hard with his north siders this week, being assisted by Gerald Shephard and Assistant Coach Tenney. Every man is in good condition and the Blue and White warriors will be at their best when they face the Chicagoans.

BALL PLAYERS SEEK HARMONY.

Chicago's Semi-Professional Association Is Formed, with Headquarters at 107 Madison Street.

With the primary object of promoting sociability on and off the diamond, local ball players have formed the Chicago's Semi-Professional Baseball Players' association, with headquarters at 107 East Madison street.

Officials are as follows: Emmet Cavanaugh, president; W. E. Maguire, first vice president; John Malloy, second vice president; H. Furlott, recording secretary; Walter Rooney, financial secretary; R. M. Lawless, treasurer.

The formation of the association has been contemplated for some time, but was delayed by lack of energy. The membership will be open to amateur, semi and professional players.

O'Leary Has Big Lead.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 20.—At 12 o'clock tonight O'Leary was still in the lead by 16.4 miles in his six day walking match with Henry Schmehl. The score at that time stood: O'Leary, 130.4 miles; Schmehl, 114 miles.

At the Billiard Halls.

At Foley's—Roney [175] and Dethke [175] play tonight.

At Smith & Dempsey's—Olney [100] won from Olsen [80] 100 to 68.

At the Drexel—Hughes defeated Hamilton 120 to 101. Smyers and Ashton tonight.

At Clarke's—Hyatt [150] defeated McCauley [75] 150 to 42. Sullivan and Hartsig tonight.

At Bensinger's—Conklin [300] won from Blake [235] at balkline 300 to 99, and averaged 15.

At Mussey's—Bingham [250] defeated Jackson [275] at balkline 250 to 205. Brown and Thomas tonight.

At The Sennet—Schaefer beat Mannassau 500 to 263, with high runs of 77, 64, 79, and 55, and averaged 17½.

At the Drexel—Carter and Rousch, who tied for first place in the pool tournament, will play off tonight.

At Sutton's—Sutton counted 366 with the white ball in twelve innings, an average of 23 and with the black made 163, an average of 13.

Roller Skating Notes.

William Robinson won last night's heat in the mile roller skating race at the Coliseum, beating William Jennings by a few feet.

The third annual meeting and banquet of the Western Skating association will be held next Monday night at the Great Northern.

BURIES GRIDIRON WITH TONS OF HAY

Stagg Plans to Have a Fast Field for Indian Game in Spite of Rain.

MAROONS WORK IN WET.

Carlisle Players Take Light Signal Practice in the Gymnasium.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

The steady downpour of rain yesterday will have little effect upon the condition of Marshall field. Coach Stagg was prepared for such a thing and had tons of hay on the field before any great damage was done. Both Warner and Stagg want a dry field, where both teams will have an opportunity to show their ability and skill to the best of advantage. The hay is spread over the entire field about two feet deep and it is almost impossible for the rain to penetrate through to the soil.

Excitement is running high on the Midway and not since the Michigan game of 1905 has such interest been taken in a coming contest. Cheer practice was held yesterday morning, and from the spirit and enthusiasm shown the team will take the field supported by almost the entire student body.

Not alone in the student body, but in the faculty as well, great interest is manifested. President Judson has volunteered to speak at the massmeeting to be held in Mandel hall tonight. The president is a great athletic enthusiast and a strong exponent of squareness on the athletic field.

Dr. Goodspeed to Talk.

Dr. Goodspeed, the "youngest" rooter on the Midway, also will speak, as will Ralph Hamill, one of the best ends and half backs Chicago ever had; Assistant Coach Bezdek, Mr. Stagg, and members of the team. Seats will be reserved for alumni, who will be represented by speakers.

For the accommodation of those who have been unable to procure tickets the general admission seats will be placed on sale at the downtown sporting goods establishments.

Adverse weather conditions had little effect on the general routine of work at Marshall field yesterday. The men were given a deal of practice handling the wet, slippery ball and did well considering this handicap. The dummy and falling on the ball came in for more attention than usual, and Stagg is little worried that his men will not perform as well as the Indians, even on a wet field.

Stagg Omits Scrimmage

There was no scrimmage, but the men were given a long defensive drill on Indian formations. The scrubs and freshmen were lined up against the varsity, who had a special defense for every Indian play produced by the subs and yearlings. There is little doubt that these defensive formations will go a mighty long way in stopping short the red men's offense.

Chicago is extremely lucky in having two such alert players as Capt. De Tray and Steffen in the back field. Both have great intuition in sizing up plays.

The Indians have not met two such capable men in the back field all season, and when it comes to body checking and having the ball hit the ground on forward passes the red men have nothing on these two players.

Another fact to be taken into consideration is the great condition of the Maroons. Never before in the history of the institution has a team been in such grand shape on the eve of a big battle. To say the vegetarians are primed to the minute is putting it mildly, and this is certainly a great asset. Stagg will undoubtedly call off rough work from now until the game, in which, man, method, or play will not be saved, and Chicago's reputation on the gridiron for the season of 1907 will be made or marred by the result of this great game.

The men are given the customary chalk talks every evening in the Reynolds club, and these are of great value in helping the players to see opportunities which often occur and seldom are taken advantage of.

Indians Take Light Work.

The Indians took light practice in the Lake Forest gymnasium yesterday and confined the bulk of their work to playing basketball and throwing the medicine ball. A few minutes were spent in going through formations with the line standing still. Coach Warner did not care to take his men out in the cold rain and let them off after the easiest kind of a practice. He still claims that Mount Pleasant will not play, for he does not care to put his star man in the game handicapped with a clumsy protection on his hand. Warner looks at the thing in a sensible way and it takes but little reasoning to see that the little Indian could not handle the ball with any great degree of accuracy or precision, and a whole man is better in a game any time than a cripple. Houser is gradually rounding into shape again and will be seen in the game Saturday.

The basketball game between the Indians and Lake Forest proved a most interesting affair. At the end of the first half the university boys had the Indians beaten 10 to 2, but the superior condition of the Indians told in the second half, when they played all around the college boys, winning 17 to 15. The feature of the game was the work of Little Old Man, who was all over the floor and at the right spot at the right time. Evidently something amused the Indian, as he was laughing throughout the entire contest.

Indians Initiate Student.

An interesting incident occurred between the halves when the Indians spotted a student whom they thought should belong to their race. They immediately grabbed him and proceeded to initiate him into the secrets of the various tribes. The Indians all came on the floor clad in blankets and made this youngster run the gantlet and subject himself to an initiation of scalping, after which they danced their famous war dance.

All this was done with the lights turned low, and was a close approach to the real thing, and when it was all over the initiate was introduced as "Blossom" Berkheiser.

Cline Plays Fast Game and Wins.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 20.—Making 44 points in forty minutes, Harry Cline of Philadelphia this afternoon won the fastest game in the national three cushion tourney, defeating Joseph Capron 50 to 24. Cline's high run was 4. In the evening contest John Horgan of New York won from John Daly of Chicago, 50 to 45.

Ellison Ships to New Orleans.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—C. R. Ellison's crack racing string, including Temaceo and Yankee Girl, left tonight for New Orleans for the winter racing in charge of Trainer Brazier. Yearling thoroughbreds purchased recently were taken along.

Dartmouth to Celebrate Victory.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—All day the freshmen have been gathering wood for the great bonfire to be lighted tomorrow night in the mammoth celebration of the victory over Harvard. The festivities have been delayed on account of the late return of the football men and several important lectures.

BUTLER WILL RACE A STABLE.

Eastern Horseman to Enter Breeding Industry as Result of Favorable Decision by Court of Appeals.

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Following the announcement that the Court of Appeals had decided in favor of the Empire City track at Yonkers came news today that James Butler, the owner of the Westchester plant, would purchase some high class runners next spring and turn them over to a competent trainer. It also was stated that Mr. Butler in the course of time would go into the breeding industry on a large scale.

The Court of Appeals' decision came in the nature of a surprise to many members of the Jockey club, who had been led to believe the state racing commission in its opposition to the Yonkers track would be sustained. But with the matter definitely settled the opinion was general today that the Yonkers track would now be taken into the Jockey club's fold without further friction. Not only a license will be granted next year but regular dates will be allotted.

Friends of Mr. Butler, however, said if there should be any attempt to take away the dates of the August meeting at Yonkers there might be trouble, as it clearly was demonstrated last summer that the metropolitan racing public, unable to go to Saratoga, desired a session with horses on a local track. The Yonkers meeting, under a severe handicap, was liberally patronized and about $90,000 in profits cleared up.

Bennings Summaries.

First race, handicap, ¾ mile—Monopolist, 122 pounds [Notter], 6 to 1, won; Cicll Turney, 97 [G. Swain], 30 to 1, second; Rosimiro, 114 [W. Doyle], 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:16 1-5. Sanguine, Glaucus, Goes Fast, King Thistle, and Profit ran.

Sixth race, handicap, 1 3-16 miles—Killiecrankie, 100 pounds [G. Swain], 8 to 1, won; Ostrich, 99 [McDaniel], 2 to 1, second; Ironsides, 125 [Notter], 2 to 1, third. Time, 2:05. Lally, Ocean Spray, and Waterdok ran.

PRICES LOW AT YARDS SALE.

D. C. Palmeter Buys Icelander for $700 and Charles Brockelsby Secures C. M. W.

The highest price realized at yesterday's sale of harness horses at the yards was for Icelander, 2:10¼, the trotter going to D. C. Palmeter of Chicago for $700. She will be retired to his farm at Berlin, Wis.

The general average of prices ruled low and some good bargains were picked up. Chicago gets another speedway horse in C. M. W., 2:09¼, which was bought by Charles Brockelsby for $535. Some of the best offerings of the sale will be this afternoon, and in the evening will be the consignment from Kentucky. Other sales were:

Densmore, b. c., 2, by Vyzant—Nina Dinsmore, E. A. Allen, Marion, Ind., $525.

Grace Hillwood, 2:15¼, b. m., 6, by Hillwood—Grace Phallamont, H. F. McNutt, Oxford, Wis., $500.

Belle Patch, 2:24¼, b. f., 6, by Halrane—Miss Macey, John McKay, Duluth, Wis., $405.

Gray Stone, gr. g., 7, by Alcryon—Bessie Bennet, Connelly & Shotwell, Philadelphia, $410.

Fair Maiden, b. m., 4, by Prince of India—Buffalo Maiden, by Jerome Eddy, Charles Dean, $400.

The Maiden, 2:18¾, b. m., 5, by Red Medium—Jarnette Maid, Mrs. L. B. Stokes, Chicago, $380.

Laura Fay, ch. m., 4, by John R. Gentry—Onoqua, J. A. Gavitt, Hammond, $355.

Happy Laddie, br. g., 4, by Silent Brook—Happy Lassie, William Norgate, Chicago, $330.

Oak Parkers Practice in Rain.

Coach Omer drilled his Oak Park squad yesterday in the rain. O. McCleary will reappear at tackle in the game at Minneapolis on Saturday. It is doubtful whether Standish will be able to play at quarter. The boys leave tomorrow afternoon and tonight a mass meeting will be held at the Oak Park Y. M. C. A. to give the team a good sendoff.

HORSES ARE SICK AT NEW ORLEANS.

Fever Results Among Thoroughbreds After Change from the North.

RACES BEGIN SATURDAY.

Juggler Is Assigned Top Weight in the Initial Handicap; Small Field.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Secretary McGinn has announced the weights for the initial handicap, which will be the feature of the opening day's racing at City park next Saturday and will be the first stake feature of the winter racing season in New Orleans.

There are forty-one entries. The race has a value of $1,500 added, and the distance is one mile. Handicapper McGinn has put the top weight, 119 pounds, on Juggler, with a pound less on Robert Waldon's Lotus Eater, and Tamaceo is asked to carry only a pound less than the latter. It is likely a good field will go to the post, but, judging from the entries, it is not likely there will be more than five or six starters, and those will not by any means represent the best that have been shown during the season.

There has been quite a bit of sickness among the horses here the last week, and R. A. Smith and Pat Dunne each have lost two yearlings which were expected to develop into useful 2 year olds. Jim Baker lost a yearling from lung fever, and Careless, belonging to W. King Dodds, the Cincinnati turfman, died from the same ailment after arriving at the Fair grounds. J. R. Wainwright's horses, which are in charge of Fred Lusader, are all under the veterinary's care, and La Pucelle, the best one of the string, tonight had a fever that registered 105. It is not thought the climate here has had anything to do with the sickness, but rather the sudden change from the cold weather of the north to the mild atmosphere of the south.

Starter Cassidy will be unable to be here on the opening day and Will Shelly of Louisville is likely to dispatch the fields until Mr. Cassidy's duties at Washington are finished. It was expected Jake Holtman would do the starting until Mr. Cassidy could get here, but the early opening at the course near Los Angeles prevents him.

Every stall at both tracks has been engaged and there are now nearly 1,000 horses ready to race, and by next Saturday there will be fully 300 more. It was expected there would be forty or more books in line on the opening day, but on account of the financial stringency the number of layers is sure to be a great deal less.

RIFLEMAN FIRST AT OAKLAND.

Leads All the Way in the San Leandro Handicap, the Time Being Close to the Record.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The San Leandro handicap was won this afternoon by R. J. Cartman's Rifleman. Janeta ruled favorite. Burns took Rifleman out in front, and he never was headed, winning easily in 1:45 2-5, which is within a fraction of a second of the coast record. Johnny Lyons easily beat the favorite for the place. Every race was taken by a first or second choice. Lone Wolf beat Sahara a head in the fifth race. Summary:

First race, ⅞ mile, selling—Progress, 107 [G. Burns], 4 to 1, won; Capt. Burnett, 107 [Heatherton], 20 to 1, second; Sunmark, 107 [Ross], 22 to 5, third. Time, 1:26 4-5. Gorgealette, Jack Adams, Pontotoca, Mina Gibson, Melar, Salable, Ecamade, The Reprobate, Alice Carey, Metlakatla, and Mistress of Rolls ran.

Second race, ⅝ mile—Pajareita, 106 [Powers], 11 to 20, won; All Alone, 111 [Grant], 13 to 1, second; Jane Swift, 103 [G. Burns], 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:01. Darington, Marian Casey, Stavon, Bonheur, Creation, Kopek, and Balnade ran.

Third race, ⅝ mile—Silver Stocking, 104 [Lynch], even, won; Seven Full, 104 [Post], 9 to 1, second; San Nicolas, 109 [Horner], 9 to 2, third. Time, 1:00 1-5. St. Francisco, Aunt Polly, Saint Rida, and San Alvarado ran.

Fourth race, 1 1-16 miles, San Leandro handicap—Rifleman, 99 [G. Burns], 14 to 5, won; Johnny Lyons, 102 [Hayes], 11 to 5, second; Janeta, 102 [Lynch], 7 to 5, third. Time, 1:45 2-5. Confederate ran.

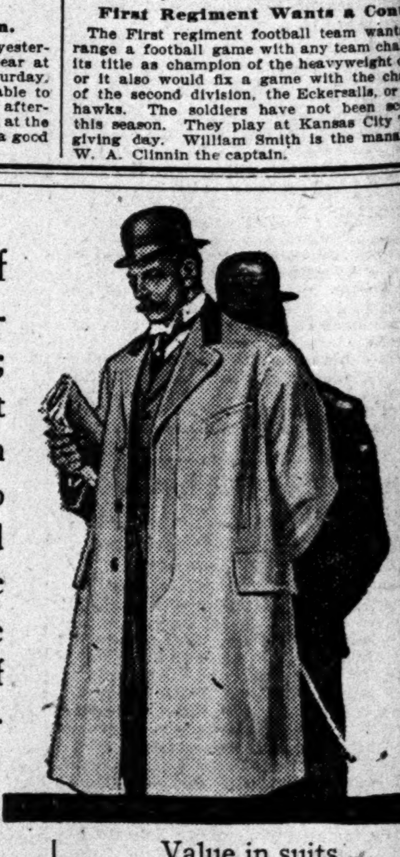
Fifth race, 1⅛ miles, selling—Lone Wolf, 107 [W. Kelly], 5 to 1, won; Sahara, 107 [Moreland], 10 to 1, second; Serenity, 107 [C. Miller], 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:54 1-5. Nine Spot, Lazell, Iras, Isabelita, Bonar, Benvolio, Queen Alamo, and Cloverland ran.

Sixth race, ¾ mile—F. Neugent, 105 [Borrel], 11 to 5, won; Ovelando, 108 [G. Burns], 18 to 5, second; Early Tide, 91 [A. Walsh], 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:13 2-5. Gene Russell, Judge Nelson, Ald. Lidley, and Braggart ran.

First Regiment Wants a Contest.

The First regiment football team wants to arrange a football game with any team challenging its title as champion of the heavyweight division, or it also would fix a game with the champions of the second division, the Eckersalls, or the Mohawks. The soldiers have not been scored on this season. They play at Kansas City Thanksgiving day. William Smith is the manager and W. A. Clinnin the captain.

YOU realize, of course, that quality pays in clothes; it's the only thing that does pay. You can always buy cheap clothes; but you'd better not; they're very expensive. We make a business of nothing but high-value clothes.



Value in overcoats

YOU have never seen such overcoat values as we are showing here, now; they're attracting lots of attention, and lots of men are buying them.

As an illustration, you should see what we have here at $25. We don't believe you'll see their equal anywhere else at $40. Silk-lined, in all lengths and models; in the richest fabrics and newest colorings. Any man who can appreciate values should see these overcoats: $25.

At $15; at $20; at $30, $35 and up we are showing and selling the best garments such prices can command. This store is good overcoat headquarters in Chicago, sure enough.

Value in suits

A GOOD many men are still looking for suits, too; the weather has kept so pleasant this fall, the suit-buyers are continually coming. We're suiting them; especially in the $25 values. We'll do you good at $18, at $20, $30, $35 and up to $50.

Value in boys' clothes

YOU can do a good deal here for your boy's comfort and good looks at $5; and up to $25. Best qualities made.

Hats and furnishings

GREAT line of $3 hats; John B. Stetson's at $3.50. Stetson "Special", $5. Manhattan shirts $1.50 to $3.50. Gloves, underwear, hosiery, neckwear.

Orleans.

ORSES ARE SICK
AT NEW ORLEANS.

ver Results Among Thoroughbreds After Change from the North.

CES BEGIN SATURDAY.

ggler Is Assigned Top Weight in the Initial Handicap; Small Field.

w Orleans, La., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—etary McGinn has announced the weights the initial handicap, which will be the ure of the opening day's racing at City next Saturday and will be the first stake ure of the winter racing season in New ans.

ere are forty-one entries. The race has lue of $1,500 added, and the distance is mile. Handicapper McGinn has put the weight, 119 pounds, on Juggler, with a d less on Robert Waldon's Lotus Eater. Tamaceo is asked to carry only a d less than the latter. It is y a good field will go to the but, judging from the entries, it is not there will be more than five or six starters, hose will not by any means represent the best have been shown during the season.

re has been quite a bit of sickness among the s here the last week, and R. A. Smith and Pat e each have lost two yearlings which were ted to develop into useful 2 year olds. Jim r lost a yearling from lung fever, and Care- belonging to W. King Dodds, the Cincinnati an, died from the same ailment after arriv- at the Fair grounds. J. R. Wainwright's s, which are in charge of Fred Lusader, are nder the veterinary's care, and La Pucelle, the one of the string, tonight had a fever that reg- d 105. It is not thought the climate here has anything to do with the sickness, but rather udden change from the cold weather of the to the mild atmosphere of the south.

rter Cassidy will be unable to be here on the ng day and Will Shelly of Louisville is likely spatch the fields until Mr. Cassidy's duties at nington are finished. It was expected Jake man would do the starting until Mr. Cassidy get here, but the early opening at the course Los Angeles prevents him.

ery stall at both tracks has been engaged and are now nearly 1,000 horses ready to race. by next Saturday there will be fully 500 more. s expected there would be forty or more books he on the opening day, but on account of the cial stringency the number of layers is sure a great deal less.

LEGAL NOTICES AND PROPOSALS.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, No. 671. Southern District of Ohio, In equity. Eastern Division. Amelia Hinkley, administratrix of Francis E. Hinkley, deceased, and Francis E. Hinkley Jr., Percy P. Hinkley, and Donald S. Hinkley, the last three of whom are heirs at law of the said Francis E. Hinkley, deceased, are hereby required to take notice that in a certain suit pending in the Circuit Court of the United States, Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, in which the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York was plaintiff, and the Consolidated Wellston Coal and Iron Company, Johnson M. Welch, and Hiram G. Lasley, et al. were defendants, and which was a suit in foreclosure of a mortgage on certain lands in the neighborhood of Wellston, Ohio, and in which suit the said Amelia Hinkley, administratrix, Francis E. Hinkley Jr., Percy P. Hinkley, and Donald S. Hinkley, heirs at law of Francis E. Hinkley, deceased, were parties defendant, a decree of foreclosure was entered in said court on th 18th day of September, 1907, from which decree said Johnson M. Welch and Hiram G. Lasley have taken their separate appeals to the Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States for the Sixth Circuit, sitting at Cincinnati, Ohio, and have filed their petition and assignment of errors and caused citations to issue for the said Amelia Hinkley, administratrix, Francis E. Hinkley Jr., Percy P. Hinkley, and Donald S. Hinkley, heirs at law of said Francis E. Hinkley, deceased, and that on the 11th day of November, 1907, the said Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, has ordered said citation to be served by publication in a daily newspaper of general circulation at Cincinnati and at Chicago, once a week for four consecutive weeks, and the said Amelia Hinkley, administratrix, Francis E. Hinkley Jr., Percy P. Hinkley, and Donald S. Hinkley are by said order directed to appear and answer in said appeals in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, at Cincinnati, on or before the 23d day of December, 1907.

$120,000 FOR FLAT BUILDING

Apartment House at Woodlawn and Sixty-first Is Sold.

PAINT CONCERN BUYS PLANT.

Martin-Senour Company Takes Title to Old Elevator It Occupies.

The large apartment house building at the northwest corner of Woodlawn avenue and Sixty-first street has been sold by George Armstrong of Stark county and John Armstrong of Kewanee, Henry county, Ill., to Leonard Hillis of Peoria for $120,000. The lot is 140x161 feet, east front, and the building is a three story and basement stone, brick, and steel structure, covering the numbers 6044-6054 Woodlawn avenue and 467-481 Sixty-first street. Nearly all the remainder of the property in that block is owned by the University of Chicago.

The property at 3722-3724 Forest avenue and 50x116 feet in MacFarland avenue, 134 feet south of Eighty-ninth street, was bid in at partition sale yesterday at the auction room of the real estate board by George, Philip, and Margaret M. Sunderland for $50,000. The Forest avenue property is 240x124 feet and is improved with twelve two story brick dwellings erected many years ago. The property was appraised at $60,000.

Purchase by Paint Company.

The Martin-Senour Manufacturing company, manufacturer of paints, has bought for a nominal consideration from the National Life Insurance company the leasehold estate and buildings in Quarry street, 404 feet north of Archer avenue, 102x165 feet, east front; also at 2526 Quarry street, 30x100 feet. This is known as the old Wetherell elevator property and has been occupied by the paint company for several years under a lease.

The apartment house property at 3810-3812 Elmwood court, with 43x115 feet of ground, has been sold by Mrs. Catherena Schwahn to Margaret A. McCormick for $13,750.

Buys Lot for New Church.

The Covenant Evangelical Lutheran church has bought from P. M. Sommer 55x125 feet of ground at the northwest corner of West Fullerton avenue and Ballou street for $7,600, and will build thereon a handsome new church.

The Kuntz-Remmler company will make an addition of four stories to its two story building at 305 Wabash avenue, at a cost of about $50,000, and will extend its restaurant business to the additional stories. The building fronts 30 feet, with a depth of 150 feet.

The former home of Dr. H. W. Thomas at 535 West Monroe street, with 31x125 feet of ground, has been sold by Jackson Bros. to Fred Spore for $5,000 cash.

UNSTEADY TONE IN STOCKS

Prices Fluctuate Throughout Wall Street Trading.

BANK REPORT ENCOURAGING

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Prices were uncertain and fluctuating throughout today's trading in stocks. At midday there was a rally, but in the late trading the whole market was weaker again.

Consideration was given to reports forwarded to Wall street of the condition of Illinois banks and trust companies as of Nov. 19. The degree of reinforcement of position shown by these reports was matter for satisfaction.

The demand which lifted the currency premium again seemed to be quite general, coming from widely different points, and not due to any special need. Discounts rose in London and the continued withdrawals of gold from that market seemed to be viewed with some disquietude. The impression grew that obstacles might be found to the placing of the United States treasury one year 3 per cent certificates, from which so much was hoped.

The postponement of dividend action on the Atlantic coast line stock caused some special weakness in the southern group. The calling of loans by the banks, which ran the call loan rate up to 15 per cent, was attributed in some quarters to preparations by the banks for subscriptions to the United States treasury certificates.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value, $3,722,000. United States 3s declined ¾ and the 4s 1 per cent.

Money on call, strong, 6@15 per cent; ruling rate, 7 per cent; closing bid, 6 per cent; offered at 10 per cent. Time loans, strong and dull; 60 days, 15 per cent, and 90 days, 12@15 per cent; 6 months, 8 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, nominally 8 to 10 per cent. Sterling exchange, strong, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.85@4.87 for demand, and at 478½@479 for 60 day bills. Commercial bills, 478½@479. Bar silver, 59¼. Mexican dollars, 47. Government bonds, weak. Railroad bonds, irregular.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The dry goods market was steadier today and merchants began to note signs of recovery from the stagnation and doubt of the last ten days. More buying was noted and collections improved. Changes in value in some lines of cotton for late delivery are noted and some reductions have been made in balbriggans, hosiery, and some other lines of merchandise. The silk trade is quiet and cancellations are being fought firmly.

The London tin market was lower today, spot closing at £135 5s and futures at £136 10s. Locally the market was weak, with quotations ranging from $30.25 to $30.75. Copper was lower again in London, with spot closing at £58 and futures at £57 15s. Locally the market was weak and further declines were reported with lake quoted at $12.87½@13.12½; electrolytic at $12.62½@12.87½, and casting at $12.37½@12.62½. Lead was unchanged in the English market, but was lower and weak at $4.85@4.85 locally. The English iron market was irregular, with standard foundry quoted at 50s 3d, and Cleveland warrants at 51s 1½d. Locally the market continued more or less nominal, with No. 1 foundry northern quoted at $18.25@18.75; No. 2 foundry northern at $17.75@18.15. Southern grades nominal.

Antimony—The local market for antimony continues to present a dull and weak appearance, and there is little business of moment in progress. Prices are nominally 10c for Cookson's, 9@9½c for Hallett's, and 8@8½c for ordinary brands. An easier feeling is noted in London, and Hallett's is quoted at £38, with ordinary brands at £36.

BUTTER—Quiet, but steady, unchanged; receipts, 5,214. Butter in Philadelphia: Firm; ½c higher; extra western creamery, 29c; do nearby prints, 30c.

EGGS—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 7,423. Eggs in Philadelphia: Firm; 1c higher; Pennsylvania and other nearby firsts, 32c at mark; do do current receipts in returnable cases, 31c at mark; western choice, 32c at mark; do fair to good, 31c at mark.

POULTRY—Alive steady; western chickens, 10@11c; fowls, western, 10@11c; turkeys, 13@15c; dressed firm; western chickens, 12@16c; turkeys, 13@18c; fowls, 10@14c.

LOW GRADE BUTTER EASIER.

Lower grades of butter were again easier, but the price of fancy creameries was unchanged. The demand was fair. A steady tone was reported in the egg market, with sales fair. Receipts were 2,006 cases, against 2,826 cases a year ago. There was a good supply of poultry on hand, both live and dressed, and the weather checked buying considerably, but there was no recession in values. Holders of dressed turkeys were firm in their views, and, with an increase in the demand, commission men are looking for higher prices.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Big receipts with the continued downward trend in the swine market caused the low point of the season to be reached yesterday, and with a drop of from 15c to 20c in practically all the important sorts, the predicted $4 hog became all the more possible. A big lot of yesterday's receipts will be on the market again today, the demand being far from large enough to clean up. Cattle were strong in spots, but the general market was little better than steady. Cowstuff was also generally steady. There was no great quantity of sheep or lambs in the market, but prices here also managed to maintain a steady basis. Receipts for the day were: Cattle, 22,000; hogs, 30,000; sheep, 15,000.

The general range of prices was as follows:

Cattle.

Good to prime steers	$6.00@6.75

MORE SMALLPOX AT UNIVERSITY

Francis Knox, a Teacher in the Correspondence Department, Taken to the Isolation Hospital.

The seventh case of smallpox in the city was discovered by officials of the health department last evening when Francis Knox, 6005 Ellis avenue, a teacher in the correspondence department of the University of Chicago was taken to the Isolation hospital. He is 52 years old and said he had never been vaccinated. He thinks he contracted the disease in Minneapolis, where he visited three weeks ago.

CHICAGO TO FLORIDA DAILY

Permanent Through Service to Be Established on Jan. 5.

ERIE RATE ATTRACTS ALIENS

Road Handles Four Train Loads of Foreigners Returning to Europe.

The first permanent through passenger service between Chicago and Florida is to be begun on Jan. 5 by the Chicago and Eastern Illinois and the Southern railways. This train, which will be known as the Dixie flyer, will be run every day in the year between Chicago and Jacksonville, via Nashville and Atlanta. The service will be supplemented the following day by the Chicago and Florida limited, which runs to St. Augustine during the winter tourist season.

At the meeting of the car service commission of the American Railway association at the Auditorium yesterday it was decided to establish rules for car diversion within switching districts. Heretofore the charge for the use of each freight car during diversion has been 50 cents a day. Under the rule now established, which will go into effect on Jan. 1, the charge will be $5 a day.

Object of the Charge.

The purpose of this new rule is to force the roads to return cars to the line owning them. The penalty of 50 cents a day proved inadequate. The agreement was signed by representatives of twenty-three of the largest roads in the country, with a combined ownership of 750,000 freight cars. There was a proviso in the agreement that it should not be effective until all the roads at each switching point had become parties to it. It has been agreed to by all the roads entering Chicago and many other large switching points. The proviso applies where a car is turned over to another road only for switching. Through business will not be affected, although some of the lines wished the rule to apply generally.

The Erie rate of $10 for second class tickets to New York went into effect during the day, and nearly 2,000 foreigners returning to Europe for the winter, took advantage of it. Two train loads were carried out early in the morning and two more in the evening. It is estimated that this so-called transatlantic business comprises between 40,000 and 50,000 people.

Grand Trunk Meets Cut.

Thus far the Grand Trunk is the only Chicago-New York line to meet the Erie rate, and with it the rate is effective only when through tickets to Europe are bought. The Grand Trunk has not secured permission from the interstate commerce commission to put in the rate. Attorneys for that road contend such permission is not necessary in transatlantic business. The Wabash has applied to the commission for permission to put in the rate, but the request has not been acted on.

The investigation of the order and commission departments of the express companies, before George M. Brown, special examiner for the interstate commerce commission, will be concluded today. The witnesses who testified yesterday were employés of the companies. The Western Fruit Jobbers' association made the complaint.

RAILWAYS ARE INDICTED AGAIN.

Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line, with Their Officials, Charged with Violating Commerce Law.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 20.—The federal grand jury today returned new indictments against the Union Pacific, the Oregon Short Line, the Union Pacific Coal company, J. M. Moore, general agent of the Union Pacific Coal company, and Everett Buckingham, assistant superintendent of the Oregon Short Line, for violating the interstate commerce law. They are charged with trying to force a Salt Lake City coal dealer out of business because he lowered the price of coal below that fixed by the combination.

IRON MARKET STAYS QUIET.

Steel Corporation Operating 65 Per Cent of Its Blast Furnace Capacity and May Reduce Further.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

"Production is being curtailed, although not to the extent to which newspaper reports would indicate. The United States Steel corporation is now operating 65 per cent of its blast furnace capacity, and probably will reduce further until about 50 per cent is reached. Other interests are similarly reducing output, but the restriction generally is not as great as rumors have it.

"The pig iron markets have been quiet, and while prices have been irregular and generally lower, the situation has not been clearly defined.

"In structural material there has been some new business. There have been some good orders placed for plates and the tonnage of new business in wire, bars, and in tinplate has been fair. It has been less satisfactory in sheets and tubular goods."

Reductions of Wages Expected.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 20.—The Iron Trade Review says: "Cancellations of contracts, suspension of operations on new plants, and further sharp curtailment of production by many iron and steel concerns have been the leading features of the week.

"A general readjustment of wages is forecasted by the action of several eastern furnace companies in reducing the pay of their employés 10 per cent in an effort to reduce cost of manufacture.

"Many foreign laborers in iron and steel works are returning to their homes across the ocean.

"Work on the building of the great plant at Gary continues without interruption."

SHOWDOWN BY STATE BANKS

They Report to Auditor Full Details of Their Condition.

LOANS AND DEPOSITS LESS.

Shrinkage in Latter More than Balanced by That of Former.

In response to the call of the state auditor, the state banks of Chicago yesterday made report of their condition at the commencement of business Nov. 19, 1907. A number of these institutions published reports, and of them twenty-eight are at hand, including all the large institutions and most of the small ones.

In amount loans and deposits showed practically the same decrease, something over $29,000,000 each. In percentage, however, the decrease in loans was 3.6 per cent greater than in deposits. Naturally the checking out of deposits and shipments of cash called for a contraction in loans in order to replenish the cash shipped or checked out.

The result of this liquidation, embracing as it did imports of gold around $8,000,000 by the largest trust company, caused an increase in total cash resources of $2,766,962, or 2.8 per cent, though by this is not meant actual gold and legal tenders in the vaults of the banks.

"Cash resources" differ from "cash on hand" in that "resources" include "exchanges for the clearing house," "checks and other cash items," "cash on hand" and "due from banks." There are therefore four items included in cash resources. "Due from banks" in the case of most state institutions is larger than the actual cash on hand. Usually the "money due from banks" in Chicago means the amount deposited by them in eastern cities, principally in New York.

Cash Resources Increase.

The last previous call was for the condition of the banks on Aug. 20, and it is within that period that the changes noted have taken place. The percentage of total cash resources to deposits on Aug. 20 was 26.88 per cent. On Nov. 19 this had increased to 30.12 per cent. The percentage of actual cash in vaults would of course be much less than this, and it is also true that as deposits decrease the percentage of cash resources increases unless currency shall have been shipped or paid in settlement of deposits. But for the amount of their deposits the banks are now in much better position than they were on Aug. 20, as the following summary shows:

1907.	Loans.	Deposits.	Cash resources.	Pct. res. to dep's.
Aug. 20.	$245,600,664	$362,887,123	$97,558,875	26.88
Nov. 19.	216,536,600	333,001,251	100,325,837	30.12
Dec.	$29,064,064	$29,886,872	*$2,766,962	*3.24
Per cent	11.8	8.2	*2.8

*Increase.

Special Causes Operate.

In increase in cash resources the Illinois Trust and Savings bank leads with a gain of $5,300,000, due to its gold imports. Some of the state banks have country bank deposits, and in such instances have been forced to ship currency more freely than some of their neighbors. Again, special causes operate both to decrease and increase resources, so that it would hardly be fair to figure in every instance the percentage of resources to deposits.

An interesting feature of the statements of the different banks is that furnished by the outlying institutions. Their figures indicate that depositors made but slight demand upon them or that the banks refused, under their privilege, to pay out cash.

Small Banks Lose Little.

The Pullman Loan and Trust company, which last summer had a causeless run, shows a slight increase in deposits compared with last August, and a decrease of $240,000 in cash resources. The South Chicago Savings bank, which has a great many foreign workmen as depositors, decreased in deposits $140,000, while its cash was lowered a like amount. The Stockyards Savings bank lost $100,000 in deposits and but $3,000 in cash resources. The Kaspar State bank, on Blue Island avenue, shows a decrease in deposits of but $150,000 and but $60,000 in cash resources.

The state banks do not reflect the degree of losses in cash and deposits that the national banks will show, for the reason that the state institutions have been able to hold their savings deposits together by reason of thirty and sixty day notices. The national banks have been practically forced to ship currency, for their deposits are subject to demand.

Central Books Close Nov. 30.

At a meeting of the directors of the Illinois Central held in New York yesterday it was voted to close the transfer books on Nov. 30 and reopen them on Dec. 19, for the purpose of the postponed annual meeting of the shareholders on Dec. 18. The books have been opened since Oct. 22.

Dividends Declared.

The Railway Steel Spring company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on its preferred stock, payable Dec. 20. Books close Dec. 10 and reopen Dec. 21.

The Chattanooga railway company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on preferred stock, payable Dec. 2, to stock of record Nov. 21.

The Rochester Railway and Light company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on preferred stock.

Dividends. Reduced or Deferred.

The directors of the Butte Coalition company at their meeting yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of 15 per cent, payable Dec. 17. Books close Nov. 29, reopen Dec. 2. The last three preceding disbursements were of 50 cents a share.

The Atlantic Coast Line railroad directors at a meeting here decided to defer action on the common stock dividend. It was stated on behalf of the company that inasmuch as the dividend was not payable until January the matter might be acted on at a special meeting or at the regular meeting of the directors in December.

Financial Notes.

Since last Friday the New York subtreasury has gained $1,488,000 from the banks.

The report that the United States Steel corporation has ordered the Tennessee Coal and Iron management to shut down some of its furnaces was officially denied yesterday by the steel corporation.

Chicago Stocks.

National Biscuit preferred was the feature in weakness on the local exchange. The price dropped between sales from 99 to 91. The selling in this market was, however, small. For two years there has been a pool in the Biscuit stocks in New York, and it was to be expected that sooner or later some of this stock must come on to the market, for the banks are nowhere encouraging speculation. The common stock also was weak, dropping from an opening at 63 to 60 at the close.

Swift & Co. shares were steady. It is evident that the banks have had to come to the rescue of the market in this stock in order to prevent trouble for those who have been manipulating the shares on much borrowed money.

In the bond department there was considerable activity and generally lower prices.

The following were the sales on the Chicago stock exchange yesterday:

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—After a weak and dull opening the local market continued inactive for the first hour's trading, when prices took a sudden jump and strong advances were scored in many of the leading stocks. American Telephone went a full point to 94½; United Fruit a point also, to 108½; Osceola gained 5 at 79, and Copper Range sold 1½ points higher than last night's close at 50. North Butte appeared to be sold out. The quotation jumped up 3¼ points to 36. Advances were well maintained as the day progressed and United Fruit was particularly strong, advancing to 110½, up 3 from last night. Call loans, 8@10 per cent; time loans, collateral, 6@10 per cent; time loans, mercantile paper, 7@8½ per cent; clearing house loans, 7.3 per cent.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Money was in fair supply and good demand today. Discounts were firm owing to the continued American demand for gold and the report that the United States treasury intends to place a portion of the new $100,000,000 issue of 3 per cents in Europe in order to attract gold. Trading on the stock exchange was irregular, with weakness in places owing to the uncertain monetary outlook, while, as the American situation was not considered to be so clear as previously imagined, traders evinced a further desire to reduce commitments pending the release of hoarded money. Consols partially recovered an early loss of a quarter of a point, but the tendency of British securities generally was to be easy. Americans started well below yesterday's closing prices, owing to the decline in New York and the belief that much of the stock taken up during the recent crisis there is being marketed. Prices hardened at about noon, and then the receipt of the New York opening quotations caused an easy tendency, but the market recovered moderately and closed steady. Forigners generally were steady, with the exception of Portuguese bonds, which were weak.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—The boerse was closed today, this being a business holiday.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Prices on the bourse today opened easier on the advices from New York, but strengthened later and closed firm.

YAWNING WHEA[T] MART IS WEAKE[R]

Absence of Supporting Or[ders] Offsets Effect of Import[ant] Bull Items.

STRONGER TONE TO CO[RN]

Unsettled Weather Prompts Ma[ny] Shorts to Brisk Covering; Trade Dull.

Wheat suffered another relapse yester[day] largely because of the lack of suppor[ting] orders. Many important items in the d[ay's] news offerings favored the bulls, who, h[ow]ever, were not disposed to back up th[eir] contentions in the pit. The market [was] dull and narrow, being almost entirel[y a] local professional affair, and it sank m[ore] from its own weight than from any p[ro]nounced direct pressure. Longs of [the] smaller sort liquidated, and there was so[me] selling by the more confident shorts, w[ho] feel that there is but little chance for [an] upturn so long as financial conditions [re]main as they are and the outside spe[cu]lative element keeps to the path of extre[me] caution. There was a flash of firmness ear[ly] but the close showed net declines of ⅞c [for] December, ⅞@1c for May, and 1c for Ju[ly]. Final quotations were only a shade from t[he] day's lowest marks.

Traders Awaiting Developments.

Traders generally are not willing to ma[ke] much of a play pending the life of the De[cember] future, being content to confine the[ir] operations to scalps. Until the December [is] out of the way, pitsters figure, the mark[et] will continue to be a dull, nervous, scalpi[ng] affair, with outsiders on the waiting li[st]. Speculatively the trade is bearish, but ma[ny] give bullish construction to existing cond[i]tions. Liverpool yesterday responded on[ly] faintly to the sharp break here the da[y] before, closing ¼@⅜d lower. Continent[al ex]changes were 1¼@1¾c off at Paris, ⅝@1¼ weaker at Antwerp, and ¾c higher at Buda[pest]. Berlin enjoyed a holiday.

Predicted storms in the harvesting sec[tions] of the Argentine, famine fears in part[s] of Russia, probability of a prohibition o[f] rye exports from the czar's realm, furthe[r] unfavorable matter concerning the situa[tion] in India, and a light general domesti[c] movement were among the factors tha[t] might have injected considerable strengt[h] into prices under ordinary circumstances. Receipts of wheat at Duluth and Minneapo[lis] were only 361 cars, against 510 cars th[e] corresponding day last year. Arrivals here were only 12 cars, against 29 cars a year ago. Primary points reported a total of 576,000 bu received, compared to 862,000 bu the same day in 1906. Clearances at the seaboard, wheat and flour, were equal to 576,000 bu. Minneapolis stocks showed a decrease of 175,000 bu for four days.

Duluth Sells to Europe.

Duluth and Philadelphia reported almost all the export business done—about 400,000 bu—other centers seeing little interest on the part of the foreigners. Cash trade at home was quiet and devoid of feature, although firmness generally was reported. Offerings were far from pressing at the leading points. Early in the day December wheat at Chicago, St. Louis, and Kansas City touched the same price, a matter that prompted numerous deductions on the part of market students and statisticians. Weakness in the stock list early had a depressing effect, wheat picking up a little when the eastern market fared better, later suffering with the reaction.

Weather Against Corn Bears.

Firmness was characteristic of the corn market the greater part of the session, although trade at no time was unusually active. Pit animation most of the time was faint. Unsettled weather over a good part of the belt, light general holdings of contract stuff, only a moderate decline at Liverpool, and the desire of shorts to cover offset the debilitating effects of wheat weakness. "Farmers" on the floor figured it out that climatic conditions were strongly against the curing of the crop, and there was the usual steady run of disppointing husking returns to help the bulls. Local arrivals were 135 cars, more than expected, the estimate for today being 148 cars. Total primary receipts were 411,000 bu, compared to 556,000 bu a year ago. Clearances at the seaboard were large at 151,000 bu.

Fair business was done for export, but the domestic cash demand did not show much in the way of newness. Provision traders were sellers of corn early, but later some of them were accounted supporters. Final pit prices showed net advances of ⅝@¾c for December, ⅛@¼c for May, and ⅛c for July. The day's high marks were 55½c for December, 56¼c for May, and 56c for July.

Slight Change in Oats.

Oats again were painfully quiet, the tone being strong in sympathy with the firmness in corn. Final prices were ⅛@¼c lower for December, 1-16c up for May, and ⅛c firmer for July. General market conditions showed practically no change and almost everything done in the pit was of a local professional character. Arrivals here were 85 cars, against 118 cars the similar day last year. Receipts at primary points aggregated 390,000 bu, about one-half of those of a year ago. Cash trade was quiet and devoid of feature, although men close to the situation figured that the time is not far off when the east must come to the western markets with important buying orders. The news items contained the statement that not a car of oats was received at Kansas City. The estimate for today was 112 cars.

Provisions in a Rally.

An early break in provision prices was followed by a sharp upturn, caused largely by a rush of shorts to cover and a drying up of the previously liberal offerings from packers and scattered local longs. The close saw pork 22½@25c higher, lard unchanged to 10c up, and ribs 5@7½c firmer. The western run of hogs was liberal at 71,200, against 67,700 the similar day in 1906. Weakness in hog values at the yards had a depressing effect at the start. Cash trade was not urgent, and the day's shipments of meats and lard hence showed under those of a year ago. Estimated local swine arrivals for today were 16,000.

Rye Market Is Weaker.

Weakness prevailed in the rye market and prices were a shade lower. Cash No. 2 sold at 79c and No. 3 at 76c f. o. b. December closed at 76c nominal, and May at 85c nominal. Shipping sales were 1,000 bu. Receipts, 6 cars.

Barley offerings were light, demand was fair, and prices were 2c higher on intermediate grades. Malting ranged at 75@90c; feed at 60@70c, and screenings at 40@60c. Receipts, 14 cars.

Flaxseed prices were off 1½c to 4c, the latter on low grades. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.10¼; No. 1 southwestern at $1.00½, and rejected at 98c@$1.02. Receipts, 1 car. Duluth closed 1½c lower, with November and December at $1.11 and May at $1.18. Receipts at Minneapolis were 51 cars, and at Duluth 112 cars, a total of 163 cars, compared to 197 cars last year.

Timothy prices were unchanged. Contract closed at $4.20 and March at $4.50@4.80. Country lots ranged at $3.25@4.20. Clover was neglected at $15.50 for contract and $11.00@15.00 for country lots.

Speculatively the trade is bearish, but many give bullish construction to existing conditions. Liverpool yesterday responded only faintly to the sharp break here the day before, closing ½@¾d lower. Continental changes were 1¼@1¾c off at Paris, ⅝@1¼c weaker at Antwerp, and ¾c higher at Budapest. Berlin enjoyed a holiday.

Predicted storms in the harvesting sections of the Argentine, famine fears in parts of Russia, probability of a prohibition of rye exports from the czar's realm, further unfavorable matter concerning the situation in India, and a light general domestic movement, were among the factors that might have injected considerable strength into prices under ordinary circumstances. Receipts of wheat at Duluth and Minneapolis were only 361 cars, against 510 cars the corresponding day last year. Arrivals here were only 12 cars, against 29 cars a year ago. Primary points reported a total of 576,000 bu received, compared to 862,000 bu the same day in 1906. Clearances at the seaboard, wheat and flour, were equal to 576,000 bu. Minneapolis stocks showed a decrease of 175,000 bu for four days.

Duluth Sells to Europe.

Duluth and Philadelphia reported almost all the export business done—about 400,000 bu—other centers seeing little interest on the part of the foreigners. Cash trade at home was quiet and devoid of feature, although firmness generally was reported. Offerings were far from pressing at the leading points. Early in the day December wheat at Chicago, St. Louis, and Kansas City touched the same price, a matter that prompted numerous deductions on the part of market students and statisticians. Weakness in the stock list early had a depressing effect, wheat picking up a little when the eastern market fared better, later suffering with the reaction.

Weather Against Corn Bears.

Firmness was characteristic of the corn market the greater part of the session, although trade at no time was unusually active. Pit animation most of the time was faint. Unsettled weather over a good part of the belt, light general holdings of contract stuff, only a moderate decline at Liverpool, and the desire of shorts to cover offset the debilitating effects of wheat weakness. "Farmers" on the floor figured it out that climatic conditions were strongly against the curing of the crop, and there was the usual steady run of disappointing husking returns to help the bulls. Local arrivals were 135 cars, more than expected, the estimate for today being 148 cars. Total primary receipts were 411,000 bu, compared to 556,000 bu a year ago. Clearances at the seaboard were large at 151,000 bu.

Fair business was done for export, but the domestic cash demand did not show much in the way of newness. Provision traders were sellers of corn early, but later some of them were accounted supporters. Final pit prices showed net advances of ⅝@¾c for December, ⅛@¼c for May, and ⅛c for July. The day's high marks were 55½c for December, 56¼c for May, and 56c for July.

Slight Change in Oats.

Oats again were painfully quiet, the tone being strong in sympathy with the firmness in corn. Final prices were ⅛@¼c lower for December, 1-16c up for May, and ⅛c firmer for July. General market conditions showed practically no change, and almost everything done in the pit was of a local professional character. Arrivals here were 85 cars, against 118 cars the similar day last year. Receipts at primary points aggregated 390,000 bu, about one-half of those of a year ago. Cash trade was quiet and devoid of feature, although men close to the situation figured that the time is not far off when the east must come to the western markets with important buying orders. The news items contained the statement that not a car of oats was received at Kansas City. The estimate for today was 112 cars.

Provisions in a Rally.

An early break in provision prices was followed by a sharp upturn, caused largely by a rush of shorts to cover and a drying up of the previously liberal offerings from packers and scattered local longs. The close saw pork 22½@25c higher, lard unchanged to 5c up, and ribs 5@7½c firmer. The western run of hogs was liberal at 71,200, against 67,- on the similar day in 1906. Weakness in hog values at the yards had a depressing effect at the start. Cash trade was not urgent, and the day's shipments of meats and lard hence showed under those of a year ago. Estimated local swine arrivals for today were 16,000.

Rye Market Is Weaker.

Weakness prevailed in the rye market and prices were a shade lower. Cash No. 2 sold at 79c and No. 3 at 76c f. o. b. December closed at 76c nominal, and May at 85c nominal. Shipping sales were 1,000 bu. Receipts, 6 cars.

Barley offerings were light, demand was fair, and prices were 2c higher on intermediate grades. Malting ranged at 75@90c; feed at 60@70c, and screenings at 40@60c. Receipts, 14 cars.

Flaxseed prices were off 1½c to 4c, the latter on low grades. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.10¼; No. 1 southwestern at $1.00½, and rejected at 98c@$1.02. Receipts, 1 car. Duluth closed 1½c lower, with November and December at $1.11 and May at $1.18. Receipts at Minneapolis were 51 cars, and at Duluth 112 cars, a total of 163 cars, compared to 197 cars last year.

Timothy prices were unchanged. Contract closed at $4.20 and March at $4.50@4.80. Country lots ranged at $3.25@4.20. Clover was neglected at $15.50 for contract and $11.00@15.00 for country lots.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Local exporters had a slow day yesterday, and the consensus of opinion at the close was that, with present conditions continuing, there was little prospect for any foreign sales of consequence in the immediate future. Bids were generally out of line, and, while the seaboard reported 55 loads taken for export in all positions, the best informed local exporters did not believe sales were in excess of 15 loads. Cables from Antwerp to local houses said that under present conditions there was little hope of there being any important demand from the continent for some time. In the southwest exporters reported a difficulty in buying wheat to fill previous sales, but these sales were generally short sales made when the premium for No. 2 hard winter was 13c or more over Chicago December, and sellers are now trying to buy to fill these sales. Kansas City buyers, as well as local houses bidding the southwest, are not sending out general bids. As a rule, buyers are attempting to buy a little bargain counter wheat every day, and Chicago bidders are getting about all the wheat they want on this basis. The premium for No. 2 hard wheat at the gulf was about 11c over Chicago December free on board steamer at the gulf last night.

Walker, Knight-McDougal, Wrenn, Rankin, Logan, Shearson-Hammill, Barrell, and Clement-Curtis were on the selling side of wheat during the day. The early demand, which advanced prices from the initial decline, came mostly from scattered shorts, and as soon as this call was satisfied the market was depressed by its own weight, there being little fresh buying. Early buyers were Lake, Valentine, and Updike, mostly short wheat. The northwest continued to be a good seller. Bartlett-Frazier were steady buyers of December and May corn and bought enough of the former to narrow the difference to ¾c. Comstock, Roloson, Schwarz, and Roberts were early sellers, and Marfield sold on the hard spots throughout the session. Trade in oats was light and transactions inconspicuous from an individual standpoint. Cudahy and Hately were good buyers of provisions, and there was less pressure from the packing interests.

Cash wheat here was dull and sales were small. Some dealers reported a little better domestic milling demand from some quarters, but trade on the whole was slow. Prices were about steady. Four loads of hard winter wheat were sold for export. Minneapolis premiums for No. 1 northern wheat were relatively ½c lower, with a slow demand from the mills. Stocks there decreased 175,000 bu for four days this week. Kansas City and St. Louis reported a moderate demand. Cash corn here was steady at ½c lower, and oats unchanged to 1c higher. The coarse grain movement continues light, as the country elevators are all tied up by the financial conditions. The demand from the east was slow, but there were indications that some of the eastern houses were in urgent need of grain. Local sales were 60,000 bu wheat, 100,000 bu corn, and 100,000 bu oats. Seaboard sales were reported at 440,000 bu wheat and 88,000 bu corn.

Shipments of wheat from Duluth during the day were only 346,000 bu, which were unusually small, considering the approaching close of navigation, which is only a little more than two weeks distant. Receipts at Duluth are nearly keeping pace with the shipments, and it is not likely stocks will show much of any change for the week, if the present rate of receipts and shipments is maintained. Lake freights continued to drag and the rates from both Chicago and Duluth to Buffalo were easy at 1½c. Shipments of red winter wheat from this place are also falling off sharply, the shipments so far this week being only about one-fourth as large as for the same period last week.

Sales on the call were: Corn—No. 3 yellow, December, 15,000 bu at 52¼c Illinois proportional. Oats—No. 2 white, November, 2,000 bu at 47c, 3,000 bu at 47½c Illinois proportional.

Closing prices for wheat in foreign markets were: Liverpool, ½@¾d lower; Paris, 1¼@1¾c lower; Antwerp, ⅝@1¼c off; Berlin, holiday; Budapest, ¾c higher.

Arthur L. Moore has posted his membership for transfer and John Gledhill has made application to withdraw from membership under the rules.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 27 cars; corn, 148 cars; oats, 112 cars; rye, 2 cars; barley, 16 cars; hogs, 16,000.

Minneapolis mills were reported to have reduced the prices on bran and offal from 50c to $2.00 a ton.

Winnipeg receipts were 400 cars, against 117 cars a year ago.

CONGRESS TO TAX STOCK GAMBLERS

Complaints as to Diversion of Money from Legitimate Business May Bring Radical Remedy.

BANKS IN WEST BUNKOE

Senator Would Put Tariff of 1 Per Cent on All Trading in Margins as One Cure for Financial Ills.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—[Special.] It is evident from the remarks of senators and representatives arriving here that the money kings of New York and their imitators in other parts of the country need not look for much sympathy from congress. Almost all the statesmen admit that the situation is a serious one and that some radical remedy must be devised to supply plenty of money. They are, however, almost to a man disposed to put the blame upon the speculative influences in New York.

Every congressman from the west reports the same thing. They come to the White house and treasury department and tell identical stories of constant prosperity, good crops, large demand for manufactured articles, and with it all scarcity of money. Many of them are unable to understand how two such contradictory conditions can exist at the same time. What they do know is that western banks and western capitalists have now and have had vast sums on deposit in New York, while western banks today hold New York commercial paper upon which they have advanced millions upon millions of money.

Western Banks' Cash Tied Up.

The constant complaint which is being dinned into the ears of Secretary Cortelyou and President Roosevelt is that western banks have money enough on deposit in New York to move the crops if they could only get at their own cash. It was this complaint, which came from every important business center of the west, which finally induced the president to resort to the extraordinary device of issuing interest bearing certificates of indebtedness at a time when the treasury actually had on hand a surplus amounting to $250,000,000.

Members of the house and senate from the interior who arrived here are practically a unit in declaring that they will not consent to any new currency legislation unless some action is taken at the same time to prevent the use of government funds for stock gambling operations. These men say there never could have been any monetary stringency in the face of the extraordinary prosperity in every legitimate line of trade had it not been for the vast sums needed to continue the wild speculative game in Wall street.

Little Money for Crop Moving.

It is asserted freely, and some treasury officials as freely admit, that only a small percentage of the government deposits in New York banks actually have been used to assist in crop moving operations in the south and west. A great deal went to enable brokers and trust companies to hang on to stocks and bonds held on margin. Other sums went to fortify individuals whose failure on the stock exchange might have precipitated runs on banks in which they were interested.

An unknown percentage of the reserves of New York banks went into speculative channels, and the money deposited by Secretary Cortelyou when the situation became acute was said to fortify the New York banks themselves, and mighty little of it went into the agricultural section of the country.

Would Tax Margin Trades.

It is a significant coincidence that four of five senators and a dozen or two of the representatives who have dropped into Washington within the last ten days have been preparing bills looking towards some kind of government regulation of trading in margins. One senator today outlined a measure which he expects to introduce providing for a tax of 10 per cent on all trades in which one person sells a thing he does not own upon a margin put up by another person, who does not expect nor want the property actually delivered to him.

"I believe," said the senator, "that trading in margins on the New York stock exchange is wholly responsible for the panicky conditions of the last month. The operations of Heinze, Morse, Thomas, and other so-called financiers were all based upon stock jobbing values. They established strings of banks merely to secure money enough to control the stock markets. No deliveries of stocks or bonds were actually made by anybody. There was no question as to the intrinsic value of the property which was supposed to be represented by securities. Vast sums of money were poured into the stock exchange to bull up or break down values of securities, and every cent of that money was taken out of the legitimate channels of trade.

Money Diverted for Speculation.

"It is a fact, as most people know, that the prosperous west has been out of Wall street for a long while. It was not directly concerned in the collapse of the Heinze copper corner or in the downfall of Morse and Thomas. What did concern the interior, and what does concern legitimate business interests, is the fact that money has been diverted to speculative purposes which should have been held for legitimate business. The farmers and manufacturers in the west are not only solvent but have a surplus. They are not merely prosperous, they are rich.

"The only mistake western banks made was in depositing money in New York financial institutions and in loaning money there because of the high rates of interest which were not current in the west. The demand for money for speculation made New York commercial paper seek western banks and the crash on Wall street tied up New York banks and they in turn tied up western banks, which could not collect on their New York collateral and so could not supply money to move the crops.

"I believe states ought to prohibit trading in margins. The federal government cannot prohibit, but it can tax. A slight extension of the system adopted in the revenue act of 1898 would put an end to the practice of dealing in stocks and bonds on margins. I would not tax any legitimate sale or contract to sell in the future, but the principle of buying and selling stock or commodities, putting up margins sufficient to cover ordinary fluctuations, without the idea of transferring the property itself from one person to another, is vicious."
